A ROUSING RALLY

Governor Foss Given Great Reception in Associate Hall

One of the largest and most enthusiastic rallies ever held in Lowell and one of the most remarkable was that which greeted Governor Foss and other state candidates at Associate hall last evening, held under the auspices of the democratic city committee and the Foss campaign committee. Every seat was taken while many stood in the rear of the hall and all were brimful of enthusiasm which showed itself after the many telling points made by the different speakers.

It was a most remarkable rally inasmuch as the 9 o'clock bells were forgotten, for owing to the non-arrival of Candidate David L. Walsh from Lawrence the meeting was prolonged until after 11:30 o'clock. Many speakers taking against time in anticipation of the arrival of the candidate for lieutenant-governor and yet a fair-sized portion of the crowd remained until the last word was spoken.

Governor Foss accompanied by ex-Rep. Jerry Watson, of Boston, arrived somewhat late, having been detained in Boston. Mr. Charles Strecker, who was to open the meeting with him and the Boston newspapermen having arrived early. At the New American hotel about 500 democrats awaited the governor's arrival and the chief executive was greeted with prolonged cheers. A line of march was immediately formed headed by Mayor Moehan, Humphrey O'Sullivan, chairman of the city committee and Governor Foss and with the Lowell Cadet band, John J. Giblin, leader playing a lively march the procession proceeded to Associate hall, through a line of red fire on either side of the street. Among those in the line were Henry J. Draper, candidate for senator, Rep. Chas. Thomey, ex-Rep. Kearns, William C. Purcell, James B. O'Donnell, Adj. Gen. Pearson, Hon. Fisher J. Pearson, James F. Miskella, Thomas J. Enright, James H. Carmichael, Aldermen Gallagher, Barwell, Tomin, Burdick, Connors, Rountree, Jodoin, Phinagan, School Committee men Mackenzie and Farrington, all of the

been awaiting the arrival of the speakers poured in and when the meeting was called to order shortly before 8 o'clock standing room was at a premium.

The Rally Opened

The rally was formally opened by Chairman Cornelius Cronin of the city committee who with pardonable pride called attention to the fine work done by the city committee in the work of registration. Last year, Mr. Cronin said, the total registration at state election was 14,897 while this year when registration opened the number was less than 14,000. Today the total registration is over 15,000 and a large majority of the names put on were placed there through the work of the city committee. He predicted that Lowell will give Foss a majority of close on to 5000 this year. He then introduced as the presiding officer, His Honor, Mayor Moehan.

Mayor Moehan

"I appreciate more than words can express the honor of presiding over this gathering of the workmen of Lowell. This great outpouring shows that the men of Lowell are interested in a man who has done something, a man who has an idea to carry out and a principle to expand. The battle today is the battle of the talking masses against corporate power and public service corporations." His Honor then stated that as the hour was late he would not take up any more time, and he then introduced as the first speaker, Charles B. Strecker of Boston, candidate for state auditor.

Candidate Strecker

Mr. Strecker spoke, in part, as follows: "Mr. Frothingham is an honorable gentleman, but he comes before us to be placed at the head of the biggest business in the state, the state's business. I would ask him: 'What are your qualifications?' He may say: 'I am a lawyer, but he has never practiced at his profession. He may say: 'I have given my services to the state.' That is certainly laudable if he has given his services for the betterment of the conditions of the men and women of his state. But let me quote your record as published by Republican Norman White. The first item on it is that he has voted against free text books and he has replied that such is false as that measure came up at a time when he was too young to vote. If he did not vote against it, however, it was because he was too young to vote."

ENDED HER LIFE

Woman Was Drowned in Lake Champlain

BURLINGTON, Oct. 27.—Escaping from a sanitarium where she had been an inmate for a few days, Mrs. Emma Isham, widow of a well known merchant of Morrisville, ended her life by drowning in Lake Champlain early today. She was heard to jump from her window to the roof of the piazza about 2 a. m., but as the electric light system was out of business during the night the widow eluded the people in the dark. A search was without result till noon, when her body was found floating off Booth's wharf. Mrs. Isham was sent to the resort on account of a nervous condition. She was 47 years old.

GREAT TRIBUTE

PAID TO MEMORY OF IDA LEWIS WILSON

NEWPORT, Oct. 27.—All Newport paid tribute today to the memory of one of its best known residents, when thousands of persons filed the church to the east of the city, to the graves of Ida Lewis Wilson, better known as Ida Lewis, the lifesaver, whose body had in state for several hours. Ida Lewis, the second brother of the dead woman, stood upon the rocks outside the little Lime Rock lighthouse this forenoon and watched the funeral procession as it made the trip from the lighthouse, where she had spent her long life, to the mainland.

"That's the way she wanted to go," he said. There was a large crowd at the Wellington avenue pier and all bared their heads as the body was borne from the launch to the hearse. All the vessels in the harbor had their colors at halfmast and there at half-past seven were flying from all the public buildings and many business houses and residences.

Within the church was a great mass of flowers, including a wreath from the 5th coast artillery company stationed at Fort Adams and a pillow from the crew of the lifeboat Ida Lewis at the United States lifesaving station at Pelee's Neck.

The funeral service was attended by all the city officials and many representatives of the state, the federal government, the army and the navy. The Seventh artillery band, stationed outside the church, played "Let the Lower Lights Be Burning," "Nearer, My God, to Thee" and "Lead, Kindly Light." The services were conducted by Rev. W. P. Heister, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. Stanley C. Hughes, rector of Trinity Episcopal church. The interment was in the Old cemetery where the parents of the deceased are buried.

Miss Hattie Edith Edridge of Boston and Frederick Alden Lakin of this city, who were married in Henniker, N. H., Wednesday, are passing a portion of their honeymoon in Manchester, N. H. Mr. and Mrs. Lakin will live at 749 Middlesex street, and will be at home after December 1.

STEEL TRUST MEN

Served With Notice of Suit Brought by the Government

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The entire force of deputies under United States Marshal Hendel was put at the disposal of the government today to finish the task of serving copies of the bill of equity in the federal suit to dissolve the United States steel corporation upon officers and directors of the alleged trust residing here. J. P. Morgan and E. H. Gary received service last night but 13 others remained to be served in this neighborhood.

According to a statement given out at the office of the United States marshal in Trenton, where the suit was filed yesterday afternoon, this service of the petition will be followed by subpoenas requiring the defendants to answer the petition at Trenton on December 4. It is expected that both these services will be completed in 48 hours. The news of the dissolution suit came yesterday, some time after the stock market had closed but it brought many of the brokers back to their offices in a hurry to lay plans for today's market and take advantage of the earlier opening of the for- and against exchanges. Dealers in put and call business were busy all night sending orders to London. Word of the sharp decline in steel at London caused no surprise at New York this morning and traders prepared for a lively day when the exchange opened here at 10 o'clock. Continued to page fourteen

THE RICHESON CASE

Grand Jury May be Ready to Report Tomorrow

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—Important developments were expected at today's session of the grand jury which is hearing the government's evidence against Rev. Clarence Richeson, charged with murdering Miss Avis Linnell, the young Hyannis music student in this city, Oct. 12. It was believed that the inquiry would be finished in sufficient time to make a report tomorrow.

It was reported today that books removed by the police from the minister's rooms at the Carter home in Cambridge would be subjected to a minute examination in which expert chemists will figure. This action is said to be in connection with a report that Mr. Richeson two days before the death of Miss Linnell procured a bowl of flour from Mrs. Carter and mixed it with some substance. He is reported to have told her that he wished to make basis for mending books and upon returning the bowl is alleged to have warned her that poison had been in it.

Before the grand jury sat it was believed that several of the witnesses examined yesterday would be recalled today and also new witnesses, including friends of Avis who are said to have information concerning her reported engagement with the clergyman, would be summoned. It is expected that the scope of the grand jury's investigation will go back to three months ago. The point is raised that above all else the prosecution must clearly establish a motive on the part of Richeson.

Today it was reported that Detective Burns had decided to surrender the evidence which he secured from the Richeson rooms and which contained many letters written to the clergyman. The legal technicality developed by the incident was expected to result in a conference between District Attorney Tellefer and counsel for the defense today.

When the grand jury convened at 9:30 a. m. there were 14 women witnesses waiting in the ante-room. Among them were Dr. Mary Hobart, who attended Miss Linnell just before she died, and several cashiers and waitresses from downtown restaurants where, it is alleged, Mr. Richeson and Miss Linnell were accustomed to dine together occasionally. Soon afterward Moses Grant Edmunds, father of Miss Violet Edmunds, to whom Mr. Richeson was to have been married next Tuesday, entered the ante-room accompanied by another man, who was not known to the reporters present.

The controversy as to whether Robert Burns, a private detective employed by the defense, should produce certain papers and articles removed from Mr. Richeson's apartments in the home of Frank Carter in Cambridge after the arrest of the minister, was the subject of a conference this forenoon between Judge Sanderson of the superior court, Detective Burns and Phillip Dunbar, counsel for Richeson. It is understood that Judge Sanderson has ruled that should Burns be called upon to appear before the grand jury again he will be required to produce the papers and other articles taken by him from Mr. Richeson's room. After the conference Burns waited outside the grand jury room, apparently in the expectation of being called once more before that body. It was definitely known today that Congressman Robert O. Harris of Bridgewater, a former superior court judge, is actively connected with the case for the defense. It is understood that Mr. Harris is assisting in shaping the defendant's campaign in preparation of the trial and whether he takes an actual part in the trial is said to depend on the circumstances that may arise between now and the time the case comes to trial. WANT TO BE EXCUSED

Veniremen in the McNamara Case Appeal to Judge

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 27.—Veniremen summoned in the new panel of 10 to try the case of James B. McNamara, indicted for murder as a result of the Times building explosion, came to Judge Bordwell an hour before the opening of court today to present excuses for relief from jury duty. Out of the first panel of 125 only two scores were not excused and the days of the trial have since it began on Oct. 11 have been consumed in examining these talesmen. With the exhaustion yesterday of the panel additional veniremen were obtained and it is expected that before the final dozen are selected to try the case the process will be repeated several times. In the box are A. E. Winter, under challenge by the defense for cause, said jury duty. Out of the first panel of 125 only two scores were not excused and the days of the trial have since it began on Oct. 11 have been

GREAT EXCITEMENT

Stock Market Thrown Into a State of Demoralization

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The stock market was thrown into a state of demoralization at the opening today as a result of the suit for dissolution instituted by the government against the United States Steel Corporation. Preceding the opening here there had been heavy sales of steel common in the London market by New York interests at losses extending to seven points. Initial dealings in steel here were on a huge scale, the first offering consisting of 28,000 shares at from 55 to 53½, a maximum decline of five points. The bid shares were off points and the steel sinking fund bonds increased 1½. These losses were soon followed by other industrials and standard railway shares was affected, declines ranging from a point to two points in U. P. Reading, Atchafalaya, Great Northern pfd., Lehigh Valley, General Elec., Republic Iron & Steel pfd., Amalgamated Copper and American Smelting. The storm broke out into a fury after the first recovery in prices. The rally which followed the first violent break resulted in further selling on the former scale and the market became demoralized. Stocks fell to lower prices than at the opening. United States Steel dropped to 51, a loss of 7½ points, and a new low record for the year. Sales of the common stock in the first hour of trading were 290,000 shares.

The stock market showed more general weakness than on the first decline. Standard railroad issues such as Union Pacific and Reading were forced down about three points. Industrial stocks of all classes were extremely weak. The market was badly unsettled all the morning. Occasional rallies showed that attempts were being made to support prices but each recovery served only to invite further selling. The floor of the exchange was a scene of confusion. Long before trading was begun the brokers were jammed tightly about the steel stocks which were traded in. Orders to sell the stock had poured in over night from owners in all parts of the country who were alarmed by the dissolution suit. When the gong sounded to announce the opening of the market such a din was made by the shouting, struggling traders that it was impossible for several minutes to learn the course of the market.

The first block of 28,000 shares was the largest ever recorded in steel stocks, although it was exceeded twice last month when the market was demoralized by liquidation of this stock on the part of the holders who feared that the government was to begin suit. Within the first 15 minutes 97,500 shares were traded in. It was soon evident that the stock was receiving support. The first price

A LARGE ADDITION

Planned for Lamson Company's Local Plant

Application was made this morning at the office of the inspector of buildings at city hall for a permit to erect a three story addition to the plant of the Lamson Consolidated Store Service company in Walker street, by the Abernethy Construction Co. The proposed new building, consisting of three stories and basement will be of concrete construction with brick curtain walls, (similar to the Massachusetts storehouse), and the dimensions will be 120 feet by 50 feet and fire proof throughout. The building will be used for factory purposes and patent storage and will cost $30,000. The Lamson company having made a world-wide reputation through the recent manufacture of ammunition hoists for the United States navy is entering upon a busy future and the volume of business has made it necessary to increase the size of its plant. The plant has made great strides under the supervision of Mr. David Stevens, the present superintendent.

HOLY CROSS NIGHT

Great Celebration at College in Worcester

WORCESTER, Oct. 27.—The ninth annual observance of Holy Cross night was held at Holy Cross college last night with a large attendance of alumni joining with the faculty and students.

The night is set apart to allow the students, alumni and faculty to assemble and review the position of the college in all matters.

The formal exercises were opened with a banquet in the college dining hall at 6, at which the alumni were seated with the students.

At 7 all the classes assembled and marched to Fenwick hall, where they gave a reception to the members of the alumni, assisted by the faculty. When the seniors entered the hall, clad in cap and gown, the other classes remained standing while they sang the class song, "Alma Mater," written in Latin by Edgar A. Bergholtz.

The program was prepared by Charles C. Conaty of Taunton. Remarks were read from William G. Troy of Providence and Rev. Thomas D. Heaven, bishop of Springfield, who were to give addresses, and the speeches of the evening were opened by Rev. Patrick J. Madden of Worcester, who spoke of Holy Cross spirit.

Richard Mooney, also of Worcester, paid a graceful compliment to the members of the Jesuit Order.

Rev. Joseph N. Dinand, S. J., the new president, said that he was yet unable to get acquainted with all the duties of his new office, but assured all that his plan would be to continue the observance of Holy Cross night and better it in all ways possible.

Judge John B. Rutledge was then introduced and gave a speech, the feature of the evening's program. He said in part:

"The hope of a crop is always in the seed and that seed, if developed here by the sunshine of attention and the shower of thought, will flourish. But the college man should remember another motto: 'Help the other fellow.' This is one of the secrets of success and at Holy Cross it should find a ready set of receivers."

"Commercialism is fast creeping into the colleges of today, especially in athletics, and in social matters. The opportunities of college boys to juggle away time through these channels is destroying the spirit and fruit of many a college, for the boys develop habits that make them totally unfit for the battle with the world. The course of Holy Cross, if properly attended to, will give us more able men, and I may say that in the world there is room for every man of proper abilities."

The assembly then arose and sang the college song, "Holy Cross, Old Holy Cross," and a smoker followed.

As the assembly was about to break up a yell for the football squad and Coach T. P. Larkin was given for the Princeton game, which will be played Saturday.

The committee in charge consisted of Charles C. Conaty of Taunton, chief marshal; Harry J. Kelly of Taunton, N. Y.; William J. Whelan of Westfield; Joseph S. Deane of Philadelphia; George V. Coleman of Providence; and Andrew J. Quinn of Newport.

SAFE ROBBERING

WEISS ACCUSED OF $5000 JEWEL THEFT

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—Joseph Weiss, aged 30, a toy peddler who lives at 145 Essex street, New York city, was arrested by Inspector Michael Shields of headquarters yesterday afternoon on a charge of breaking and entering the jewelry store of Philip Ruhlman, 323 Tremont street, Feb. 12 last, and was held in $8000 bail by Judge Sanderson in superior court.

A side door of the store was forced open, the back of the safe was torn out and the intruders got away with jewelry and silverware valued at $5000.

Last May Inspector Michael H. Cronin had a man named Max Schmuckler arrested in New York city on charge of being implicated in the break. Schmuckler offered an alibi, but Gov. Dix signed requisition papers and the man was brought here. The district attorney later put his case on file.

Weiss used to leave his wares in the jewelry store. Ruhlman charges he detected him examining a door in the back room. Later he shipped samples from the store to New York city, but the addresses that he mentioned in New York were fictitious.

Wednesday evening it was learned Weiss was in this city expecting a shipment of goods and the arrest occurred when he was on his way to get the property.

He denied stealing the jewelry he had, which included 25 diamond rings of a cheap grade and silverware. Weiss says that he is innocent of the Ruhlman burglary.

GIRLS RESCUED

THEY WERE TAKEN FROM A BURNING BUILDING

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—Three young women employed in the clockmaking establishment of Mayer Kelman at 28 Chauncy street, had a narrow escape from death shortly after 6 o'clock last evening, when the rooms in which they were working were suddenly filled with smoke from a fire under the stairway. Anna Rosenzweig of 14 Spring street, West End, Lena Bookman of 12 McLean court, West End, and Rocky Gottlieb, were just finishing their day's work. In the rooms was also Abraham Kelman, a son of the proprietor.

The girls ran to the front windows and screamed to people in the street that they were about to jump.

A passerby sent in an alarm from box 44 and the prompt arrival of fire apparatus seemed to reassure the girls. Chief Mullen shouted to them to stay and Capt. Dolan of Ladder company 17 had the ladder raised to the top floor after Ladderman Magoun cut an electric wire.

Without waiting for this, however, Capt. Riley of Engine 4 and Ladderman Thomas Toomey of Ladder 8 ran up the stairway and led the girls down to safety. Capt. Riley wore the emergency mask recently adopted by the fire department, this being the first occasion upon which it has been used, and it proved perfectly successful.

J. W. Broad of the firm of Broad & Golden, on the fourth floor, escaped by the ladder.

The fire was quickly extinguished, and the damage is estimated at $150. The cause could not be determined.

Husband Visits Woman Accused of Murder

BATH, Me., Oct. 27.—One of the most pathetic incidents in the case of Mrs. Mildred Keefe, who while waiting a hearing Monday is locked in the county building charged with the murder of her child, occurred yesterday when Martin Keefe, the father of the dead boy and her husband, visited her at her cell.

Mr. Keefe was at sea when the alleged murder took place and arrived here late Wednesday night. Early yesterday morning he secured a permit from the county attorney to visit his wife and in company with an officer made the call.

With tears in his eyes he begged that his wife tell him the whole story connected with the death of the baby, but Mrs. Keefe refused, simply saying that she had been ordered by her attor-ners not to discuss the case with anyone.

Mr. Keefe reminded her of the threat which he claims she made, that she would drown the child before she would ever let him have his son again, but to no effect.

"The way of the transgressor is hard, but the price must be paid," he said last night.

LEADER OF REBELS

Proclaimed President of the Chinese Republic

PEKING, Oct. 27.—General Li Yuan Hsiang, leader of the rebel forces, has informed the foreign consuls at Hankow that he has been proclaimed president of the republic of China.

The foreign ministers here have exchanged communications with Li upon several subjects. They object to his announcement that vessels carrying contraband would be subject to confiscation by the rebels and also to his proposals to administer the custom revenues at the ports of the Yang-Tse-Kiang and others when controlled by the revolutionists. The latter objection was based on the fact that the revenues are pledged as security for foreign loans and had been turned over to the British inspector general of customs in China. Reports that General Yin Tchang, the minister of war, is dead continue in circulation and are believed by many Chinese.

CHINESE REBELS

HAVE CAPTURED THE CITY OF NGAN-KING

SHANGHAI, Oct. 27.—Ngan-King, the capital of the province of Ngan-Hwei and situated 160 miles southwest of Nanking, was taken over by the rebels today. Beyond this achievement, the day passed uneventfully south of the Yang Tse river. The explosives are being removed from the arsenal here. Local business is practically at a standstill. The China Navigation Co. has abandoned Hankow as a terminus because the rebels seized one of the company's steamers. They are using the vessel as a transport to carry recruits across the river.

SHE GOT WHAT SHE WANTED

This Woman Had to Insist Strongly, but it Paid

Chicago, Ill.—"I suffered from a female weakness and stomach trouble, and I went to the store to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but the clerk did not want to let me have it—he said it was no good and wanted me to try something else, but knowing all about it I insisted and finally got it, and I am so glad I did, for it has cured me."

"I know of so many cases where women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I can say to every suffering woman if that medicine does not help her, there is nothing that will."—Mrs. JANETZKI, 2803 Arch St., Chicago, Ill.

This is the age of substitution, and women who want a cure should insist upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound just as this woman did, and not accept something else on which the druggist can make a little more profit. Women who are passing through this critical period or who are suffering from any of those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of the fact that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

CRUSHED TO DEATH

Mother Saw Her Little Boy Killed

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—While she grasped the hand of her 4-year-old daughter, Mrs. Dora Aronson, 29 Jay street, Cambridge, saw her 7-year-old boy, Hyman, ground to death by the wheels of a street car last evening. Samuel Maguire, the motorman, was arrested charged with manslaughter, and held in $2500.

Mrs. Aronson and her two children were on Western avenue, Cambridge, near Howard street, shortly before 8 o'clock last night. The boy crossed the street to buy some candy at a store, while the mother waited with the little girl on the opposite curb. When Hyman came out of the store there were three cars passing, two outward-bound and one inward.

The little fellow waited for the first outward and the inward car to go by and then started to cross the tracks. He was close behind the inward-bound car, and did not see the second car on the outward tracks, and ran directly in front of it.

The fender of the car struck him, and he rolled under the forward trucks. Jacks had to be used to raise the car for the removal of the body. The boy was dead before he could be taken to a hospital.

WANTS $20,000

LYNN WOMAN ALLEGES BREACH OF PROMISE

LYNN, Oct. 27.—A $20,000 breach of promise suit has been brought against John A. Horne, a Lynn real estate broker and insurance agent, by Mrs. Evelyn Bangs of Lynn, aged 50, widow of a Washington physician, and housekeeper for Horne at 21 South common street, Lynn, four years ago. The attachment was recorded at the registry of deeds in Salem.

The suit comes as a surprise to the acquaintances of the couple. Last September, when Mrs. Bangs sold a house owned by her on James street, Horne acted as agent, and they had been seen together recently.

After selling her property, Mrs. Bangs went to Springfield to visit a married daughter. She returned to Lynn a few days ago and took apartments at 5 City Hall square. Neither party was in Lynn yesterday. Horne was said to be at his summer home in Rowley and Mrs. Bangs out of town.

MODEL HUSBAND

Was Badly Slashed by a Friend

BROCKTON, Oct. 27.—Because he had rather stay at home and wash the dishes than go out with a companion and see the bright lights shine, Avak Moorachian of 94 Franklin street, is in the hospital with a couple of slashes in his face and some more on his back, and the companion, John Chapoorian of 78 Court street, is in a cell, pondering the use of solissors as a means of pressing an invitation.

According to the police Chapoorian called on Moorachian early in the evening and invited him to go out where there was something doing. Avak said that he was going to stay home and help his wife with the supper dishes. Arguments on dish-washing and henpecked husbands followed, during which John grabbed a pair of solissors from the table and did some cutting for which they were not intended. Avak neither washed the dishes nor saw the bright lights shine.

THE RED MEN MET

Holyoke Man Chosen Grand Sachem

HOLYOKE, Oct. 27.—Theodore R. Emard of Holyoke is the new grand sachem of the great council of Massachusetts of the Improved Order of Red Men.

Wallace of Boston, credentials; William T. Smart of Springfield, Henry J. Black of Gardner, Emory Tamm and William Strong of Northampton, distribution; Fred T. Hutchinson and A. A. Desmond of Pittsfield, Charles Drick, reports; S. Wesley Nesbitt of Springfield, John C. Ware of Worcester, Willis E. Gilford of Somerville, mileage; Willis Olmstead of Springfield, great trader.

Great Sachem John W. Converse presided at the opening session, and after inspection of the credentials the Great Council degree was conferred on 150.

The report of the great sachem, showed that the order had gained 155 in the state during the past year. Five new councils were instituted.

The salary of the great chief of records was increased from $1200 to $1500. The third Sunday in May was set aside as the Red Men's church day, at which memorial services may be held.

A reception was held at city hall this evening in honor of T. R. Emard, the newly elected great sachem.

Short addresses were given by the new great sachem, Mayor John J. White and Fred O. Downs of Boston. A dance followed, this ending the formal program of the convention.

RATES ON MEAT

IMPORTANT DECISION GIVEN BY INTERSTATE BOARD

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Freight rates on both fresh and cured meats and other packing house products from Cedar Rapids, Ia., to New York city and Boston, and other eastern destinations taking the same rates, must not be greater, after December 1 next, than those contemporaneously in effect from Missouri river points or from Chicago.

Order to this effect was made yesterday by the interstate commerce commission in the decision of a case of T. M. Sinclair & Co. of Cedar Rapids, against the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and other railroad carriers. The complainant, who, with others, competes with New York and Boston packers, showed that the rate on live hogs from Iowa points to the east is lower than on dressed hogs and hog products.

From points west of the Mississippi river the rates on live hogs to the east are usually the same or a trifle higher than on the hog products. The railroads' defense was that the rates were adjusted commercially.

The commission pointed out that "there should be a definite relationship between the rates on live hogs and on the products thereof, based upon transportation conditions and not upon commercial equality." It held that the complainant was unjustly discriminated against, and issued the order indicated.

HALLOWEEN DANCE

Held Under Auspices of Clan Grant

The plaid of the Grants was conspicuous in Prescott hall last evening at the annual Halloween concert and dance held by that local division of the Scottish Clans. About four hundred clansmen with their wives and daughters attended.

The entertainment was opened with an orchestral medley of Scottish airs. Then James E. Donnelly sang the "March of the Cameron Men," and "Mary," with pleasing effect, while his rendition of Harry Lauder's "I Love a Lassie," made a great hit. Following these airs, "My Ain Folk," and "The Star of Gleanings" were artistically sung by Miss Ella Thompson, who was rewarded by the hearty applause of the audience. Mrs. Nettie Roberts' "Angus McDonald" and "Jessie's Dream" were sung with impressive effect, the latter song in particular being most agreeably received.

The Scottish dancing of the Misses Kipple was both artistic and enjoyable. Attired in the usual Highland uniforms of tartan, these young women first went through the intricate movements of the sword dance, then dressed as sailor girls in blue, they danced a hornpipe, and finally, arrayed in kiltie and short skirt, they briskly stepped through the "Highland Fling." It was an excellent exhibition of clever dancing, which was enjoyed until midnight, completed the entertainment.

Those in charge were: Committee on arrangements, chairman, Chief N. McN. Walters; secretary, Taniat A. W. Mowatt; treasurer, James Johnston; John Breckenridge, George Simpson, William Brown, Alex. Campbell, Donald McFadden, Samuel Johnston. Reception committee, Chief N. McN. Walters, Past Chief P. Caddell, Past Chief J. W. Gregg, Past Chief John H. Tait, Past Chief Alex. ITALIAN TROOPS

Find Remains of American Occupation

ROME, Oct. 27.—Reports from Tripoli state that the Italians have found at Derna several remains of the American occupation in 1910, including harbor works and some fortifications constructed under the direction of William Eaton, who was then the American consul general at Tunis. They discovered an ancient mill and an archway containing papers relating to the bombardment by the American squadron. As the Italian operations in Tripoli proceed, the difficulty of carrying out the plans projected by the military administration before the beginning of hostilities becomes apparent. It has been found impracticable to care for all the wounded on the scene and all kept desperate cases are being sent home, so that the camp will be relieved of their care and protection.

Many officers and men who have been slightly wounded object to being sent home and some have threatened, if necessary, to tear off the bandages and show that they are able to resume their places in the ranks. The Italian losses and other obstacles in the way of an early conquest of Tripoli are strengthening the position of that section of the public which holds that Turkey should receive no compensation for the loss of her province and that Italy should not even recognize the sultan as the head of the religion of the natives, although granting respect and liberty to all sects, including the Mohammedan laws regarding polygamy.

The saddest looking horse that we have seen for many a day passed through Merrimack square this morning. He was hitched with a mule to a big truck and the poor fellow seemed ashamed of his long-eared companion. He held his head low and didn't even glance at the bulletin boards.

cause he could not for he has since voted against a somewhat similar proposition." Mr. Strecker then read from Mr. Frothingham's legislative record, showing his attitude against all labor measures. Continuing, he said: "Mr. Frothingham never voted for anything that would tend to better the conditions of the men and women of Massachusetts, and I think we can leave him hiding behind the broad shoulders of President 'Catt,' waiting for the call which I believe will never come, waiting to hear his master's voice." Mr. Strecker then read from the record of Governor Foss and said: "If Governor Foss never signed any other bill but the Workmen's Compensation bill, he is entitled to the vote of every working man in the state. For the bills that he has signed and the action he has taken I will say that he is the greatest business governor we have ever had. You are going to elect the entire state ticket and that means that I am going to be state auditor. If elected I will never audit a bill unless I am sure that the state is going to get dollar for dollar. The man whom I am opposing has as black a legislative record as Mr. Frothingham. He is a machine candidate. He has not been elected by the people, but was placed in the position by the legislature to fill out the unexpired term. As there is no one here to speak for me, I may be pardoned for telling you who I am. I am the publisher and manager of one of the biggest financial papers in the state. My entire training has been with figures and statistics. I am still ponderer of the fact that in the office where I entered 25 years ago with a brown and dust pan I now sit at the president's desk."

Introducing Governor Foss, Mayor Meehan said that the republicans are sending a boy on a man's errand, and paid a glowing tribute to the governor, who was received with tremendous cheering while the band played "Hail to the Chief."

A local orator whose excess enthusiasm caused him to buy his own as the governor arose to address the gathering and he was promptly escorted out by Sergt. Ryan. As he was being hurried through the aisle, he turned and cried out: "Good night, governor!"

"I guess he'll vote right," said Governor Foss. "We want all of them on election day."

Governor Foss

Now, gentlemen, I am not here this evening in my executive capacity as governor of this commonwealth, but in my capacity as candidate of my party for re-election to that office, and I am here to ask your support. According to all the rules of the game I am entitled to re-election at your hands for I believe I have made good.

"As your chairman has said, I believe more progressive legislation has been put on the statute books during my single term of office than ever before in one year of any governor, especially in the matter of progressive labor legislation."

"I will only cite the Eight Hour bill, the 51 Hour bill for women and children, the Fine bill, the Injunction bill, which in a labor crisis, trial by jury is granted, which is a great step toward popular government."

"Then there is the crowning measure, known as the Workmen's Compensation act, a measure which placed Massachusetts in a foremost place because it recognizes a great principle, a principle which says labor is entitled these days to more than in the pay envelope. It makes the industry responsible for the welfare of the workman."

Dares Battle on His Record

Our republican friends don't like to make the fight this year on state issues and properly speaking, the campaign should be made on state issues. But I can say without fear of contradiction that the character of my administration has been such that my opponents don't dare to make the fight on that issue."

"They want to make the fight on the issues of last year and we welcome that issue. We beat them last year on it. The high cost of living is still with us. They have had an opportunity to rectify those conditions that have produced this high cost of living. The republican party is solely responsible and they must stand or fall on that record."

Cites Shoe Industry

Gov. Foss then took the boat and shoe industry, which is only moderately protected, as an example of a great industry in which protection has nothing to do with the wages. There has been in this industry within a year a reduction of from 25 per cent. to 10 per cent. and there has been no reduction in wages.

Turning to state affairs, Gov. Foss said:

"The whole business organization of the commonwealth has been used, not as a business concern, but as a political opportunity to retain thousands of men on the public payroll. That is the way the great power of the republican machine in this state has been built up."

The governor declared the management of the state finances utterly lax and asserted that the state could get $70,000 more each year in interest on its bonds if this money was offered to competitive bidders.

He said the suspension of county accounts had broken down absolutely and that the administration of state commissions had become of very poor efficiency. On this point he said:

"For example, the recent disclosures of fraud in connection with cost of grade crossings at Worcester, shows exactly how our present methods fail to safeguard the public."

"To show how utterly unbusinesslike the method has been in the past, let me say that the supervision of grade crossings has not been in the hands of the railroad commission at all, but has been under the charge of the engineer in the employ of the attorney general; and this man, in his own statement before the Worcester aldermen, said he visited the work on an average of one day each month and made no tests of strength and materials until a public exposure compelled such action."

Have Degraded Themselves

"So much for the existing commissions of the commonwealth."

"They have been degraded, not by my investigation, but by their own partisan purpose. They have not been administered for the public interest, but for partisan advantage."

"We now come to the part of the investigation which shows even more clearly how injurious the need of better methods really is."

"I found that our reformatories for men and women, boys and girls do not pretend to classify their inmates in a way to protect the young offenders from contact with confirmed criminals."

"Even the state prison methods are open to immediate improvement, not only improvement, but urgently needed reform. I showed that the prisoners were being worked under a system where their labor was thrown in a free to an agent who marketed their products in the open market. I showed that this system was intolerable; that it was disgraceful for the commonwealth to permit it, now that it had been made public."

"The republican machine immediately criticized me for mentioning this delicate subject, and when that wouldn't go down they denied the whole thing."

"But you are aware that the legislature has ordered that the real labor system of the state be subjected to a thorough legislative study to see how it could be improved."

"My opponents cannot get away with these facts. Denunciation of me is of no avail whatever. What the people want is immediate improvement in the business methods of the state."

Labor at the State Farm

"Now, again, do you want to stand pat on the existing methods of managing your state farm, or do you want a clean-cut business method put into use?"

"I found that a foreman of construction, regularly employed by the state farm, but not listed on the official list of state employees, had received some $200,000 during the past 15 years to disburse as wages to laborers, but he aroused by my investigation is itself the clearest possible confession of their own weakness and guilt."

At the conclusion of Governor Foss' remarks he and Mr. Strecker departed for Lawrence and Haverhill, while Congressman Curley and Candidates Walsh and Donahue had not arrived. Mayor Meehan announced that word had been received that Congressman Curley was on his way from Lawrence and then introduced Register of Voters William C. Purcell, who received an ovation as he arose to speak.

William C. Purcell

Mr. Purcell spoke, in part, as follows: "I feel grateful for the opportunity to make a bow to you at least, for after the eloquent remarks and convincing arguments of the preceding speakers it would ill become me, not being a speechmaker, to attempt to address you at any length. Lowell in the coming election should send Foss out of Lowell 4000 votes to the good. The votes are here and we must have them recorded on election day. Every vote cast for Governor Foss means, I hope, a vote for every democratic candidate on the ballot. Last year a small vote was turned out but this year we had no voucher of any sort to prove to whom he paid this money. Is it wrong to tell these facts? Which is more creditable to the state—to tell them, or to permit the old method to go on?"

"I learned who some of these men were and found the men. They denied that they got the sums which the foreman said he paid. The defense was that some of these men belonged to certain labor organizations, but had worked for the state farm for less than their standard rate and in order to cover this fact up they had been credited with a dollar-a-day extra, which had been taken back by the state on the pretext of board money."

"Do the people of Massachusetts want that sort of method continued? Shall the governor follow the example of the partisan ways and means committee of the house, and 'white wash' the state farm? Or shall he demand better methods?"

"Here and at other institutions I found the officials developing real estate and selling it to the state. I declined to approve an item of many thousands of dollars for additional land at the state farm, because I found that the superintendent himself owned a considerable part of this land. I found the treasurer of the institution selling a house to an agent, who turned it over immediately to the state; and when I asked the reason the official declared that the attorney general's office advised him to have the sale put through in that way."

Abuse is a Confession

"The commissions and institutions of this commonwealth must be run for the good of the people and not for the advantage of office-holders. That is my contention. That is the spirit of my recommendations. And the only reply to my opponents is that such talk is a disgrace to the state."

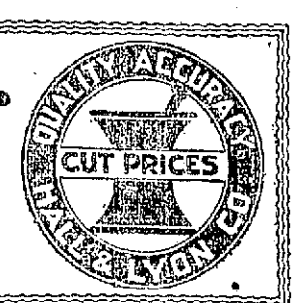

"I am willing to rest my case with the people as between my views and theirs."

"You have all heard the howls of the republican machine that my investigation of the state business brought criticism upon the commonwealth, and I am going to ask you, right here, if any one of you is afraid of honest criticism? I am going to ask if you think the public business of Massachusetts is too sacred to be looked into on business lines?"

"The abuse and the disreputable position of republican legislators

FINLEY IS NOT GUILTY

He Was Set Free by Jury in Worcester Court

WORCESTER, Oct. 27.—George B. Finley, court before Judge Hall yesterday, on an indictment charging him with manslaughter in connection with the death, on Aug. 31, of Michael Leyden, an inmate of the state hospital, by beating him.

The government claimed that Leyden received at the hands of Finley, on Aug. 27, a beating which resulted in fractures of Leyden's jaw, his breast-bone in two places, and five ribs on the right side and six ribs on the left side. The government witnesses were heard yesterday. Finley took charge of the inmate man at 6 o'clock Sunday morning, Aug. 27. It was stated yesterday that Leyden had been violent the night before and required the presence of four attendants to place him in a small room, but it was denied that these four attendants had abused Leyden or that they had used more than enough force to get him into the room. They admitted he fought all the way.

The session today was given up to the defense. Finley denied he had struck Leyden when he went on duty Sunday morning, and said when he took charge of the patient he noticed marks on the man's chest and saw blood on his face. He called another attendant to wash the blood from the man's face. He knew Leyden was violent and when he went on duty to relieve Henry S. McKenzie, another attendant, he asked McKenzie if Leyden had started anything. McKenzie replied he had and that he had been given orders not to go into the room. Finley testified he then offered to go in with McKenzie, and they entered the room together. When he saw the condition of Leyden, he called in another attendant.

Harry A. Kellner, an attendant, testified to finding a tooth that had been knocked from Leyden's mouth outside the door of the room in which it was alleged Finley had assaulted the man. Several other attendants testified regarding the violence of Leyden and the difficulty the attendants had in handling him in removing him from the large dormitory to the room where it was claimed the assault was made. Cyrus A. Goding, one of these attendants, testified that John S. Martin, an attendant, who was dismissed from the hospital a short time after the assault was committed, told him he had helped to "trim" Leyden.

Joseph A. Cardiff, another attendant, testified that Henry S. McKenzie, who was also dismissed from the service at the time of the alleged assault, remarked to him, when it became known that Leyden had been fatally injured, "I guess we're up against it." After considering the evidence for an hour, the jury returned a verdict of guilty.

LAZARUS ARRESTED

He is Charged With Passing 250 Bad Checks

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—The real Max R. Lazarus was arrested yesterday afternoon by Sergt. Grwin and Patrolman Newell near the Back Bay station on a charge of having passed worthless checks. Headquarters detectives and special officers of almost every police division have been searching for him since the flight of one Joseph Katz in June.

Katz jumped $1200 bail, in which he was held on charge of passing worthless checks. When arrested last spring he gave the name of Lazarus. Later he revealed his identity and said he was a pal of Lazarus. The grand jury indicted Lazarus while he was in Seattle. There are six counts in the indictment, but the police of division 5 said he passed about 250 worthless checks and that the proceeds of his wrongdoing amount to at least $2000. It is alleged his victims were mostly proprietors of small stores, although a number of large firms and a bank or two are included. Lazarus dresses stylishly and possesses as convincing a line of conversation as the police have ever heard, they claim. The police say Lazarus would enter a store and select some article for purchase, paying for it with a bad check, which would always be for a figure in excess of the value of the goods, and secure the change. It is charged that the other night he bought a pair of shoes at the South End and tendered a check for $12.50 in payment.

The shoes cost $2.50. Lazarus, it is alleged, secured the balance in cash and later disposed of the shoes on the street.

Lazarus is 23 years old. He said he lived on Follen street, in the Back Bay. The number he gave does not exist. Patrolman Michael Foley of division 5, a schoolmate, claims he recognized him.

Before Lazarus went away, the police say, his father and his brother, the latter a physician, made good many of the losses incurred by his operations, the brother paying about $1000. The police say Max Lazarus practiced the same game in Seattle and Chicago and was sent home by his brother, who is in Seattle.

According to the police, the young prisoner spoke of a woman leading him into temptation. The whereabouts of Katz is not known.

PROBABLY FOUL PLAY

Retired Boston Merchant Picked up in the Gutter

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—Discovered unconscious in the gutter at 17 Beach street, in the South End, with a deep gash over his forehead, William P. Greeley, an 81-year-old retired business man, who a few months ago inherited an additional fortune of over $20,000 from his brother, was early last evening taken to the city hospital, where his condition is serious.

When Greeley left the Quincy House, where he has been stopping for the past two days, he had a large roll of bills, the clerk having been paid a sum from it yesterday forenoon just before the old man went out.

When he was found he had a solitary $20 bill with his checkbook, the police starting an investigation under Sergeant Flynn last evening to ascertain whether or he had been robbed or had spent the money.

It is not felt that the injury to Greeley was from an assault, as several witnesses examined by the police stated that he had been taken ill as he was walking down Beach street and had stumbled, falling headlong into the gutter.

For the past year Greeley has been living at the Hotel Langham, where his venerable form was a familiar figure. He often said that he preferred the South End because it was the vicinity where he used to have so many business associates.

A couple of days ago, however, he decided to change his lodgings and came to the Quincy House, telling Manager Robbins that he was to make the hotel his permanent abode.

At the Langham hotel the clerk told the police that Greeley for months had been surrounded with scores of people who were apparently trying to either borrow money from him or to interest him in schemes of various natures.

HALLOWEEN IN CITY AND COUNTRY IS CELEBRATED IN DIFFERENT MANNERS

Halloween, which comes on Oct. 31, can be traced back to pagan times. It is associated in the popular mind with supernatural influences, and there are various ways told in legend by which men and maidens may learn the identity of their future life partners. The playing of pranks is a popular form of amusement. In the cities the children don masquerade costumes and parade the streets, while in the country jack-o'-lanterns made of pumpkins are an essential feature of the celebration.

ENJOYABLE SOCIAL

CONDUCTED BY THE CHILDREN OF MARY SODALITY

An enjoyable social, which took the form of a coffee party and dance, was held last night in the parochial school hall of the Sacred Heart church in Moore street under the auspices of the members of the Children of Mary sodality, who are to have a table at the coming parish reunion. The popularity of the young ladies of the organization was evidenced by the large attendance, there being nearly 500 present.

Dancing was enjoyed until a late hour, music being furnished by Broderick's orchestra.

The success of the party was due to the zealous and untiring work of Miss Lillian Holden, president of the sodality, and the following young ladies: General manager, Miss Elizabeth Miskella; assistant general manager, Miss Nellie Murphy; floor director, Miss Gertrude Ward; assistant floor director, Miss Anna Bradley; chief aid, Miss Margaret Linane; aids, Miss Alice Walsh, Miss Katherine Healey, Miss Susie Ryan and Miss Margaret Cusick.

Reception committee, Miss Mayetta Sullivan, chairman; May Carroll, Mary Burns, Emily McGuire, Margaret Tomlinson and Katherine McCarthy.

Among the clergy present were Very Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I., Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I., Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O. M. I., Rev. James T. McDermott, O. M. I. and Rev. T. Franklin Wood, O. M. I.

MARRIED 20 YEARS

21 Children Born to Mr. and Mrs. Dagenais

A couple who do not believe in race suicide are Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Dagenais of 86 Emmet street, West Centralville, for, although they have been married but 20 years, their 21st child was born a few days ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Dagenais were both born at Cap Sainte, Que., Mr. Dagenais being 41 years of age, while his wife has not yet reached her 35th birthday. They were married in Lowell at St. Joseph's church on Aug. 30, 1891.

Mrs. Dagenais was formerly Miss Motard, and she comes from a large family, being one of 11 children, and two of her sisters, both living in Lowell, Mrs. Azarais Lavallee and Mrs. Alphonsie Milot, have raised large families, the former being the mother of 14 children, while 11 children were born to the latter.

As above stated, Mr. and Mrs. Dagenais were married 20 years ago, and 21 children were born to them, two of them being twins. There were six girls and 15 boys, and of this number but three are now living. They are Henri, Jeanne, and the latest born, who was christened on Oct. 14 at St. Louis church, receiving the name of Joseph, Jules Emile, the sponsors being Mr. and Mrs. Dagenais.

JOY RIDE IS FATAL

Companions of Dead Boy Were Placed Under Arrest

SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 27.—A thrilling police story of the theft of an automobile by three boys, all under 18 years of age, boys on Sept. 20, appropriated an automobile, a joy ride in the middle of Hartford, Conn., belonging to a stolen machine, and a joy ride in the middle of Hartford, Conn., belonging to a stolen machine, and a joy ride in the middle of Hartford, Conn., belonging to a stolen machine.

They changed their plans, however, and went to Buchanan, Va., and for several days enjoyed themselves riotously. They indulged in frequent joy rides and on one occasion had as their guest the mayor of the city.

The boys took one ride too many, however, for one day as the big car championed player of no mean ability. His grandfather was Edward Phelps, founder and owner of the Phelps Publishing company, one of the largest publishing houses in the United States.

Young Taft, who is 18 years old, is the son of one of the best-known photographers in Springfield, and his photographing has been the talk of the countryside for years. After the death of Clark, Manson and Taft returned to Springfield and Hartford respectively, and after about their trip. The first intimation of the death of the boy had of his death was given them by the police.

the larceny of an automobile, spending several days in jail. He deserted from a scholarship upon which he had been placed and attracted much attention last year through his attempt to smuggle himself across the Atlantic on a steamship leaving Boston for European ports.

NAVY YARD SCARE

CHICKENPOX BREAKS OUT AMONG MARINE GUARD

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—There was a smallpox scare at the Charlestown navy yard yesterday afternoon, which was somewhat abated when Dr. David Brough, the medical inspector of the Boston board of health, was called into the case and stated that the patients were suffering from chickenpox.

Two members of the marine guard at the naval prison and one of the prisoners, a typewriter in the prison office, were stricken with the disease. Dr. Francis W. F. Wieber, the yard physician, was summoned, and at first glance was of the belief that the men were suffering from smallpox. Every precaution to prevent an epidemic of the disease was quickly taken.

The men were removed to the Naval hospital in Chelsea, where they are under observation by Dr. John M. Edgar, there yet being a fear that the patients may have a touch of the dread disease.

Liberty has been denied the members of the marine corps attached to the marine barracks and the naval prison. Dr. Wieber was unable at first to account for the outbreak of the disease among the members of the guard and prisoners, and fearing smallpox called Dr. Brough into consultation. The prisoner stricken with the disease is J. A. Wiggins, who had been at the institution for the last six months. One of the guard stricken was Private J. H. Braundier.

Anty Drudge—"You poor unfortunate victim of the old-time washday habit! Why won't you wash in the Fels-Naptha way, and strike off the chains that bind you to the steaming washboiler and the all-day hard rub-rub on the washboard?"

If you really believed what we say about Fels-Naptha you would use it, wouldn't you?

But you think that it's too easy—impossible.

Many men are wealthy to-day because the majority thought the same thing about the telephone.

To you boiling seems necessary to thorough cleansing.

With soaps of the old sort it is.

Incidentally much of it gets rubbed in.

Fels-Naptha separates the dirt from the fabric in cool or lukewarm water.

Once separated it is easily rinsed away.

But you must remember that Fels-Naptha is made to be used in cool or lukewarm water, summer or winter.

CHARTER FACTS FOR VOTERS

Gives More Power to People, Says Mayor of Decatur, Ill.

Below are found statements from the mayor of Decatur, Ill., and the city clerk of Iola, Kansas, proving that the commission form of government as proposed for Lowell gives more power to the people than they possessed under the old charter, and that it favors no class or section of the community. This should set at rest certain false statements regarding the charter, and made by men who have selfish motives for retaining the old charter. This is the opinion of men based upon practical experience. Is it not a safer guide than the groundless charges of men who have neither facts nor experience to back up their up their statements?

The Sun has already published a statement from the mayor of Taunton in praise of the commission form of government in that city. It has published a lengthy statement from the mayor of Gloucester and has favorable replies from Lynn and Haverhill, where the commission form of charter is also working well. But before giving any further replies from Massachusetts cities, we propose to give a few from cities in other states that have been under the charter for a considerable time and therefore, are better qualified to speak from practical experience of the merits of this charter that is now before the people of Lowell for their consideration.

Following is the circular letter which elicited the replies printed today and those that will be printed hereafter:

Lowell, Mass., October, 1911.

Dear Sir:

As the citizens of Lowell are soon to vote upon the question of adopting the commission or the Mayor form of charter in all its important features, and as the opposition claims that the new charter will take the power away from the people, that it is backed by the money power in Wall street and means a return to slavery, will you kindly answer the following queries for the information of the citizens?

- 1—If these claims have any foundation?
 - 2—Under such a charter can any particular class of citizens have special advantages over any other class?
 - 3—Has this form of charter improved conditions in your city or would you go back to the old form of charter?
 - 4—Is there any reason why the working classes should not prefer such a charter to the old fashioned double chamber system in which partisan politics is predominant?
- By answering these questions or giving any other information in regard to this charter you will greatly oblige
- Yours very truly, etc.

Mayor Dineen's Reply

Here is a typical letter from Mayor Dan Dineen of the city of Decatur, Illinois:

City of Decatur, Illinois.
Oct. 23, 1911.

The Lowell Sun, Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen: Your circular letter of Oct. 7th, asking my answers to four questions enclosed therein has been duly received, and in reply will answer the questions as asked as follows, to wit:

First—The proposed charter instead of taking the power away from the people restores to the people that power which they have had lying dormant so many years, and even that power which officials now retain under the new form of government is so restricted and safe-guarded that no influence can control the officials except those influences that are backed up by public opinion, and therefore, Wall street can have no more influence than any other class of citizens, unless that influence is of the kind that the people will endorse.

Second—This question is answered by previous reply.

Third—I believe that it has improved conditions in our city, judging from what the people say of it, and do not believe the people would be willing to go back to the old form of charter. However, being one of the officials in office, my judgment may not be correct in this, and would respectfully refer you to the newspapers in this city, who are more competent to judge than I am.

Fourth—There is every reason why the working classes should prefer such a charter rather than the aldermanic form of city government.

In addition to the answers above given, I am also enclosing a copy of a letter which I have written to the newspapers along the same line and trust you will find the information of the character you desire.

Yours truly,
Dan Dineen, Mayor.

MAYOR DINEEN

IN A LETTER TO A NEWSPAPER
PRAISED CHARTER

The letter referred to above is as follows:

The Daily News, Prince Rupert, B. C.
Gentlemen:

Your letter of the 15th instant, asking for the reasons which led this city to adopt the commission form of government, has been received, and in reply will say that in my opinion there were a number of reasons which commended this plan to the citizens of Decatur, a few of which are as follows:

First, This community as well as others, has grown tired of "machine politics," and under this plan every candidate stands on his own footing. It is unlawful to contribute money for the election of any particular candidate, and the successful candidate has to file a sworn statement of his actual expenses, and by whom the money was contributed. The candidate's name goes on the ballot in alphabetical order and there is nothing to show the probably influenced the citizens of this community in adopting this form of government, others might be considered with us with local conditions. If any further information is desired along these lines, I shall be most happy to furnish same to you.

Yours truly,
Mayor.

CLERK ZEIGLER

OF IOLA, KANSAS, COMMENDS THE NEW CHARTER

Iola, Kansas, Oct. 23d, 1911.
Editor Lowell Sun.

Dear Sir: In answer to yours of some days since, addressed to the mayor, will say: Your people who charge that the commission form of government takes the government away from the people are grossly ignorant of the plan, as the reverse is true. Our system places the government directly in the hands of the people—first, by electing the commissioners by the vote of the entire city, without regard to wards; second, by placing the commissioners in charge of the specific departments of the city's business and putting them under bond for the faithful performance of their duties. If they fail to make good, the responsibility can be checked directly to them. This method simply applies modern business methods to municipal affairs. As there was some organized opposition but after 18 months of trial of the commission form no one I think, would oppose the plan. As to your questions, will say in answer to No. 1: There is no foundation for such a claim. No. 2: The plan cuts out special privileges and all the people have equal rights and privileges. No. 3: Our people would not for a moment consider a return to the old system. In regard to improved conditions, I am sending you, under separate cover, copy of our first annual report and a study of this report will answer this question fully. No. 4: There is absolutely no reason for or demand for a return to the old system. Our system divides municipal affairs from politics as completely as it is possible to do so. All names are printed on the ballot alphabetically and each candidate for whom you wish to vote must be marked independently. There is no party name or emblem or designation which party the candidate belongs to. In cities with a larger population than ours, the candidates are chosen at a primary and the two candidates having the largest vote at the primary are the candidates at the election and it frequently happens that the two candidates having the largest vote belong to the same party so it is entirely a choice between men.

As a rule more efficient officials are chosen as the direct responsibility encourages them to render the best service possible.

We are not acting under a charter but under an act of the legislature of the session of 1909. You will probably find a copy of the session laws in your library, or in some law office in your city.

Our city has a population of a little below 10,000 and I am inclined to believe that larger cities would derive a greater benefit even than cities of our size. We have saved nearly $10,000 the first year under commission government over the last year of the old system as shown by the report and have cut the tax levy accordingly. To illustrate—the state, county and school levies for the year 1911 are higher than for the year 1910, yet the city levies are lower for 1911 than they were for 1910. The last year was the first in a great many years that the general expenses of the city were kept within the general revenue and it is a well established fact that the fire department is better equipped to render efficient service, the city was never better policed and the streets were never kept so clean as during the past year. We own our water, electric and gas plants and we have a commissioner of public utilities who runs them for the benefit of the whole people rather than for political purposes. Collections are better looked after, free services have been discontinued and the humblest citizen gets just as good service and at the same rates as any other citizen.

We think we have a "good thing" and are always ready to "pass it along."

Yours very truly,
F. E. Zeigler, City Clerk.

It is to be hoped that the workmen of Lowell will judge for themselves on the charter question and not be deceived by any false charges made by men who have a selfish interest in misrepresenting the situation. The charter as provided for Lowell will give the people more power so that it will enable them to protect themselves politically and to control their elected officials at all times.

It is to be regretted that the smooth paving jobs have not been farther advanced at this stage when we are liable to drop into cold weather at any time. Unfortunately for some cause or other the smooth paving is allowed to run till the fall before they are started, that is something that the new charter would stop for all time. The paving would be started early in the spring and it would be closed up about the time that it is usually started under our present regime.

THE LINNELL CASE

The people of Massachusetts want to see a speedy trial on the Linnell murder case and judging from the action of District Attorney Pelletier they are going to get it. If Mr. Richeson is innocent he should not be detained in prison and if he is guilty the fact that he is a clergyman should not shield him from the severest penalty of the law. Indeed it makes his crime the more shocking to the community.

WOMEN TEACHERS ON EQUAL FOOTING WITH MEN

The women teachers of New York have succeeded in having their salary put upon the same basis as that of the men teachers. They had been conducting an agitation for this purpose for some time past. This principle is one of the very first in the category of woman's rights now being tardily conceded. There is no justification for paying a woman less for her work than a man would receive for the same work. There are those who think that the victory will turn out to be an injury instead of a benefit to the women teachers for the reason that it will increase the number of male teachers. In some cities there is a strong sentiment in favor of men teachers, and were it not for the higher salaries demanded they would be employed in many places in preference to women. The sentiment has been growing in favor of male teachers, especially for the higher grades and for districts where pupils are somewhat disorderly.

CONGRESSMAN CURLEY'S ARGUMENTS

Congressman Curley who arrived at Associate hall at a late hour last night proved to be a very stirring speaker. He raked the republican policy fore and aft and produced some arguments that could not be refuted. One of his points was that while beef had reached the highest price since the Civil war last year yet the people of the Argentine republic sent large exports of beef to England. Why did they not send it to the United States where they could sell it at a much higher price than in England? Simply because of the high tariff wall against imported beef. The tariff, he said, is four and one-half cents a pound which for dressed beef would mean about seven and one-half cents per pound. If that barrier were removed the price of meat could never reach the figure at which it stands today. This is but a single instance of many that might be quoted to explain the high cost of living as resulting from the tariff policy of the republican party.

GREAT ENTHUSIASM FOR GOVERNOR FOSS

The rousing rally at Associate hall last evening gave ample proof of the place which Gov. Foss holds in the hearts of Lowell citizens. In numbers, enthusiasm and attention the rally was one of the greatest seen here. He has been all that he claimed to be, that is a business governor. The record of his administration shows more constructive legislation than that of any other governor for a generation. The passage of the workmen's compensation law alone would serve as campaign material for several years because if there ever was a measure calculated to benefit the working people in case of accident or injury during their employment in factories it is this. It has been demonstrated that in 80 per cent of the serious accidents neither the injured parties nor their dependents got any compensation whatever. As a rule the cases were tried before the superior court and then if a verdict was rendered for the plaintiff there was an appeal to the supreme court on questions of law which held up the verdict until the injured party might have died or until the verdict was all eaten up by legal expenses. All this will be done away with under this new law which will prove more valuable to the working people than all the labor measures enacted for several years past.

Gov. Foss gave a good account of his administration and he fully justified by unanswerable facts, his statement that there is a good deal of laxity in the management of the various commissions throughout the state.

After listening to the governor's review of his administration it is easy to see why the republicans in this campaign do not pay much attention to state issues. Yet on the tariff question the governor has also the best of the argument. He proves that although the tariff on shoes was reduced from 25 per cent to 10 per cent there was no reduction of wages but there was an increase in the export of shoes with a small margin of imports. These facts disprove the republican claim that a reduction of the tariff is always followed by a reduction of wages.

The governor laid down the democratic policy on the tariff in stating that all the necessities of life should be admitted free so as to reduce the high cost of living and that the raw material for our great industries should also be admitted free in order that they may be enabled to compete successfully in the markets of the world.

SEEN AND HEARD

A silent but notable tribute was paid to the memory of the late Thomas P. Meagher, the popular letter carrier, as his funeral passed through Central street Wednesday morning. Some 39 business men having offices or places of business along the street left their desks as the funeral approached and went out to the curbstone where they stood with heads uncovered as the hearse passed. The scene was all the more impressive because of the fact that it was not pre-arranged, but was spontaneous.

With the interest in the charter matter so general this will be no off year in Lowell as regards the state election, and it is expected that the biggest vote ever polled in Lowell on a state election day will be cast.

Many people will vote backwards this year so as to be sure that they don't forget to vote on the charter.

LEAVE IT WITH HIM

Yes, leave it with him;
The lilies all with him;
And they grow.
They grow in the rain,
And they grow in the dew—
Yes, they grow.
They grow in the darkness, all hid in the night;
They grow in the sunshine, revealed by the light;
Still they grow.

They ask not your planting,
They need not your care,
As they grow;
Dropped down in the valley,
The field, anywhere—
There they grow.
They grow in their beauty, arrayed in pure white;
They grow, clothed in glory, by heaven's own light,
Sweetly grow.

The grasses are clothed
And the ravens are fed
From his store,
But you who are loved,
And guarded and led,
How much more
Will he clothe you and feed you, and Give you his care—
Then leave it with him, He has everywhere Ample store.

Yes, leave it with him,
'Tis more dear to his heart,
You will know,
Than the lilies that bloom,
Or the flowers that start
'Neath the snow.

Guests at the New American hotel this week were astonished to see a number of Japanese in native dress in the dining room and about the corridors, for Mrs. Sumiko, who heads the bill at Kell's theatre, insists upon the best hotels and also insists upon wearing her native dress, which she declares to be far more comfortable than European fashions. In New York she stopped at the Plaza and her appearance among the fashionable there created a veritable sensation. Another of her oddities is her refusal to enter a theatre by the stage door, declaring that to do so would be to lower her standing as an artist in Japan, where she is prima donna soprano of the Imperial Opera House, Tokio. A clause in her contract provides for her entrance through the front of the house. Mrs. Sumiko has not yet acquired the European idea of sleeping in a bed, but reclines on sumptuous Oriental rugs and Japanese pillows which she carries with her. The beds have been removed from the rooms in which she and her attendants repose and have been replaced by rugs.

Bishop Spaulding, on a hot summer morning, gave one of the congregations of Portland, Ore., a timely piece of advice.

"Don't," he said, "when you go off on your vacation, leave all your collection behind and take all your collection away with you."

The largest collection of books and papers bearing on the Civil war is said to belong to Mrs. Levi Z. Letter of Washington. Many of the papers are autographed by leaders who participated in the engagements. In 1862 Letter began the collection 20 years ago, and Mrs. Letter has continued the quest for rare books and documents. She gave the work of asserting and cataloguing to an expert from the Congressional library. The library occupied an entire wing of the family mansion in Washington.

Clifford R. Harmon was talking at the Aero club in New York about successful aviators.

"The successful aviator," he said, "is reasonable. If things are lacking, he supplies them. He is like Gobsa Goba. Gobsa Goba, before he struck oil, went one day to the races and lost all on the favorite. It was a hot day, and Gobsa, though very thirsty, hadn't so much as the price of a glass of soda water. Nevertheless he stepped boldly into a painful sauna."

"In the sauna he struck up a conversation with a prosperous looking man."

"You're a hale, sound, lusty man," said Gobsa. "It's good for sore eyes in these degenerate days to see a man like you. What's your age?"

"Fifty-four," said the fat man, with a pleased smile. "What's yours?"

"Thanks," said Gobsa, gratefully. "Thanks. Mine's a short bear."

These are the days of rapid transit in all things. About four days ago Donald Meek announced that he would give $250 in gold for the best play written by a Lowell person and submitted to him by Dec. 15. Wednesday night a young man called at the stage entrance of the Flathway theatre and informed the doorman that he wanted to tell Mr. Meek that he had completed a four-act play and would like him to look it over at once so in case it didn't suit he might go home and dash off another.

Whatever you need, if you ask it in prayer, You can leave it with him, for you are His care—
You, you know.

GOVERNOR'S APPOINTMENTS
Fitchburg News: In one respect it is a pity that gubernatorial appointments should be made during the storm and stress of a political campaign, chiefly because of the injustice which is sure to befall appointees selected during such a time of excitement. To view the situation in this state, there is a flock of press organs and party organs who are hunting sharply for campaign material with which to storm the camp of the administration in power, and if there is the least opportunity to score a point, no matter how unjust or undeserved, it is hungrily devoured. Certain critics have adopted that attitude toward Governor Foss all the year through, but the temptation is stronger at this time.

In his latest batch of appointments Governor Foss has collected new materials for important posts, particularly for railroad commissioner. Although a choice has fallen on a democrat, there is not the slightest excuse for classifying it as a band of party spoils, because the proposed member has never figured as a politician. There is, however, a chance to succor at him because of the fact that he is a novice in railroad affairs. Nevertheless his previous training as a political economist and expert on civic matters would indicate to a candid mind that he is most promising timber for the commission, which in the past has been under sharp fire.

COLLEGE-BRED PATRIOTISM

Times Union Fla.: A college president says a boy draws the college cheer about him every time he yells for it and so "increases his stock of patriotism." But is it true that the boy who has a college to yell for should be more of a patriot than he who has none? The poorer the boy the more he should have reason to love our government because of the theory that it gives that equal recognition and protection to the poorest, which is more or less denied elsewhere.

WOMAN HELD IN $1000

On Charge of Manslaughter in Causing Death of Her Child

Maria Lima was arraigned before Judge Bradley in police court this morning on complaints charging her with manslaughter and concealing the death of a child. Lawyer William J. Andrews, of the firm of Cool & Andrews of Boston, appeared for the defendant and entered a plea of not guilty. The government requested a continuance and the court continued the case until November 5, the woman being held under $1000 bonds. An inquest into the cause of the death of the child will be held next week.

Miss Lima had been living at 50 Elm street up to a few weeks ago when she was placed under arrest as a result of information given the police.

People residing in the same house had noticed that the woman had been in a delicate condition and when she started to look herself up in her room and not have any communication with the other people of the house they grew suspicious and called a physician.

The physician after making a careful examination became suspicious and reported the case to the police.

The police made an investigation and found the body of a male infant between two mattresses in the bed on which the woman was lying. Owing to her condition the police allowed her to remain in the house for a short time and subsequently removed her to the Chalmers Street hospital, where she has been until this morning when she was brought into court to answer to the complaints above mentioned.

The first charge preferred against the woman was that of concealing the death of a child, but after the autopsy on the body of the child the complaint of manslaughter was lodged.

An autopsy on the body of the infant was held on October 13th by Assistant Medical Examiner Robert E. Bell, assisted by Drs. Edward J. Clark and Frederick P. Murphy, and Dr. Bell in summing up his findings makes the following statement: "The conditions disclosed by autopsy are consistent with those resulting from death by smothering after an infant had been born long enough to have breathed."

NARROW ESCAPE

CANDLE SETS FIRE TO BRIDE'S VEIL

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—Mrs. John F. Hoffman of Chelsea, who before her marriage last Tuesday night in Lincoln hall, Bryant street, Malden, was Miss Mary Fineberg, had a narrow escape from a terrible death while holding a reception after the ceremony, when her bridal veil and dress caught fire from a candle, and it was only after heroic action on the part of a number of the most guests that her life was saved.

A merry throng had gathered for the festivities. It is the Jewish custom for the new bride to kiss her new mother-in-law, and it was during this performance, that the accident occurred. The elderly Mrs. Hoffman advanced with a lighted candle in her hand, and in stooping over to kiss the bride the candle came too near the veil and ignited it.

The bride's dress also burst into flames, and pandemonium reigned for several minutes, until the veil and dress were torn from her. She was taken to the ante-room, where restoratives were applied, and recovered sufficiently to finish the reception. Her condition was not serious, but her hair and shoulders were badly burned. The facts in the case were suppressed and did not become known until yesterday.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

"Catching American archaeology alive" is the characteristic expression applied by Charles F. Lummis to the research work he has been active in for the last twenty years, in the Indian and Mexican region of the southwest. This description fits admirably the remarkable work Edward S. Curtis has been doing for an equal length of time in securing folk tales, religious ceremonies and tribal histories for his monumental book, "The North American Indian," and, above all, his wonderful art studies with the camera, of all the tribes in the United States living a primitive existence in our own day and age.

This means every tribe from Mexico to Alaska, embracing fifty linguistic groups, and over two hundred and fifty variations of dialects. Language, more than any other one thing, is the key to tribal relationship, and in American ethnology it brings one face to face with mysteries of which the unrecorded centuries are mute.

As, for instance, why do the Indians of Guatemala and the Utes of Colorado speak a language showing kinship in some forgotten age? And the Navaho boy sent—usually unwillingly—to an eastern government school, finds there Alaskan boys who speak a language so nearly his own that there is no trouble in playing games together and the tribal games are also akin, which means that they are akin without an inner meaning of a religious nature.

It is the inner meaning of the ceremonies, the dances and chants of the various tribes which Curtis studies as few other ethnologists have studied them. He appears to put aside the memory of every orthodox creed, and sitting in a medicine lodge beside the red priest as a brother, he listens and absorbs the feeling of how the gods thought, the "medicine" thought, or the creation thought comes on a drifting cloud, or as the call of a bird, to the Indian who has fasted and prayed in absolute faith until some vision comes, and he can return from the prayer-shrine on the high hill and carry with him a symbol or rule of life never to be forgotten. He accepts no second-hand revelations; it must come to him individually ere he will avow that the Great Mystery has sent him a sign by which he is to live, and it is a thing concerning religions after he has learned of the world man's various creeds—it is rather a joke to him to adopt each of them in turn, and often it is political and commercial wisdom.

This very fact makes more stupendous the task Curtis has set himself, for he has to avoid these newly adopted forms, and to it with such tact that the Indian is not stultified, and finally with the patience not of days, but of years, he secures the primitive, fundamental thought stripped of every later day influence, and he shows us not alone how the Indian looks and lives, but how he thinks, and prays and loves. His lecture, which is to be given here next Saturday evening, Oct. 28, at the Opera House, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., is one of the most interesting ever told, and its ethnological value is further enhanced by his magnificent pictures.

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE

The Japanese are noted as great imitators but when it comes to vaudeville Mme. Sumiko, the dainty little prima donna of the Imperial Theatre of Tokio, is an originator for she presents one of the most original and enjoyable withal ever witnessed on the vaudeville stage. The Japanese on the stage have heretofore been seen only in acts of an acrobatic or juggling nature, all demonstrating their physical capabilities and until Mme. Sumiko came to this country the idea of a Japanese woman singing the operas of the day and even American ragtime was too far removed from the probable to be even dreamed of by the American theatre-goer. But Mme. Sumiko and does sing European opera and American ragtime and enhances their charm by singing also the weird harmonies of her native land so queer yet not unpleasant to the American ear. Mme. Sumiko will be at Keith's but another day and no music lover who has not witnessed her performance can afford to let the closing opportunity to hear her pass by. The other acts, all most entertaining on this week's bill, are: Karl Hewitt & Co., in the playlet, "Who is Elaine?"; Dale and Boyle, dancers with a real finale; Kelly and Laflory, dancers and fun makers; Morrissey and Hanlon, who sing their own songs; The Belts comedy jugglers, and Lockhart & Kres, knockabout comedians. Good seats are obtainable for all performances. Phone number, 28.

TOOK A DROP IN THE LONDON MARKET

LONDON, Oct. 27.—Dealers in the American market assembled earlier than usual this morning, owing to the action of the United States government in bringing suit for the dissolution of the United States Steel corporation and all constituent or subsidiary companies. Steel shares opened nominally at 53 but soon fell to 52 and then to 51½, or 5½ points below parity. The amount of stock changing hands, however, was small compared with the big decline and there was not much excitement. Erratic movements were followed by a sharp recovery that lifted the quotation to 52½ at which figure buyers were found.

At 11 o'clock, however, the market was very unsettled and continental advances were eagerly awaited. No dealings in American rails had yet occurred. Holders here were rather frightened at the government's action but the principal offerings appeared to have been called over night from Wall street.

ATTORNEY GENERAL

TO RUSH FIGHT AGAINST THE STEEL TRUST

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Now that the government's fight to dissolve the United States Steel Corporation has been fairly started there will be no

slow movements in the battle. When the bill was filed in the circuit court at Trenton yesterday asking for the dissolution of the corporation and its subsidiaries, Attorney-General Wick-ersham also filed a certificate of public importance. This states that the case is of the utmost importance to the government and asks that it be heard by a bench of four justices. Ordinarily it would be heard by only one.

Although the steel corporation will have four months to make its answer to the government's allegation that it is a dozen trusts within a trust, "a menace to the nation" and practically the most complete monopoly ever perfected in this country, there are possibilities of other developments in the meantime. Attorneys for the corporation may demand to the government's charges. In that event there might be some delay. After that possibility is disposed of, the circuit probably will appoint a master to hear testimony and a battle of giants will begin.

Attorney-General Wickersham and other department of justice officials expect to make progress much more quickly than was done in the Standard Oil and tobacco cases.

The government's view is that the supreme court's decision in the oil case as regards stockholdings and interholdings can be applied to the steel corporation and so expedite the case. The government aims to show that the steel corporation is only a giant trust in hold at least a dozen others. The bill charges that the Federal Steel company, the Carnegie company of New Jersey, the American Steel & Wire company of New Jersey, the National Tube company, the National Steel company, the American Tin Plate company, the American Sheet Steel company and others are illegal trusts in themselves and combinations to monopolize trade. The government asks that all these companies be dissolved and set back into the integral units of which they were formed.

In this respect the petition is complete.

THE LAWYERS

MAY ACCEPT SERVICE IN BEHALF OF ROCKEFELLER'S TRUST

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 27.—The difficulties which heretofore have beset process servers seeking John D. Rockefeller and other millionaires named as defendants in the dissolution suit filed yesterday against the United States Steel Corporation were not expected to develop today in the service of subpoenas issued in the suit. The opinion prevailed at the United States marshal's office here that the corporation's lawyers probably would accept service in New York of the entire batch of subpoenas. The drafting of the subpoenas was the first task of Henry Oliphant, clerk of the circuit court, on opening his office at 10 o'clock today. Deputy marshals took the documents as fast as they were prepared. They required the defendants to appear in person or by counsel at Trenton on Dec. 4 in answer to the petition. Actual presentation and prosecution of the suit probably will be the work of Attorney-General Wickersham and his assistants at Washington. District Attorney Vreeland, whose signature is appended to the petition, is unfamiliar with the details of the suit. His signature was attested to observe the legal formalities but his connection with the suit, it is believed, will be purely nominal. Deputy U. S. Marshal Snowden, who went to New York last night to serve Judge Gary and others copies of the petition of the federal government, was back at his desk today but positively refused to let out any information. It is known, however, that a copy of the petition was served on Judge Gary at the Waldorf Astoria hotel last night. This service is not part of the necessary legal procedure in the suit but is really a matter of courtesy to the defendants. It is the subpoenas that will bring the defendants into court. Following the return day, Dec. 4, when the defendants must put in an appearance by counsel they have until the first Monday in January to put in their answers to the charges set forth in the government's petition.

The government, probably, will make a reply and then, if the procedure of trust prosecutions is followed, the court will appoint an examiner to take testimony. The examiner may sit in any city convenient to the government attorneys and the defendants' witnesses.

In view of the fact that most of the

MR. EMIL T. SHERBERT
Ludington, Mich. (Special): "Two years ago I consulted 13 physicians and each and every one informed me that I had about six months to live, being badly affected with tuberculosis. I started using Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for relief at the suggestion of a friend, and today I am entirely cured and I know it is because of this medicine, as I took nothing else. When I started using it I weighed 139 pounds, and today I weigh 184 pounds."—Emil T. Sherbert, 427 Dowland St.

In 1868—more than half a century ago—the formula of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey was discovered. It was also discovered that it was a great cure in the treatment of tuberculosis, pneumonia, grip, coughs, colds, other throat and lung troubles and in all stomach troubles. The merit and honesty of an article that has been before the public for such a length of time cannot be questioned. Its fame has spread the world over, and it stands today the most celebrated and most successful medicine known.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the only whiskey that was taxed by the Government as a medicine during the Spanish-American war.

The genuine is sold in SEALED BOTTLES ONLY, by all druggists, grocers and dealers, or direct $1.00 per large bottle.

A MERICAN shoes have led the world under the machinery and tariff conditions prevailing since the United Shoe Machinery company was formed in 1899. The annual exports of boots and shoes have increased from $1,816,538, in 1899, to $13,764,842, in 1911; a growth in the twelve years of the company's existence of over 657 per cent. The exports which are conquering the European market consist almost exclusively of high grade Goodyear Welt Shoes, made with the help of the company's machines. The output of Goodyear Welt Shoes has grown five-fold in twelve years, from $17,500,000 pairs in 1899 to $6,000,000 pairs in 1911. These are the shoes on which the company receives the highest rates of royalty for the use of its machines. The shoe industry of Massachusetts has never witnessed such expansion as during the twelve years of the company's existence.

Visit the model shoe factory at the New England Fair, Mechanics Building, Boston. You will find over each of the sixty machines in operation there a plainly printed card giving the terms on which any shoe manufacturer can buy or lease it.

Judges will sit in judgment on the suit brought by the government against the United States Steel corporation, it was announced here today. They are George Gray of Wilmington; Joseph Huntington of Pittsburg, and William Lanning of Trenton—the same tribunal which recently crowned with success the government's fight against the so-called power trust.

A force of clerks was busy all morning in the office of Henry Oliphant, clerk in the circuit court, preparing the 50 odd subpoenas which the marshal hoped to serve on the individual and corporate defendants later in the day. Edward Sample, acting marshal, and his deputies prepared to serve the papers speedily on defendants resident in New Jersey or having their agents within the state. Service on defendants residing in New York will be made through the office of U. S. Marshal Henkel in that city, to whom a batch of subpoenas will be mailed this afternoon. The United States district attorney's office here was optimistic of a speedy trial of the suit. In the case of the suit against the powder trust, it was pointed out, twelve volumes represent the testimony and pleadings taken during an interval of three years after the filing of the suit. The case against the steel corporation considered even more far reaching and of greater scope than the powder suit will hardly be completed within less than this time, they believe. Even then, they point out the final decision may be delayed two years or more by appeal to the supreme court.

The suit is filed in what is known as the third judicial circuit, comprising the states of New Jersey, Delaware and Pennsylvania. Under the rules of jurisprudence the defendants must make an appearance in answer to the subpoenas on the next rule day, which is Dec. 4.

After answering the subpoenas, counsel for the defendants will be allowed to Jan. 1 to file their answer to the government's petition but this time may be extended at the discretion of the court indefinitely. The court docket is not unduly crowded and the court will be prepared for the answers upon that date, it was said today. The law provides for the appointment of an examiner or examiners after the filing of the answer to take testimony.

In the present suit, which testimony will be taken all over the country, it is regarded as probable that there will be more than one examiner. The examiners will be named by the court and will conduct public hearings to take first the testimony to be offered by the government in support of the petition and then the testimony of the defendants. Upon the testimony given their case the government will be given opportunity to offer testimony in rebuttal. Should the defense then desire it may present testimony in surrebutal. There is no time limit for the taking of this testimony.

In the powder case two years were consumed in examining witnesses. The district attorney's office believes that this represents a minimum for examination of witnesses in the Steel Corporation case.

The law provides that the examiners shall then submit to the court the testimony, and after it has been digested the court shall set a day for the argument of the case. In the powder trust case months intervened between the close of testimony taken and the date of argument. Following the argument the decision is rendered, generally after having been reserved for weeks or months by the court.

WHIST PARTY

HELD AT THE RESIDENCE OF REV. FR. DEGAN

A delightful whist party, the second in a series organized by the women of St. Columba's parish, was held last night at the rectory of the pastor, Rev. Fr. Degani. The affair, which was very successful, was in charge of Mrs. Patrick T. Brennan, patron, assisted by a committee of women.

The winners at whist were: First prize, Miss Mary Kelley; second, Miss Margaret Brennan; first gent's, Humphrey Coffey; second, John Lynch, and baby, Mrs. John Mahoney and Mr. Z. L. Blomquist. There were 25 tables. The game of cards was followed by an elaborate musical program, at the close of which the pastor, Rev. Fr. Degani, expressed his gratitude to both the organizers and patrons of this delightful soiree, and he closed his remarks by announcing that the next whist in the series would be held at the same place next Thursday evening.

102 WAR VESSELS

Will be Assembled in New York Harbor Next Week

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—New York has prepared to entertain for three days next week 20,000 blue jackets on 102 war vessels of the Atlantic Fleet ordered hither for participation in the most ambitious mobilization of fighting craft ever undertaken in this country. In command of their Admiral Hugo Osterhaus, all the available ships of the Atlantic squadron began steaming toward New York harbor last week, and twenty-four vessels of the Pacific squadron are due at Los Angeles for the west coast naval demonstration there. One hundred and twenty-six in all, they will remain at anchor from today until Thursday, there will be two nights of illumination and Jack ashore will have perhaps the greatest land fete of his career. The number of men due at New York alone surpasses the strength of Shafter's army in Cuba, but even then it is the opinion in navy circles that some of the vessels will be short-handed. It is hoped, however, by emergency measures to meet demands.

Early last week the only three battleships in the Brooklyn navy yard—the dreadnoughts, Utah, Delaware and Florida—were groomed for the display, wired for the special illuminations and made ready to swing around the harbor mouth and up into North river. The presidential yacht Mayflower, also at the Navy Yard, has been prepared for the parade and will bob alongside the great battleships, although President Taft, according to his latest plans, will not return from the west in time to review the ships.

Arrangements here call for five, and perhaps seven miles of ships, great and small, forming four lines in the Hudson river from West Fifty-seventh street to Fort Washington or above.

The battleships will be 400 yards apart, destroyers 200, small torpedo boats and other craft 200. In order that they may be displayed to the best advantage it was arranged to have the submarines anchored nearest the New York shore. Next in line come the battleships and, in the third and fourth columns, nearest New Jersey, the destroyers and torpedo boats.

This long line of 102 vessels, twenty-four of them battleships, comprising the flower of the Atlantic Fleet, will have an aggregate tonnage of 377,255, and off Los Angeles to 24 warships will have a tonnage of 116,245, making a grand total of 493,500. Thus, as a national naval display, the mobilization will surpass the German review at Kiel in September; will outweigh the French display at Toulon last month and will rank second only to the great array of fighting ships which assembled in the Solent on June 24 during the ceremonies of George V of England. On that occasion there was a display of 167 British warships and 13 foreign vessels, and the aggregate tonnage of British vessels alone was more than a million.

The entire fleet, which will swing at anchor in the Hudson river until Thursday, comprises 24 battleships, two armored cruisers, two protected cruisers, 22 destroyers, 16 torpedo boats, eight submarines, three torpedo fleet tenders, four gunboats, nine miscellaneous vessels, such as hospital supply and ammunition ships, eight colliers, an oil tanker and three tugs. Never in the history of the American navy have so many warships been thrown together, and to man them requires nearly half the enlisted strength of the entire navy.

It is a serious problem to anchor such an array of vessels in the Hudson without inconveniencing passing commercial craft, but with the positions worked out carefully on a diagram, each vessel slips into its appointed place as quietly as possible.

The flagship Connecticut, which led the Atlantic fleet on its around-the-world cruise, will swing at the head of the column not far from the glacis

Florida, which makes her appearance in public for the first time. She was only recently put in commission, has not yet had her speed trials, and in participating in the display she leaves the Brooklyn navy yard, where she was built, for her first turn around the harbor.

New York's last great naval demonstration was during the Hudson-Pulitzer celebration, but the then combined strength of the United States and visiting warships does not equal the array planned for the present mobilization. As an experiment of assembling on short notice a great number of ships in fighting trim, it is being watched with interest by naval authorities, and may be compared, from a naval viewpoint, to the mobilization of troops at San Antonio during the Mexican insurrection. The problem of moving twenty thousand sailors in variety order, then moving troops over land, however, for the former requires but a shifting of a floating structure with some cranes and provisions ready to be drawn upon, while an army by train is a problem of herculean proportions and perplexities. As announced by the navy department, the ships to participate in the mobilization, here are:

Battleships—Connecticut, Florida, Utah, Delaware, North Dakota, Michigan, Los Alam, South Carolina, Kansas, Vermont, New Hampshire, Minnesota, Mississippi, Idaho, Missouri, Ohio, Georgia, Nebraska, New Jersey, Virginia, Maine, Iowa, Indiana and Massachusetts.

Armored Cruisers—Washington and North Carolina.

Protected Cruisers—Salem and Des Moines.

COAT COLLAR WHITE WITH DANDRUFF

Scalp Badly Affected, Itched Terribly, Hair Fell Out. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Now Has Thick Growth of Hair and Is Never Troubled with Any Dandruff or Itching of Scalp.

"I am more than gratified by the successful results I obtained by the use of the Cuticura Remedies. For several years my scalp was very badly affected with dandruff and scales. My scalp itched terribly at times and my hair fell out. My coat collar would be actually white with the dandruff that had fallen from my head. My profession being that of a barber, I was particularly about having my hair in good condition, and was also in a position to try many lotions, etc., for the scalp. These had little or no effect. I had heard so much about the Cuticura Remedies that I resolved to try them. I shampooed my head with Cuticura Soap twice a week and after drying my head thoroughly, I anointed parts of my scalp with Cuticura Ointment. I was pleased from the outset, and continued to keep up this treatment. To think that only three boxes of Cuticura Soap and one and one-half boxes of Cuticura Ointment rid my head of this annoying trouble, made me feel quite contented. I have now got a thick growth of hair and I am never troubled with any dandruff or itching of the scalp. There is no question but that the Cuticura Remedies cured me. I frequently recommend them to my customers, and they think a great deal of them." (Signed) John F. Williams, 307 Norfolk Street, Dorchester, Boston, Mass., July 25, 1910.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Send to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 98, Boston, for a liberal sample of each, post-free, with 32-p. book on the skin.

must rely on our efforts to get every one to the polls. The ordinary voter is not as familiar with the office of recorder of deeds as he is with some of the other offices to be balloted upon in the coming election, and therefore I may be pardoned for referring briefly to my own case. I was elected two years ago to fill an unexpired term. Upon becoming familiar with the routine of the office I used every honest method to raise its standard and to place it second to none in Massachusetts. The system we were working under was not the best. We had no way of knowing if mistakes in entering were made. This was through no fault of the clerks of the office but the result of an imperfect and loose system. Today we can detect a mistake within 12 hours, where formerly it would go a year undetected. When I entered the office there was no protection for the books. If a slight fire should break out while it might do but little damage to the building and furniture, to extinguish it by water or chemicals, might destroy $50,000 worth of valuable records, some of which could never be replaced. I prepared plans for improvements in the record hall that would provide for proper protection for the records and submitted them to the county commissioners. The latter agreed with my propositions and the improvements have been ordered. We will now have room for the books of 25 years to come, enclosed in steel and protected from fire and water. I have made a deep study of the office and ask you to permit me to continue in office in order to carry out my plans and ideas, all of which are aimed to make the Middlesex North registry second to none in this commonwealth.

At Congressman Curley's arrival, Mayor Alchan introduced Edward J. Tierney to address the meeting. Mr. Tierney proved to be a most entertaining speaker, as he explained in fluid and comprehensive manner the details of the workingmen's compensation act, of which so much has been said and comparatively little understood by the average voter. Mr. Tierney had just concluded his remarks when Congressman Curley arrived. The latter proved to be the big hit of the evening, for although he is well known by reputation he had never addressed a Lowell audience before.

Congressman Curley
Congressman Curley spoke as follows:
Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen, My Fellow Democrats:
The election of Eugene N. Foss in 1908 as governor of this commonwealth marked the beginning of the struggle against privilege and awakened the people, regardless of party politics, to a true realization of the justice of their claim to a square deal upon all the necessities of life.
The members of the republican party in this campaign insult the intelligence of Massachusetts citizens when they ask in decision, "Has the cost of living been reduced?"
They know and the people should know and fully realize that never in the history of American government has a more honest, capable, earnest and patriotic body of men assembled in the house of representatives than during the current year.
And the American people know that the defeat of Canadian reciprocity was made possible by the corrupt and illicit use of money and that the same influences have ever been generous in their support of the republican party and staunch advocates of a high tariff policy.
Every democratic member of the present house voted in favor of Canadian reciprocity and its passage was only possible as the result of a united democratic support after the sponsors of the measure had knocked vainly at the door of the republican majority members for a term of fourteen years.
The democratic majority in congress has kept every pledge made to the people in the last campaign and established a record for constructive legislation unequalled in the history of the republic.
The bill providing for popular election of United States senators received the vote of every democrat upon the floor of the house as did the measure to insure honest elections.
A revision of the wool and cotton schedules as proposed by the democratic majority in congress meant a lower cost for wearing apparel to every man, woman and child in this country.
The Farmers Free List bill was a measure that removed the burdens from the farmers sufficiently to compensate them for the injury that might result from the lower cost of their products in consequence of reciprocity with Canada.
And every measure which I have enumerated was constructive in character and carried with it a message of justice and a more equitable consideration for the needs of the masses of our people.
The republican party would have the public believe that legislation in the interests of the people would prove destructive to the country and more particularly to New England industries and this despite the fact that in the year ending June 30, 1911, America exported $40,800,000 worth of manufactured cotton goods, a great portion of which was sold in China, where are paid the lowest wages of any country in the world.
The democratic majority favors only such measures and tariff duties as are necessary to maintain the government.
If in consequence of high tariff protection there had been the same general increase in the wages of men and women employed in those industries that enjoy protection, and if in consequence of such protection the lot of the working man and working woman was happier and their condition more prosperous, there might then be some justification for the position now taken by the paid republican spell-binder that 20,000,000 of free Americans should contribute that a few thousand wealthy manufacturers might continue to increase their store of riches to such an extent that Midas of old would seem a beggar in comparison.
The democratic leaders, Speaker Clark and Chairman Underwood, have waged a campaign of education during the past sixteen years in favor of a return to the policy of the fathers of the republic: equal and exact justice to all men and death to that form of special privilege under which the affluence of one man is only possible through the degradation and misery of thousands of his fellowmen.
When the time comes that American workmen can no longer do a better day's work than the men of every other country in the world it is time to consider an equitable form of protection for the American worker.
But the wily generals in charge of the republican campaign in Massachusetts do not desire this present battle fought along genuine tariff lines because they realize the fact that a substantial part of the republican host, led by La Follette, Cummings, Murdock, Lowell and others who typify the progressive spirit of the day hold views that are diametrically opposite to those of Messrs. Crane, Lodge & Company, Limited.
Handicapped by a hostile legislature and a corrupt Governor Foss has nevertheless by determined and untiring perseverance given to the people of Massachusetts an administration that for broad-minded, liberal and progressive legislation has never been equaled in the history of Massachusetts.
The republicans do not desire that state issues be discussed because they know that from the standpoint of justice and fair play to labor, equality in the selection of judges and liberality in the matter of loans for commercial development, Governor Foss has established a record that has merited the commendation of all honest men and

Henry J. Draper, candidate for senator, followed Congressman Curley with brief remarks and while he was speaking Frank J. Donahue, candidate for state secretary, arrived from Lawrence and was introduced. Mr. Donahue made a most favorable impression in an eloquent speech. He stated afterwards that he had left Candidate Walsh on the platform in Lawrence and expected that he would arrive in a short time. Afterward Gallagher and Humphrey O'Sullivan were introduced in turn, and at 11.30 while Mr. O'Sullivan was speaking, a good sized crowd was still present. Chairman Cronin received word that Mr. Walsh had been detained unexpectedly and could not be present whereupon the meeting came to a close with cheers for the whole ticket.

JARVIS HELD IN $500

He is Charged With Breaking and Entering

Oscar Jarvis appeared in police court this morning and entered a plea of not guilty to a complaint charging him with breaking and entering the store of Samuel P. Pike, in Middlesex street, and stealing $4 in money. It is alleged that he entered the store on the night of August 17th and has been out of the city since then. He was placed under arrest yesterday.

The government asked for a continuance and the court ordered the defendant under $500 bonds for his appearance before the court next Monday.

Malignously Breaking Glass

Erwin Moore, aged 17 years, was charged with malignously and wilfully breaking four panes of glass, each pane of the value of 75 cents, in the Jewish synagogue in McIntyre street. He entered a plea of not guilty but the court found him guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $3.

Isaac Nunnis said he saw the defendant throwing stones at the windows and Joseph Dunn testified to seeing Moore on the roof of a house adjoining the church and throwing stones at the windows. Morris Barlofsky, aged 12 years, identified the defendant as the boy who broke several of the windows in the building.

Moore denied that he threw any stones but admitted that he was with a crowd of boys who were standing at the corner of Marshall and McIntyre streets who were throwing stones at the people as they were leaving the synagogue. Two girls corroborated the testimony offered by the defendant.

Discharged a Rifle

Elmer E. Ellsworth pleaded not guilty to a complaint charging him with discharging a rifle within the limits of the city. Special Officer Elmer H. Houghton testified that he had received numerous complaints from neighbors in the vicinity of Westford street and Stoddard street about men discharging firearms in close proximity to their houses. This morning, he said, he found Ellsworth discharging a rifle in the hollow at the end of Westford street and placed him under arrest.

Ellsworth, testifying in his own behalf, said that he was of the opinion that he was beyond the city limits and while he admitted he had discharged the rifle he said he was shooting at a high bank and not endangering any person. He was found guilty and a fine of $2 imposed.

Drunk Offenders

Joseph Champagne was fined $6, one first offender was fined $2 and a simple drunk was released before the opening of the session.

MAN STRUCK AND PROBABLY FATAL INJURED

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Two young Boston women were involved in an automobile accident at Eighth avenue and One Hundred and Thirty-fourth street, last night, when their machine ran down Jose Garcia, 32 years old, a book-keeper, but, although made almost hysterical by the accident, they did all that was possible to help the injured man. The owner of the machine was the older of the two women, who told the police she was Miss Mary E. McAleer, lawyer, of 1487 Beacon street, Brooklyn, Mass. The second woman said she was a sister, Garcia was trying to cross Eighth avenue when he was struck and hurled to the pavement. He was taken to the Harlem hospital, where it was found that he had the right collarbone fractured and his head bruised. The man's condition was considered so serious that Dr. F. W. Walsh was called, and administered the last rites. The women were allowed to proceed to the Ritz-Carlton. The chauffeur was not detained.

WAS FOUND IN A COD-FISH

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—Several pieces of Chinese money were found inside a codfish by Benjamin Quinlan, steward of the schooner Rose Standish, which arrived at T wharf yesterday afternoon. Mr. Quinlan was cleaning the fish for supper when he found the coins and he is keeping them as souvenirs.

Some of the crew thought the fish must have swam over from China, but at T wharf it was said that several months ago a Chinese sailor was buried at sea from a tramp steamer bound here, and that the dead man's money and clothing was thrown overboard with the body. It is probable that the money found in the cod was part of that thrown overboard.

CONFINED TO CITIES

Little Debility Among Country People.

"Nervous debility is usually the forerunner of some trouble far more serious and about twenty-five per cent. of the people of Lowell are suffering with it. In most cases, however, they fail to recognize their trouble as nervous debility, but attribute their condition to other diseases."

This statement was made last evening by one of the specialists who are here introducing the remarkable new tonic, "Tona Vita," and who are located at Hall & Lyon's drug store.

According to this specialist, the hustle and worry incident to metropolitan life is too much of a strain on the average man or woman and chronic nervous debility is the result. The specialists claim that no individual can hope to succeed or enjoy life when once the disease is established, and that comparatively few people know the cause of their poor health and lack of vitality.

"Tired, droopy, half-sick men and women are as common as leaves on the trees in Lowell and every other large city," said the specialist. "They have uncertain appetites, poor digestion, little ambition, and feel almost too tired for work most of the time. They suffer from timidity, have no initiative, and haven't enough good, rich blood in their veins to make them capable or self-reliant. Their nerves are in such a state that they imagine themselves afflicted with various diseases at different times. The real trouble with them is debility, produced by the life they are forced to lead. There is little of this ailment among country people."

"The medical profession as a whole has recognized these facts for a number of years, but little was done to overcome this ailment, so far as the general public is concerned, until a tonic was introduced in Europe some time ago which proved very effective. A company has been organized to put a similar preparation on the market in the United States. The medicine is called 'Tona Vita' in this country, and it is now being introduced in many cities here."

"Every day we have a great number of people coming to us and say they have been benefited by the use of this tonic to such an extent that they no longer feel the necessity of taking any further medicine whatever."

The specialists who are here introducing "Tona Vita" can be seen at Hall & Lyon's drug store any day during their stay here, between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m.

PARISH REUNION

Held at St. Louis' Convent Hall

A parish reunion was held last night at St. Louis' convent hall in Boisvert street, when the parishioners all gathered there to meet their new curate, Rev. Lucien Bedard, formerly of St. Hyacinthe, Que. This reunion was held under the auspices of the children of many sodality and proved a great success in every way. The attendance numbered over 500 and a very pleasant evening was spent.

game of cards was started at 8 o'clock by Mr. Marcel Roussel, who acted as master of ceremonies, and the 30 beautiful prizes were lively contested for. This was followed by a cleverly rendered entertainment by a group of young girls from the convent under the able direction of the Sisters of the Assumption, in charge of the institution. The first number on the program consisted of a comic duet, entitled "Les Deux Sœurs Pour Rire," given by the Misses Gilberte Lemerise and Della Thibault, who captured their audience and received many curtain calls. This was followed by another little playlet, entitled "Deux Cents Francs de Remerciement," the cast being as follows: Misses Annette Barot, Alice Ouellette, Jeanette Goudreau, Gilberte Lemerise, Antoinette Chaput, Della Thibault, Ruth Lagasse, Cecile Desrosiers, Isabelle Lebrun, Marie Renaud, Georges Lemire and Flor Ange Brousseau.

The rendition of this playlet reflects much credit on the sisters as well as on the young performers. The closing number was a delightful choral selection by a choir of 50 members of the sodality under the direction of Miss Maria Fente, the soloists being: Misses Alice Pratte and Clemence St. Mary, Miss Regina Caron accompanied on the piano.

A feature of the evening, however, was the drawing of a fine mahogany desk given by the pastor of the church, Rev. J. N. Jacques, to the one holding the lucky number on his address book. This being awarded to Mrs. Z. J. L. Lebrun. The contest recently organized by the Cercle St. Louis' brass band also came to a close last night.

CAPTAINS OF SOME OF THE EASTERN AND WESTERN FOOTBALL ELEVENS

By TOMMY CLARK.

IN going over the list of captains of the football teams it is shown that twenty-six chose tackles, while nineteen others picked ends and the same number of halfbacks as captains, quarterbacks are captains of sixteen teams, fullbacks of twelve and guards of eleven, while ends are leaders of nine. Guard Robert T. Fisher is captain of Harvard, and Sam Burd, who plays the same position, leads the Carleton Indians.

Quarterback Arthur Howe is Yale's leader. Sprackling is piloting Brown university, Robert F. Hyatt the West Point eleven and Ray Morrison the Vanderbilt team of Nashville; Annapolis is headed by Halfback John P. Dalton, whose field goal beat West Point at Franklin field last year; Seavane, Purdue and the two big Pacific coast universities, California and Leland Stanford, are also led by halfbacks; Chicago is being led by Tackle Charles Radamacher, and so is Wisconsin by Al Buser.

Coch Yost's great Michigan team is under the leadership of Tackle Fred Conklin, Jr.; Cornell, too, has Tackle William E. Munk as field leader. Princeton re-elected its great fullback, Eddie Hart, while the Red and Blue of Pennsylvania has a dashing general in Eugene Le Roy Mercer, one of the best fullbacks ever developed by Coach Mike Murphy. Minnesota has End Earl Pickering as captain, while Holy Cross has William P. Joy, Dartmouth's captain, Edward J. Dally, occupies a like position.

proaching crisis when colored folks will no longer be permitted to place the hallmarks of their pugilistic supremacy on the visages of ambitious white climbers in the athletic world. The stopping of the Wells-Johnson execution at the eleventh hour, the recent announcement that France would take steps to avoid race conflicts in the arenas of Paris and the growing sentiment in the United States against the Ethiopians' chromatic scheme indicate that this possibility is near at hand.

The champion may have $100,000 of velvet to creep around on—he says he has. But most of us will still continue to think that there is, in this case, a sinister connection for Jack between the color line and the bread line. The report that he was nearly broke just preceded his own financial statement.

Why Name Schulte?

The committee that decided which players in each league were entitled to be considered the most valued to their teams was hardly consistent in some respects, although the selection of Cobb as the greatest player in the American league—and in the world, according to points scored—is, beyond cavil, correct. The committee undertook a delicate proposition—which was to include pitchers in the consideration. In fact, Ed Walsh was given the second high total on point valuation in either league, with a percentage of .547. This places the big spitball artist higher than Frank Schulte, who gets the auto in the National league.

with more pride and enthusiasm than Stockholm in arranging for the international meeting of 1912. The stadium, which is in course of erection and will be completed this year, will be a most imposing permanent structure, far more pretentious and costly than the plain inclosure bearing that name which was the scene of the last games, in London. Its site is in the most fashionable quarter of the Swedish capital. The government is defraying the whole expense and ultimately will become owner of the building and grounds. Purple brick and granite are the materials which the architect, Torben Grut, is employing for the structure. The architect's plan shows a perfect amphitheater, entirely roofed over and situated at the foot of a hill which forms the northern side of the building. There will be a running track of four laps to the mile and a turf football and athletic field, which can be transformed in winter into a skating rink. Most of the seats for the Olympic games will be temporary, and altogether 25,000 spectators will be accommodated.

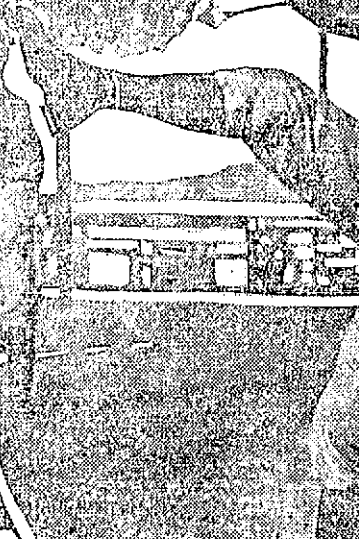

In its architecture the great building will be a fine example of mediæval Swedish art. The gates and arcades are vaulted, blocks of granite are inlaid on the brick walls with a series of sculptured Swedish heroes, and eight-een gods and goddesses will decorate the gates to the entrance stairs. Two massive brick towers surmount the eastern and western gates, and behind them are buildings containing large assembly halls. At the center of the northern arcade is a handsome gate, through which all the competitors will march into the arena on the first day of the games. Opposite this stands the royal box, surmounted by a golden canopy. Now is the time to subscribe to the fund here to send a winning team abroad.

One of the principal reasons for the success the American league has attained is the fact that the eight clubs always work in unison. No move is ever made that the league is not consulted. Ban Johnson's wishes are never ignored. The Washington club does not differ in this respect from any of the others in the league, and yet expression. This system of consulting the head of the league so that the interest of the entire organization can always be protected has made the American league. As its president Johnson insists on being familiar with the affairs of every one of his clubs, and not one of them ever enters into any thing important that he is not first consulted.

The season of 1911 has been a bad one for accidents, especially in the maiming of star backstops. The list of receivers crippled in this season's strenuous campaign includes almost every catcher of ability in the two leagues. Among the backstops whose loss was felt the most are Roger Bresnahan, Charley Doolan, Ed Sweeney, Bill Curigan, Gabby Street, Bill Sullivan, Emory Stephens, Eddie Ainsmith, George Gibson, Oscar Stange, Jack Lapp and Larry McLean.

WADDELL PUTS ONE ON FANS.

Rube Waddell has a poor opinion of the fighting spirit of the Toledo fan. He was told that a fan in that city had assaulted Umpire Gerald Hayes on a street car, but said he didn't believe it. "Nothin' like that could come off in that town," said Mr. Waddell. "What it was, was probably some guy don't a canner's rush out of the car to a nearby wettery where he'd spotted a biggest-in-the-town-for-5-cents sign and just accidentally beamed Gerald with his elbow in his hurry. "Fight in that town?" queried Mr. Waddell. "Why, they haven't got the heart and courage in that town to stick a fish-worm on the hook. They're 'em on with silk cord for fear the worm will bite 'em. As for moblin' umpires, why, the next time they get fresh when I'm in town I'm going to take a whisk broom and chase 'em all out of the back end of the grand stand." It being a thirty foot drop to the ground from the back of that grand stand Mr. Waddell's threat seems dire indeed.

HARD POINT TO DECIDE.

Bases full, does the batter who receives a base on balls have to touch first base in order to force a run across the plate? Umpires are debating the question.

OLYMPIC GAME DATES.

Johnny Kilbane Latest Pugilistic Find

YOUTHFUL Johnny Kilbane, who weighs about as much as a well developed crow, looks up not only strong as a candidate for Johnny Coulton's honors, but he also means to prove a thorn in the side of Abe Attell. In other words, Kilbane is going to set sail for the bantamweight and featherweight honors at the same time.

The trail looking little Cleveland says that he can fight at 116 pounds. That means that he is eligible to battle for the midweight honors. As he already has fought Abe Attell there is no doubt about his being willing to contend for the title with any of the featherers.

When Johnny Kilbane fought Abe Attell a year ago no one thought for a minute that he would ever develop into a knockout fighter. He was about the most unathletic looking figure that ever graced the ring. Johnny measured about twenty-six inches around the chest, and his arms resembled bean stalks. But, my, how he could move around the ring! He made Abe Attell chase fully fifteen miles during the ten rounds, and, at that, Johnny was landing three blows to Abe's one.

The decision went to the champion, but he didn't have anything to spare. The referee favored the champion simply because he was the aggressor. Kilbane carried a lightning left and a snappy little right hand hook that kept Attell's head flying back continually during the ten acts. He landed often enough to whip a dozen boys.

Now comes this same skinny looking kid in the role of a knocker out. It was Kilbane who dropped the lightly touted Jose Rivers for the full count in sixteen rounds in Los Angeles recently, and a few weeks later he gave Frankie Conley a decisive beating. Kilbane didn't knock out the Italian, but the going saved Frankie on several occasions. Now Kilbane intends to sweep the boards. He looks good. Of course there are a number of tough hurdles before the Cleveland. Abe Attell is there with heels, and Tommy Dixon says that he is willing to tackle the Cleveland midweight at 122 pounds ringside.

PAST RECORDS OF BIG EASTERN ELEVEN

THE following table shows the results of eleven years' campaign on the gridiron by the four large universities in the east and gives Yale the place of honor as to percentage of victories. Yale also has to her credit the fact that the total scores against her teams are far lower than those against any other member of the selected class. The figures are taken from the Yale News:

Figures are taken from the Yale News:
	Won.	Lost.	Tied.	P.C. Points.	Oppo. nent.
Yale.....	102	6	8	.944	2,243	135
Harvard..	88	14	4	.875	1,704	106
Princeton.	81	16	6	.842	1,912	92
Penn.....	107	19	9	.820	2,411	163

Under the old rules Yale's best eleven was the one which took championship honors in 1900. The Blue won the twelve games played, totals for the season reaching 324 to 5. The five points were made as the result of a goal from the field by Mattie of Princeton. The final score of this game was 29 to 5. With the old rules in force Harvard's best season was in 1901, when the team played eleven games and won them all. This team scored 233 points against its opponents' 24.

Penn has won more games than her rivals, but has lost a greater number. Penn has not played Yale since 1894. Princeton since 1905, and the last game with Harvard was in 1905. The Quakers won 12 to 6. Although the football relations between the three big universities and Penn have been strained, there is a possibility of the Red and Blue meeting Harvard next season.

BILLY SULLIVAN DISPUTES RECORD

Peevish because he has been slighted a bit by the statisticians in compiling figures of the old timers in baseball, Billy Sullivan of the Chicago White Sox is out with the statement that he has caught more games than any other man in the business.

Sullivan claims that he has been behind the bat in exactly 1,100 battles on the diamond.

Further than this, Sullivan submits the figures to show that he is telling the truth about it and points out that the baseball guides will show the accuracy of his figures. They are as follows:

Year.	Games.
1899.....	41
1900.....	64
1901.....	59
1902.....	71
1903.....	82
1904.....	103
1905.....	78
1906.....	118
1907.....	112
1908.....	127
1909.....	97
1910.....	48
1911.....	52
Total.....	1,100

The argument came up because of an article in which it was stated that Johnny Kling and Charley Doolan are fighting it out to see which of them will be the first to catch his one thousandth game.

Sullivan says that in one year he suffered from an attack of appendicitis and caught a few games, and another season he broke a foot which spoiled a record of 1,200 games for him.

TY COBB'S FIRST CONTRACT.
Dr. L. L. Scarborough, an Anneton (Ala.) physician, has Ty Cobb's first professional contract. It called for $50 a month.

Game Men Sometimes Lose Their Nerve

"THERE are times," says Billy Evans, veteran wrestler, "when the gainest man on earth may lose his nerve. I don't believe in branding any fellow yellow unless he has shown conclusively on more than one occasion that he is really a coward at heart. About twenty years ago there was a Kansas City boxer named 'Cocky' Delougherty, who put up some awful good scraps between the ropes. He was one of your determined sluggers who didn't know what quit meant, weighed 135 pounds and would fight any one near his size on the top of the earth. As a sample of his gameness I can do no better than mention a battle in which he took part with Jimmy Weedy just outside Kansas City. The late Jim Whitfield was referee. Weedy was a lot cleverer than Mike, and in the tenth round Weedy's cutting lefts had completely closed his man's eyes. You must remember they were fighting with the small gloves, not the pillows used nowadays. Mr. Whitfield wanted to stop the bout when he saw the shape Delougherty was in, but Mike wouldn't hear of such a thing. He made his seconds lance his eyes, and as soon as his lamps were open he went in again, fiercer than ever, and won in the twenty-eighth round.

"About a year after Delougherty's fight with Weedy I had him in hand for awhile. There was a wrestler named Bernard MacFadden, the same who is now running a physical culture school, and he wanted to try his hand at the boxing game. I was quite willing to take him on for 'Cocky' knew him as I did that gent's of his kind are always helpless slobos with the mitts. So I fixed up a bout for MacFadden and Delougherty, ten rounds, to take place at St. Joe. Delougherty had never seen MacFadden either in his street clothes or out of them. I had made the match and wired 'Cocky' to come on from Kansas City, which he did, arriving the night set for the bout. MacFadden wasn't very much either in the fighting or wrestling line, but he was a sure enough looking Hercules when he stripped. Big chunks of muscle stuck out all over him and rippled like writhing snakes under his skin when he stood with his arms over his head, moving to and fro in those breathing exercises that he practiced. He was going through just such stunts in his dressing room a few minutes before it was time for him to make his appearance in the ring. As luck would have it 'Cocky' and myself had to pass MacFadden's room on our way to the quarters set aside for Delougherty. So 'Cocky' got a slant at this wide shouldered, great muscled guy, standing erect and making his sinews show out like iron bars.

"Say," said 'Cocky,' punching me in the ribs, 'who is that chap?'
"Oh, him," says I. "That's only a punk wrestler who imagines he can fight. That's Barney MacFadden, the fellow you're on the cards to beat up tonight. He's easy money, boy, in spite of all them big muscles."

"So that's MacFadden, eh?" says I.

MacFadden has shown the followers of boxing that by keeping in fairly good condition a boxer can last much longer than one who neglects his training and after getting rusty and stiffened up attempts to "comeback," a thing which is now considered almost impossible.

MacFadden cannot be credited with coming back, for he has never allowed himself to get altogether out of shape. He has done considerable boxing and by other exercises has kept himself nearly on edge. But the defeating of two or three "dubs" by McCoy is not due so much to the latter's physical superiority as it is to his knowledge of the art of boxing.

When in his prime McCoy ranked with Jim Corbett, Tommy Ryan and other great masters of the art, and he has retained considerable of that knowledge. He still has strength enough to hit a 'Cocky,' kind of thoughtful. Just wait here till I come back, Bill. I'm going out a minute."

"I didn't suspect anything, so I waited. I could have been waiting yet if I had stayed around there in the hopes of seeing 'Cocky' again. For he never came back. The fact of the matter was that the sight of MacFadden's muscles had thrown a scare into him, and he didn't do a thing but grab his valise and get the first train he could reach out of St. Joseph. That was all there was to it. The club officials hopped me because I couldn't produce my man, but it sure wasn't my fault. They had to call off the fight and let it go at that. Now to show you that Delougherty wasn't a coward I may say that he fought several good fights after the MacFadden affair, one of them being with Oscar Gardner, and never was he accused of being otherwise than dead game. Why he ran out on that particular occasion will be a puzzle to me to the end of my days."

As its president Johnson insists on being familiar with the affairs of every one of his clubs, and not one of them ever enters into any thing important that he is not first consulted.

KID M'COY NOT ALL IN

KID M'COY has shown the followers of boxing that by keeping in fairly good condition a boxer can last much longer than one who neglects his training and after getting rusty and stiffened up attempts to "comeback," a thing which is now considered almost impossible.

MacFadden cannot be credited with coming back, for he has never allowed himself to get altogether out of shape. He has done considerable boxing and by other exercises has kept himself nearly on edge. When in his prime McCoy ranked with Jim Corbett, Tommy Ryan and other great masters of the art, and he has retained considerable of that knowledge. He still has strength enough to hit a hard blow, and no man in the ring was ever better posted on the right place to land a punch in order to do great damage. McCoy, of all things, was one of the coolest men who ever put on a glove.

It was almost impossible to get his nerve at any stage of a contest. He could wait one round or twenty for a chance to get in a punch on a vital spot, and when it got there it was timed so well and placed so effectively that it meant the downfall of the man he landed on. The men who are competing in the light heavyweight class today are, for the most part, rough and tumble sluggers, who are not to be classed with McCoy as boxers.

If his wind is good, all that the Kid has to do is to take his time with them and keep out of danger till they give him an opening for a decisive punch, and the opening is sure to come if he waits long enough. His victory over Jim Savage recently in New York seemed to surprise certain followers of the sport, but there was nothing so very surprising in the result of the match to any one who knew the two men.

HEAD SLIDERS VERY SCARCE.
In former years head first slides were common, now it is a rarity to see a player go into a bag any way but feet first. Of the two the head first slide is by far the more spectacular. Players when they adopted this system could slide as much as fifteen or twenty feet, while the foot first slide makes this impossible. Of course the fall away slide was impossible to accomplish head first. With the feet going toward the bag it is much easier to avoid the ball. It is because of this fact that the players adopted this style.

DETECTIVE BURNS

TESTIFIED BEFORE THE GRAND JURY LATE YESTERDAY

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—Robert Burns, a detective in the employ of the defense, was questioned by Dist. Atty. Pelletier at the investigation of the grand jury yesterday respecting his movements in the interest of Rev. Clarence V. T.
Richeson, accused of the murder of Avis Linnell.

He was summoned hurriedly in the late afternoon by Lieut. Lee and about 5 o'clock arrived at the courthouse.
Half an hour later he was on the witness stand in the grand jury room and subjected to a searching examination.
He was asked concerning the personal effects that he took from the room of the clergyman at the home of Franklin H. Carter in Magdalen street, Cambridge. He admitted he took a dress suit case full of papers, photographs of women and other personal effects.

It is understood that there were many letters from various persons, some of an amorous nature. Richeson apparently had numerous admirers, including women prominent in social circles in their respective cities and towns. A number of epistles were from Avis Linnell.

Defense May Object

He was asked to produce the letters and certain personal effects. He left the room smiling, but whether he will give up the papers and other things that he took without a fight is doubtful. It comes from an authentic source that the defense will object to his surrendering or producing any letters or articles taken from the room.

The situation raises a fine question of law as to the extent of the relationship that exists between a private detective and a client. It is contended by the defense that the relations are of such a confidential nature, that the government could not require the defendant to disclose any information or yield any documentary evidence, although in the course of his duty for his client.

one is busy call the other.

It is said that he acquired data regarding the government's case from the line of questions propounded to him and that he was abundantly compensated for the uneasiness and anxiety that he felt at first over the novel position in which he had been unexpectedly placed by what he learned of the government's view of certain aspects of the case.

May Start Contempt Proceedings
If he should refuse to give up the letters or other evidence that the government wants, the district attorney would probably institute contempt proceedings, and then the issue would be squarely raised as to the rights of the accused in the matter of information gleaned by one employed in a confidential capacity.

Up to the present the government merely hinted that he had taken certain letters as they had known, but the authorities are not aware of the contents of the missives.

Of course the letters from other women or their photographs are quite immaterial to this case, but the episdes from Avis Linnell may prove to be highly significant as showing her relations with the accused pastor.

This effort by the government to get evidence possessed by the defense regarding the recent motion of the defense in the Crocker robbery case to produce documentary evidence in the possession of the government.

Judge Stevens granted a motion in that case allowing the defense to examine the documentary evidence of the government, but similar motions previously made had always been denied, and since then every like effort has been successfully resisted by the government.

BOSTON POLICE
SEARCHED THE ROOMS OF AC-CUSED PASTOR

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—Two inspectors arrived at the Carter home, 147 Magadalen street, Cambridge, in a taxicab with Mr. and Mrs. Carter, at 3:15 yesterday afternoon, and all four hurried into the house. Work of looking over the various things in the room formerly owned by the Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson was begun by the two inspectors. Mr. Carter remained in the room at the time.

Half an hour later a large two-horse furniture wagon, well loaded with empty boxes, drove up in front of the door. The boxes were carried into the house and later were brought out full of books and other effects belonging to the minister. Apparently everything that was the property of the man charged with murder was removed. Some of the boxes contained loose sheets of paper that appeared to be manuscript.

It was nearly 6 o'clock when the work was completed, and the last of some twenty odd boxes full of the effects was deposited into the wagon.
The two inspectors jumped on the seat with the driver and the second man on the team sat on the back to guard the load. They immediately went to police headquarters.

On their return from the grand jury hearing, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Carter of Cambridge said they had been instructed by the court not to discuss anything pertaining to the case to anyone and therefore refused to answer any questions. A reporter was permitted to see the dog, which, it had previously said, Mr. Richeson threatened to kill. Several stories have been circulated, intimating that the Carter's had no canine.

CITY HALL NOTES
While the money had been appropriated and the plans all drawn for the extension of the sewer outlets from Centralville into the Merrimack river, the work cannot be started until next spring on account of the high water which will prevail until that time.
While the water remains high, however, the dangers and nuisances that threaten about the complaints will not exist. The city council appropriated

$3000 for the work and the department intends to extend the outlets at West, Fulton and Coburn streets.

Work in Dutton Street
The street department will finish its work in Dutton street and will start on the East Merrimack street paving job next Monday and will pave as far as Fayette street and the job will take 10 days.

Got Wood Contract
Seven wood dealers bid on the contract for 50 cords of wood for the city and John Brady got it for $1 per cord.
One of the bidders appeared at city hall this morning and asked Purchasing Agent Foye who got the contract.
"John Brady," responded Mr. Foye.
"How much?" asked the bidder.
"Four bucks," said Mr. Foye.
"The son-of-a-gun must have stolen the wood," said the disgusted dealer, who bid $5.50 per cord.

Typhoid Fever
One case of typhoid fever was the only thing in the contagious disease line reported at city hall today. There are 25 cases of scarlet fever in the city but no new cases have been reported and the run of the disease appears to be on the wane.

Jokey on Mayor
Mayor McLean was on hand early at city hall this morning and had to put up with considerable jollying for everyone who met him immediately declared: "He was certainly a brilliant orator."

His Honor was presiding officer at the rally last evening and one of his duties was to keep talking and hold the audience until David L. Walsh should appear. All who have heard
Mr. Walsh know that he is a brilliant orator and the mayor kept impressing this fact on the audience to hold them.
They stuck it out like good democrats until 11:30, when word was received that Mr. Walsh could not appear and the rally was called off. Hence the joke on his Honor.

A BUSINESS BOOM STEEL TRUST MEN MANY WERE KILLED

Strikes North Chelmsford in All Plants Served With Notice of Suit Brought by the Government Threatening Tripoli

These are boom days for business at North Chelmsford, for everybody is working and some are working overtime.

The Chelmsford Iron Foundry, after undergoing a long period of slack time, is working as it hasn't worked for many years, running nights until nine o'clock and on Saturday afternoon.

The Silesia Worsted company is working day and night and likewise the Moore Scouring mills. The neighboring mills at Brookside, which have been shut down all summer, are about to reopen as the result of the big volume of business.

Sensational Theft

But in the midst of prosperity the village has something to worry about, and the matter that is now bothering all North Chelmsford is, "Who stole P. S. Ward's jewelry?"

Patrick Sarsfield Ward, familiarly called just plain "P. S.", is North Chelmsford's most popular sea, merchant and member of the board of trade of that burgh. "P. S." has a grievance and with the assistance of Constable Boynton he intends to conduct a rigid investigation. A day or two ago he attended an auction in Westford and seeing a beautiful jewelry box put up for sale figured that it would make a very acceptable addition to his beautiful and hospitable home, and he knocked it down at $2.50 and tenderly placed it in the wagon of J. T. Daly.

When he went to look for it he found that it had vanished and he was exceedingly wrought and informed Constable Boynton of the fact. The latter, like his eminent colleague Sherlock the Monk, called his trusty friend, Mr. Kinch, and got out his magnifying glass and started a gruelling investigation.

After he had thoroughly interrogated every resident of the village, including Daly, the owner of the wagon in which the stolen article had temporarily resided, he secured the services of a couple of engineers, who decided for him the exact position in which the Daly wagon had stood in the road at the time that Ward placed the jewelry in the wagon. Then by the means of his detective insight and his magnifying glass he made a careful and minute examination of the ground and found a grand clue, a footprint, the like of which is seldom seen, for "size, in the vicinity."

"Hut, chee," cried Boynton.

"What ist?" inquired Mike Kinch, who was nearby.

"The man who stole that jewelry had a foot like an Erie canal boat."

"Jim Dunnigan, by all the gods!" said Kinch, to himself.

"That's that!" asked the sleuth, whose quick ear detected Mike's mental observation.

"I said nothing," replied Mr. Kinch. "I'm going to find the man who owns that foot," said Boynton, and he departed.

Last night the residents of Highland avenue were greatly disturbed by the unseemly actions of a man in the dark who appeared to be crawling on his hands and knees from the corner of Middlesex street to the residence of Ex-Secretary Dunnigan with something in his hands through which he looked close to the ground.

This morning Mr. Ward was invited to stop in at a house at Westford while on his rounds and while there was shown a beautiful jewelry box which had been presented to the owner of the house the evening previous, the latter expressing great regret that "P. S." was not present. "P. S." didn't say anything, not even that the jewelry was the one that he had purchased, but he is still after the man who pinched it and if he gets him, well, there'll be a scandal in North Chelmsford, that's all.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The entire force of deputies under United States Marshal Henkel was put at the disposal of the government today to finish the task of serving copies of the bill of equity in the federal suit to dissolve the United States steel corporation upon officers and directors of the alleged trust residing here. J. P. Morgan and E. H. Gary received service last night but 13 others remained to be served in this neighborhood.

According to a statement given out at the office of the United States marshal in Trenton, where the suit was filed yesterday afternoon, this service of the petition will be followed by subpoenas requiring the defendants to answer the petition at Trenton on December 1. It is expected that both these services will be completed in 48 hours.

The news of the dissolution suit came yesterday, some time after the stock market had closed but it brought many of the brokers back to their offices in a hurry to lay plans for today's market and take advantage of the earlier opening of the foreign exchanges. Dealers in put and call business were busy all night sending orders to London.

Word of the sharp decline in steel at London caused no surprise at New York this morning and traders prepared for a lively day when the exchange opened here at 10 o'clock.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The entire force of deputies under United States Marshal Henkel was put at the disposal of the government today to finish the task of serving copies of the bill of equity in the federal suit to dissolve the United States steel corporation upon officers and directors of the alleged trust residing here. J. P. Morgan and E. H. Gary received service last night but 13 others remained to be served in this neighborhood.

According to a statement given out at the office of the United States marshal in Trenton, where the suit was filed yesterday afternoon, this service of the petition will be followed by subpoenas requiring the defendants to answer the petition at Trenton on December 1. It is expected that both these services will be completed in 48 hours.

The news of the dissolution suit came yesterday, some time after the stock market had closed but it brought many of the brokers back to their offices in a hurry to lay plans for today's market and take advantage of the earlier opening of the foreign exchanges. Dealers in put and call business were busy all night sending orders to London.

Word of the sharp decline in steel at London caused no surprise at New York this morning and traders prepared for a lively day when the exchange opened here at 10 o'clock.

MALTA, Oct. 27.—Unprecedented formation from Tripoli is the effect to the field in the face of almost certain something in the nature of a panic has seized the city since it became known that a Mussulman force of 60,000 Turks and Arabs are threatening Tripoli. They are well armed and provisioned.

Despatches received from Tripoli state that an engagement between the Turks and the Italians occurred near the city in which many lives were lost.

The Turkish horsemen and foot soldiers displayed remarkable bravery, more than 150 casualties before they were repulsed. From 40 to 50 were killed when a company of Turks and Arabs were shot daily in the town.

But for a premature attack by a party of Mussulmans on last Monday the Italian troops would have been completely surrounded and completely destroyed, so numerically superior were the Turks and Arabs. In the subsequent revolt in the city the Italians suffered more than 150 casualties before they were repulsed. From 40 to 50 were killed when a company of Turks and Arabs were shot daily in the town.

Great Celebration at College in Worcester

WORCESTER, Oct. 27.—The ninth annual observance of Holy Cross night was held at Holy Cross college last night with a large attendance of alumni joining with the faculty and students.

The night is set apart to allow the students, alumni and faculty to assemble and review the position of the college in all matters.

The formal exercises were opened with a banquet in the college dining hall at 6, at which the alumni were seated with the students.

At 7 all the classes assembled and marched to Fenwick hall, where they gave a reception to the members of the alumni, assisted by the faculty. When the seniors entered the hall, clad in cap and gown, the other classes remained standing while they sang the class song, "Alma Mater," written in Latin by Edgar A. Bergholtz.

The program was prepared by Charles C. Conaty of Taunton. Regrets were read from William C. Troy of Providence and R. Rev. Thomas D. Heaven, bishop of Springfield, who were to give addresses, and the speeches of the evening were opened by Rev. Patrick J. Madden of Worcester, who spoke of Holy Cross spirit.

Richard Monney, also of Worcester, paid a graceful compliment to the members of the Jesuit Order.

Rev. Joseph N. Dignan, S. J., the new president, said that he was unable to get acquainted with all the duties of his new office, but assured all that his plan would be to continue the observance of Holy Cross night and better it in all ways possible.

Judge John B. Ratigan was then introduced and gave a speech, the feature of the evening's program. He said in part:

"The hope of a crop is always in the seed and that seed, if developed here by the sunshine of attention and the shower of thought, will flourish. But the college man should remember another motto: 'Help the other fellow.' This is one of the secrets of success and at Holy Cross it should find a ready set of roots."

"Commercialism is fast creeping into the colleges of today, especially in athletics, and in social matters. The opportunities of college boys to idle away time through these channels is destroying the spirit and fruit of many a college, for the boys develop habits that make them totally unfit for the battle with the world. The course of Holy Cross, if properly attended to, will give us more able men, and I may say that in the world there is room for every man of proper abilities."

The assembly then arose and sang the college song, "Holy Cross, Old Holy Cross," and a smoker followed. As the assembly was about to break up a yell for the football squad and Coach T. F. Larkin was given for the Princeton game, which will be played Saturday.

The committee in charge consisted of Charles C. Conaty of Taunton, chief marshal; Harry J. Kelly of Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; William J. Whelan of Westfield; Joseph S. Deneen of Philadelphia; George V. Coleman of Providence and Andrew J. Quinn of Newport.

WEISS ACCUSED OF $5000 JEWEL THEFT
BOSTON, Oct. 27.—Joseph Weiss, aged 30, a toy peddler who lives at 146 Essex street, New York city, was arrested by Inspector Michael Shields of headquarters yesterday afternoon on a charge of breaking and entering the jewelry store of Philip Rublin, 323 Tremont street, Feb. 12 last, and was held in $3000 bail by Judge Sanderson in superior court.

A side door of the store was forced open, the back of the safe was torn out and the intruders got away with jewelry and silverware valued at $5000. Last May Inspector Michael H. Cronin had a man named Max Schmuckler arrested in New York city on charge of being implicated in the break. Schmuckler, offered an alibi, but Gov. Dix signed requisition papers and the man was brought here. The district attorney later put his case on file.

Weiss used to leave his wares in the jewelry store. Rublin charges he detected him examining a door in the back room. Later he shipped samples from the store to New York city, but the addresses that he mentioned in New York were fictitious.

Wednesday evening it was learned Weiss was in this city expecting a shipment of goods and the arrest occurred when he was on his way to get the property.

He denied stealing the jewelry he had, which included 26 diamond rings of a cheap grade and silverware. Weiss says that he is innocent of the Rublin burglary.

GIRLS RESCUED
THEY WERE TAKEN FROM A BURNING BUILDING

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—Three young women employed in the clockmaking establishment of Mayer Kolman at 28 Chauncy street had a narrow escape from death shortly after 6 o'clock last evening, when the rooms in which they worked were suddenly filled with smoke from a fire under the stairway. Anna Rosenberg of 14 Spring street, West End, Leone Beckman of 12 McLean court, West End, and Becky Gottlieb were just finishing their day's work. In the rooms was also Abraham Kolman, a son of the proprietor.

The girls ran to the front windows and screamed to people in the street that they were about to jump. A passerby sent in an alarm from box 44 and the prompt arrival of fire apparatus seemed to reassure the girls. Chief Mullen shouted to them to stay, and Capt. Dolan of Ladder company 17 had the ladder raised to the top floor after Ladderman Magoun cut an electric wire.

Without waiting for this, however, Capt. Riley of Engine 4 and Ladderman Thomas Toomey of Ladder 8 ran up the stairway and led the girls down to safety. Capt. Riley wore the emergency mask recently adopted by the fire department, this being the first occasion upon which it has been used, and it proved perfectly successful. J. W. Broad of the firm of Broad & Golden, on the fourth floor, escaped by the ladder.

BATH, Me., Oct. 27.—One of the most pathetic incidents in the case of Mrs. Mildred Keefe, who while waiting a hearing Monday is locked in the County building charged with the murder of her child, occurred yesterday when Martin Keefe, the father of the dead boy and her husband, visited her at her cell.

Mr. Keefe was at sea when the alleged murder took place and arrived here late Wednesday night. Early yesterday morning he secured a permit from the county attorney to visit his wife and in company with an officer made the call.

With tears in his eyes he begged that his wife tell him the whole story connected with the death of the baby, but Mrs. Keefe refused, simply saying that she had been ordered by her attorney not to discuss the case with anyone.

Mr. Keefe reminded her of the threat which he claims she made, that she would drown the child before she would ever let him have his son again, but to no effect.

"The way of the transgressor is hard, but the price must be paid," he said last night.

LEADER OF REBELS

Proclaimed President of the Chinese Republic

PEKING, Oct. 27.—General Li Yuan-Hang, leader of the rebel forces, has informed the foreign consuls at Hankow that he has been proclaimed president of the republic of China.

The foreign ministers here have exchanged communications with Li upon several subjects. They object to his announcement that vessels carrying contraband would be subject to confiscation by the rebels and also to his proposals to administer the custom revenues at the ports of the Yang-Tsu-Kiang and others when controlled by the revolutionists. The latter objection was based on the fact that the revenues are pledged as security for foreign loans and had been turned over to the British inspector general of customs in China.

Reports that General Yin Tehang, the minister of war, is dead continue in circulation and are believed by many Chinese.

HAVE CAPTURED THE CITY OF NGAN-KING

SHANGHAI, Oct. 27.—Ngan-King, the capital of the province of Ngan-Hwei and situated 160 miles southwest of Nanking, was taken over by the rebels today. Beyond this achievement, the day passed uneventfully south of the Yang Tse river.

The explosives are being removed from the arsenal here. Local business is practically at a standstill. The

GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

PLYMOUTH, Oct. 27.—A sentence of from eight to ten years in state prison was given Charles Mazzola today after he had been found guilty of manslaughter in a shooting affray in Brockton on Aug. 21, 1910, in which Salvatore Morelli was killed. Mazzola was taken at once to Charlestown.

SHE GOT WHAT SHE WANTED

This Woman Had to Insist Strongly, but it Paid

Chicago, Ill.—"I suffered from a female weakness and stomach trouble, and I want to tell you that I got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but the clerk did not want to let me have it—he said it was no good and wanted me to try something else, but knowing all about it I insisted and finally got it, and I am so glad I did, for it has cured me."

"I know of so many cases where women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I can say to every suffering woman if that medicine does not help her, there is nothing that will."—Mrs. JANETZKI, 2003 Arch St., Chicago, Ill.

This is the age of substitution, and women who want a cure should insist upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound just as this woman did, and not accept something else on which the druggist can make a little more profit.

Women who are passing through this critical period or who are suffering from any of those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of the fact that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which is made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills. In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

CRUSHED TO DEATHMother Saw Her Little Boy Killed

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—While she crushed the hand of her 4-year-old daughter, Mrs. Ezra Aronson, 28 Jay street, Cambridge, saw her 4-year-old boy, Hyman, ground to death by the wheels of a street car last evening. Samuel Maguire, the motorman, was arrested charged with manslaughter, and held in $2500.

Mrs. Aronson and her two children were on Western avenue, Cambridge, near Howard street, shortly before 6 o'clock last night. The boy crossed the street to buy some candy at a store, while the mother waited with the little girl on the opposite curb. When Hyman came out of the store there were three cars passing, two outward-bound and one inward.

The little fellow waited for the first outward and the inward car to go by and then started to cross the tracks. He was close behind the inward-bound car, and did not see the second car on the outward tracks, and ran directly in front of it.

The fender of the car struck him, and he rolled under the forward trucks. Jacks had to be used to raise the car for the removal of the body. The boy was dead before he could be taken to a hospital.

WANTS $20,000LYNN WOMAN ALLEGES BREACH OF PROMISE

LYNN, Oct. 27.—A $20,000 breach of promise suit has been brought against John A. Herne, a Lynn real estate broker and insurance agent, by Mrs. Evelyn Bangs of Lynn, aged 50, widow of a Washington physician, and housekeeper for Herne at 24 South common street, Lynn, four years ago.

The suit comes as a surprise to the acquaintances of the couple. Last September, when Mrs. Bangs sold a house owned by her on James street, Herne acted as agent, and they had been seen together recently.

After selling her property, Mrs. Bangs went to Springfield to visit a married daughter. She returned to Lynn a few days ago and took apartments at 5 City Hall square. Neither party was in Lynn yesterday. Herne was said to be at his summer home in Rowley and Mrs. Bangs out of town.

MODEL HUSBANDWas Badly Slashed by a Friend

BROCKTON, Oct. 27.—Because he had rather stay at home and wash the dishes than go out with a companion and see the bright lights shine, Avak Moorachian of 94 Franklin street, is in the hospital with a couple of slashes in his face and some more on his back, and the companion, John Chaporian of 78 Court street, is in a cell, pondering the use of scissors as a means of pressing an invitation.

According to the police Chaporian called on Moorachian early in the evening and invited him to go out where there was something doing. Avak said that he was going to stay home and help his wife with the supper dishes. Arguments on dish washing and henpecked husbands followed, during which John grabbed a pair of scissors from the table and did some cutting for which they were not intended. Avak neither washed the dishes nor saw the bright lights shine.

RATES ON MEATIMPORTANT DECISION GIVEN BY INTERSTATE BOARD

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Freight rates on both fresh and cured meats and other packing house products from Cedar Rapids, Ia., to New York city and Boston, and other eastern destinations taking the same rates, must not be greater, after December 1 next, than those contemporaneously in effect from Missouri river points or from Chicago.

An order to this effect was made yesterday by the interstate commerce commission in the decision of a case of T. M. Sinclair & Co. of Cedar Rapids, against the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and other railroad carriers. The complainant, who, with others, competes with New York and Boston packers, showed that the rate on live hogs from Iowa points to the east is lower than on dressed hogs and hog products.

From points west of the Mississippi river the rates on live hogs to the east are usually the same or a trifle higher than on the hog products. The railroads' defense was that the rates were adjusted commercially.

The commission pointed out that "there should be a definite relationship between the rates on live hogs and on the products thereof, based upon transportation conditions and not upon commercial equality." It held that the complainant was unjustly discriminated against, and issued the order indicated.

PLEADS NOT GUILTYDONOHUE IS ACCUSED OF OFFERING A BRIBE

WORCESTER, Oct. 27.—Timothy Donohue, indicted on a charge of offering a bribe of $400 to Alderman Michael J. Comerford in connection with the railroad grade-crossing investigation by the Worcester board of aldermen, pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Judge Walter Perley Hall and a jury in superior criminal court yesterday.

Donohue is out on $1000 bail. Alderman Comerford opened the case for the government by testifying Donohue offered him $400 to kill the proposed grade crossing investigation.

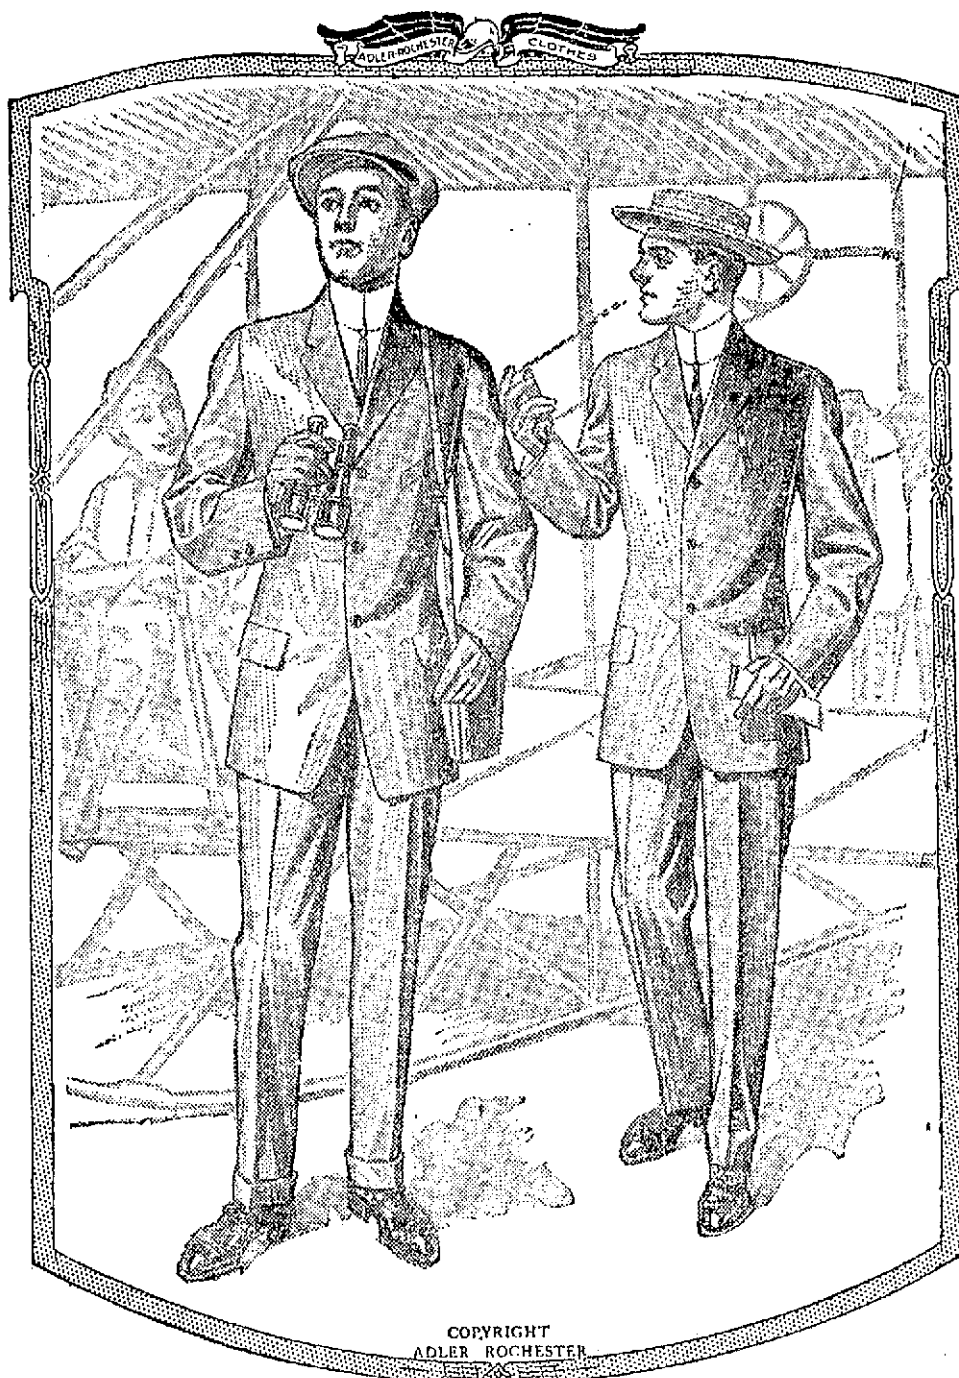

Court was adjourned till today, when the trial will be resumed. Ex-District Attorney George S. Telford and ex-Mayor Philip J. O'Connell represent the defendant.

HALLOWEEN DANCE

Held Under Auspices of Clan Grant

The plaid of the Grants was conspicuous in Prescott hall last evening at the annual Halloween concert and dance held by that local division of the Scottish Clans. About four hundred clauson with their givies and daughters attended.

The entertainment was opened with an orchestral medley of Scottish airs. Then James E. Donnelly sang the "March of the Cameron Men" and "Mary," with pleasing effect, while his rendition of Harry Lander's "I Love a Lassie" made a great hit. Following these Mrs. "My Ain Folk" and "The Star o' Glesgair" were artistically sung by Miss Rita Thompson, who was rewarded by the hearty applause of the audience. Mrs. Nettie Roberts' "Angus McDonald" and "Jessie's Dream" were sung with impressive effect, the latter song in particular being most agreeably received.

The Scottish dancing of the Misses Kippie was both artistic and enjoyable. Attired in the usual Highland uniforms of tartan, these young women first went through the intricate movements of the sword dance, then, dressed as sailor girls in blue, they danced a hornpipe, and finally, arrayed in kirtle and short skirt, they briskly stepped through the "Highland Flieg." It was an excellent exhibition of clever dancing, which was enjoyed until midnight, completed the entertainment.

ITALIAN TROOPS

Find Remains of American Occupation

ROME, Oct. 27.—Reports from Tripoli state that the Italians have found at Derna several remains of the American occupation in 1905, including harbor works and some fortifications constructed under the direction of William Eaton, who was then the American consul general at Tunis. They discovered an ancient mill and an archive containing papers relating to the bombardment by the American squadron. As the Italian operations in Tripoli proceed, the difficulty of carrying out the plans projected by the military administration before the beginning of hostilities becomes apparent. It has been found impracticable to care for all the wounded on the scene and all except desperate cases are being sent home, so that the camp will be relieved of their care and protection.

Many officers and men who have been slightly wounded object to being sent home and some have threatened, if necessary, to tear off the bandages and show that they are able to resume their places in the ranks.

The Italian losses and other obstacles in the way of an early conquest of Tripoli are strengthening the position of that section of the public which holds that Turkey should receive no compensation for the loss of her province and that Italy should not even recognize the sultan as the head of the religion of the natives, although granting respect and liberty to all sects, including the Mohammedan laws regarding polygamy.

The saddest looking horse that we have seen for many a day passed through Merrimack square this morning. He was hitched with a mule to a big truck and the poor fellow seemed ashamed of his long-eared companion. He held his head low and didn't even glance at the bulletin boards.

cause he could not for he has since voted against a somewhat similar proposition." Mr. Strecker then read from Mr. Frothingham's legislative record, showing his attitude against all labor measures. Continuing, he said: "Mr. Frothingham never voted for anything that would tend to better the conditions of the men and women of Massachusetts, and I think we can leave him hiding behind the broad shoulders of President Taft, waiting for the call which I believe will never come, waiting to hear his master's voice." Mr. Strecker then read from the record of Governor Foss and said: "If Governor Foss never signed any other bill but the Workmen's Compensation bill, he is entitled to the vote of every workingman in the state. For the bills that he has signed and the action he has taken, I will say that he is the greatest business governor we have ever had. You are going to elect the entire state ticket and that means that I am going to be state auditor. If elected I will never audit a bill unless I am sure that the state is going to get dollar for dollar. The man whom I am opposing has as black a legislative record as Mr. Frothingham. He is a machine candidate. He has not been elected by the people, but was placed in the position by the legislature to fill out the unexpired term. As there is no one here to speak for me, I may be pardoned for telling you who I am. I am the publisher and manager of one of the biggest financial papers in the state. My entire training has been with figures and statistics. I am still prouder of the fact that in the office where I entered 27 years ago with a broken and ailing pen I now sit at the president's desk."

Introducing Governor Foss, Mayor Meehan said that the republicans are sending a boy on a man's errand, and paid a glowing tribute to the governor, who was received with tremendous cheering while the band played "Hail to the Chief."

A local orator whose excess enthusiasm caused him to bubble over started to make a speech of his own as the governor arose to address the gathering and he was promptly escorted out by Sergeant Ryan. As he was being hurried through the aisle, he turned and cried out: "Good night, governor!"

"I guess he'll vote right," said Governor Foss. "We want all of them on election day."

Governor Foss

Now, gentlemen, I am not here this evening in my executive capacity as governor of this commonwealth, but in my capacity as candidate of my party for re-election to that office, and I am here to ask your support. According to all the rules of the game I am entitled to re-election at your hands for I believe I have made good.

"As your chairman has said, I believe more progressive legislation has been put on the statute books during my single term of office than ever before in one year of any governor, especially in the matter of progressive labor legislation."

"I will only cite the Eight Hour bill, the 54 Hour bill for women and children, the Fine bill, the Injunction bill, by which, in a labor crisis, trial by jury is granted, which is a great step toward popular government."

"Then there is the crowning measure, known as the Workmen's Compensation act, a measure which placed Massachusetts in a foremost place because it recognizes a great principle, a principle which says labor is entitled these days to more than is in the pay envelope. It makes the industry responsible for the welfare of the workman."

Dares Battle on His Record

Our republican friends don't like to make the light this year on state issues and properly speaking, the campaign should be made on state issues. But I can say without fear of contradiction that the character of my administration has been such that my opponents don't dare to make the fight on that issue.

"They want to make the fight on the issues of last year and we welcome that issue. We beat them last year on it. The high cost of living is still with us. They have had an opportunity to rectify these conditions that have produced this high cost of living. The republican party is solely responsible and they must stand or fall on that record."

Cites Shoe Industry

Gov. Foss then took the boot and shoe industry, which is only moderately protected, as an example of a great industry in which protection has nothing to do with the wages. There has been in this industry within a year a reduction of from 25 per cent. to 10 per cent. and there has been no reduction in wages.

Turning to state affairs, Gov. Foss said:

"The whole business organization of the commonwealth has been used, not as a business concern, but as a political opportunity to retain thousands of men on the public payroll. That is the way the great power of the republican machine in this state has been built up."

The governor declared the management of the state finances utterly lax and asserted that the state could get $75,000 more each year in interest on its balances if this money was offered to competitive bidders.

He said the suspension of county accounts had broken down absolutely and that the administration of state commissions had become of very poor efficiency. On this point he said:

"For example, the recent disclosures of fraud in connection with cost of grade crossings at Worcester shows exactly how our present methods fail to safeguard the public."

"To show how utterly unbusinesslike the method has been in the past, let me say that the supervision of grade crossings has not been in the hands of the railroad commission at all, but has been under the charge of the engineer in the employ of the attorney general; and this man, in his own statement before the Worcester aldermen, said he visited the work on an average of one day each month and made no tests of strength and materials until a public exposure compelled such action."

Have Degraded Themselves

"So much for the existing commissions of the commonwealth."

"They have been degraded, not by my investigation, but by their own partisan purpose. They have not been administered for the public interest, but for partisan advantage."

"We now come to the part of the investigation which shows even more clearly how imperative the need of better methods really is."

"I found that our reformatories for men and women, boys and girls do not pretend to classify their inmates in a way to protect the young offenders from contact with confirmed criminals."

"Even the state prison methods are open to immediate improvement; not only improvement, but urgently needed reform. I showed that the prisoners were being worked under a system where their labor was thrown in a free to an agent who marketed their products in the open market. I showed that this system was intolerable; that it was disgraceful for the commonwealth to permit it, now that it had been made public."

"The republican machine immediately criticised me for mentioning this delicate subject, and, when that wouldn't go down they denied the whole thing."

"But you are aware that the legislature has ordered that the penal labor system of the state be subjected to a thorough legislative study to see how it could be improved."

Labor at the State Farm

"Now, again, do you want to stand pat on the existing methods of managing your state farm, or do you want a clean-cut business method put into use?"

"I found that a foreman of construction, regularly employed by the state farm, but not listed on the official list of state employees, had received some $200,000 during the past 15 years to disburse as wages to laborers, but he aroused by my investigation is itself the clearest possible confession of their own weakness and guilt."

At the conclusion of Governor Foss' remarks he and Mr. Strecker departed for Lawrence and Haverhill, while Congressman Curley and Candidates Walsh and Donahue had not arrived. Mayor Meehan announced that word had been received that Congressman Curley was on his way from Lawrence and then introduced Register of Voters William C. Purcell, who received an ovation as he arose to speak.

William C. Purcell

Mr. Purcell spoke, in part, as follows: "I feel grateful for the opportunity to make a bow to you at least, for after the eloquent remarks and convincing arguments of the preceding speakers it would ill become me, not being a speechmaker, to attempt to address you at any length. Lowell in the coming election should send Foss out of Lowell 4000 votes to the good. The votes are here and we must have them recorded on election day. Every vote cast for Governor Foss means, I hope, a vote for every democratic candidate on the ballot. Last year a small vote was turned out but this year we had no voucher of any sort to prove to whom he paid this money. Is it wrong to tell these facts? Which is more discreditable to the state—to tell them, or to permit the old method to go on?

DAVID I. WALSH,

"I learned who some of these men were and found the men. They denied that they got the sums which the foreman said he paid. The defense was that some of these men belonged to certain labor organizations, but had worked for the state farm for less than their standard rate, and in order to cover this fact up they had been credited with a dollar a day extra, which had been taken back by the state on the pretext of board money."

"Do the people of Massachusetts want that sort of method continued? Shall the governor follow the example of the partisan ways and means committee of the house and 'white-wash' the state farm? Or shall he demand better methods?"

"Here and at other institutions I found the officials developing real estate and selling it to the state. I declined to approve a list of many thousand dollars for additional land at the state farm, because I found that the superintendent himself owned a considerable part of this land. I found the treasurer of the institution selling a house to an agent, who turned it over immediately to a firm of many thousands of dollars for additional land at the state farm."

When I asked the registrar the official declared that the attorney general's office advised him to have the sale put through in that way.

Abuse is a Confession
"The commissions and institutions of this commonwealth must be run for the good of the people, and not for the advantage of office-holders. That is my contention. That is the spirit of my recommendations. And the only reply to my opponents is that such talk is a disgrace to the state."

"I am willing to rest my case with the people as between my views and theirs."

"You have all heard the howls of the republican machine that my investigation of the state business brought criticism upon the commonwealth, and I am going to ask you, right here, if any one of you is afraid of honest criticism? I am going to ask if you think the public business of Massachusetts is too sacred to be looked into on business lines?"

MR. I. L. SHOWEM HAS DREAMS OF BREAKING MONTE CARLO

THE GLIDDEN TROPHY

Big Prize Was Captured by the Maxwell Cars

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 27.—Three Maxwell cars, driven by Harry E. Wells of Philadelphia, E. G. Gager of Pittsburgh and Thomas Costello of Tarrytown, N. Y., representing Tarrytown, won the Glidden trophy when the tour reached here yesterday afternoon, after a punishing trip of 7464.5 miles from New York, made in 11 days of touring. There was not a mark against any one of the three cars and it was the only team of 18 entered in the tour to go through without penalization. As a further evidence of the ability of the cars, a fourth Maxwell also had a perfect score.

The Atlanta chamber of commerce team, represented by three Stevens-Duryea cars, was a close second, and the Jacksonville team, represented by Cadillac cars, finished third. Another Atlanta team, represented by Ford cars, was fourth.

Out of the caravan of 67 cars that started south on Oct. 14 there were 13 that went through from beginning to end without any penalization. These 13 were four Maxwells, two Stevens-Duryeas, two Fords, two Cadillacs, Flanders, Mitchell and Columbia. It was another instance of history repeating itself, for in 1906 when the tour was run under rules somewhat similar from Buffalo to Bretton Woods there were 13 perfect scores.

With very few exceptions all the cars that started on the tour made the run through to the finish. It was one of the best contests ever conducted by any motoring body and much of its success was due to the work of Chairman S. M. Butler, who was killed Wednesday, which makes it all the sadder to think that he could not have witnessed the finish of his efforts.

Parade at Finish

The run yesterday was but 85 miles. There was no noon stop, but with bad sandy roads, all sorts of cattle mauling along on them and some rain, it seemed that some of the cars would not be able to maintain the schedule of 20 miles an hour. Part of the road had been put in shape in anticipation of the tour, otherwise there would have been some delay in reaching the end of the route.

However, the drivers being veterans they pushed their way along and at the outskirts of this city they were met by many prominent people, among them Gov. Gilchrist and Mayor Jordan. A line was formed outside the city shortly after midday, and with the reception committee in scores of cars a parade was started through the principal streets of the city.

Mayor Jordan had proclaimed the day a holiday and every one was out. As the motorists made their way through the city they were given an ovation. One of the pleasing incidents was the appearance of Referee Walker, who was injured Wednesday. He and Mrs. Walker came through on a train, and though seriously injured the referee insisted on getting out, so the motorists called on her at the hotel to express their sympathy with her.

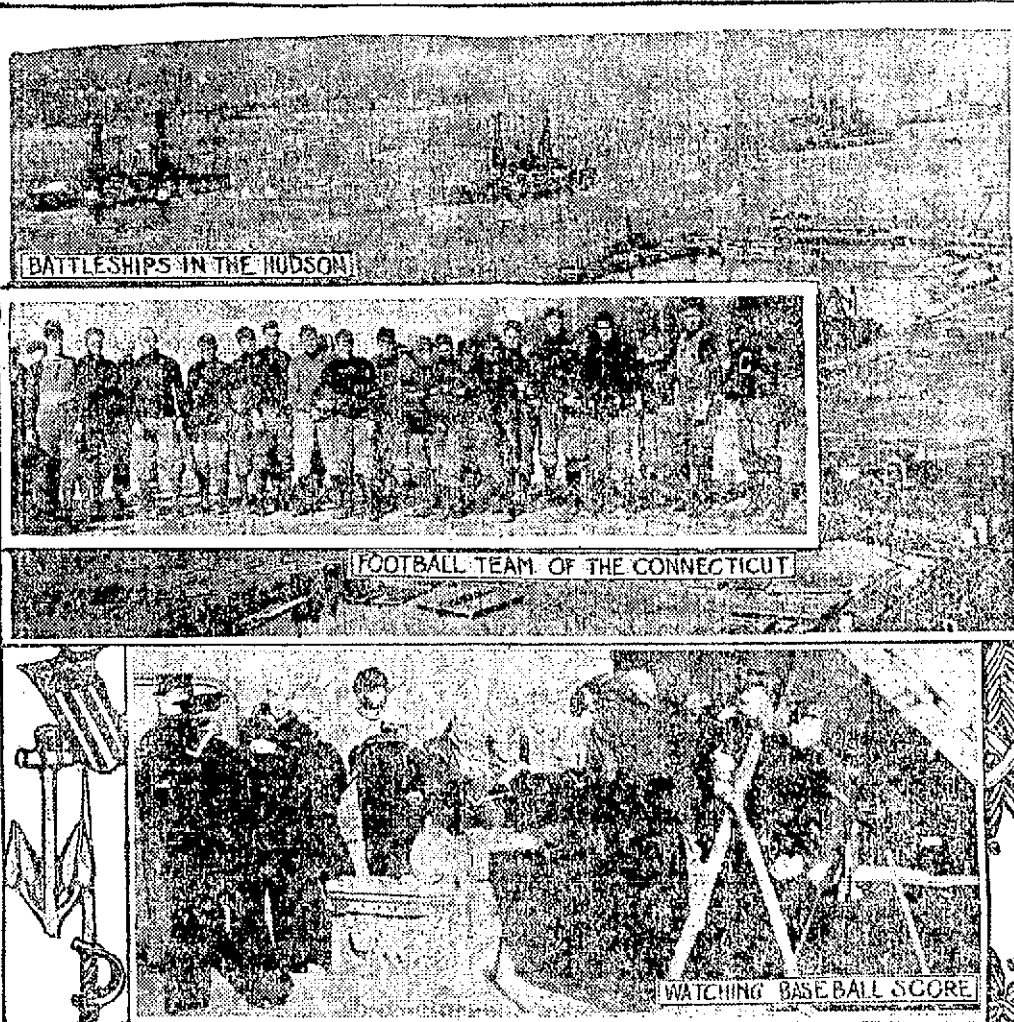

The buildings were decorated and the city presented an attractive appearance. The reception revealed that at Atlanta somewhat. When the tour was finally declared at an end the trip of Maxwell drivers were congratulated for winning the Glidden trophy. Their work throughout was characterized by the best sportsmanship and they were entitled to the award. The A. A. A. officials were delighted that the tour ended without there being any doubt as to a winner.

When the writer was presented to Mayor Jordan the latter was given the letter brought south from Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston, and the Florida official said he was delighted to hear from Boston's energetic mayor.

Banquet Last Night

The motorists were the guests last night at a dinner given by the Jacksonville board of trade. It was a splendid affair, at which many prominent people were guests. Many women were present, adding to the gaiety of the occasion, their presence being a tribute to the women who made the trip and who were also guests.

Gov. Gilchrist, in speaking of the tour, said: "All the people of the state of Florida are interested in the success of the Glidden tour. As a people, we are not interested in the successful competitor, as to who shall receive the trophy. The final great trophy resultant of this and similar tours is a national highway from New York to the southern end of the peninsula state."

GREATEST NAVAL REVIEW IN AMERICAN HISTORY HELD IN NEW YORK HARBOR

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The greatest gathering of warships that has ever assembled in American waters is being arranged in New York harbor, and by Oct. 30 there will be 103 fighting vessels of various types anchored in sight of the nation's metropolis. The fleet will consist of twenty-four battleships, two armored cruisers, twenty-two destroyers, sixteen torpedo boats, eight submarines, three torpedo tenders, four gunboats, eight colliers, an oil tanker, three tugs and nine others, including hospital ships, supply ships, mine layers, repair ships and ammunition ships. These have a total displacement of 677,285 tons. They will be manned by 30,000 officers and men. The fleet will be reviewed by Secretary Meyer. Each of the battleships has a baseball team and football eleven, and many contests have already been arranged. During the baseball games for the world's championship the ships rounded the score by wireless, and the bluejackets watched the progress of the contests closely.

NAT. GOODWIN

SAYS THAT EDNA GOODRICH FORGED A TELEGRAM

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—The document filed yesterday by Nat Goodwin, in which he charges that Edna Goodrich forged a telegram to get the marriage portion previously considered in an agreement which the actor now wants set aside, and his statement to the effect that he had been victimized, created a real sensation, especially in theatrical circles. Suit has been filed by Goodwin to invalidate the deed of trust by which he provided $500,000 in property, the income from which was to be enjoyed jointly by him and Edna Goodrich. The actor's attorneys claim that the original contract by which the actress promised to marry was illegal and void and that the plaintiff was not bound by the contract when the deed was finally executed. The telegram which the actress is alleged to have forged was said to have been sent to Goodwin's attorney ordering them to make the marriage settlement as previously described. It was signed Nat Goodwin, but Nat declares he never sent it. His statement that he was victimized by a woman's wiles drew smiles from Edna Goodrich's attorneys, who doubt very much that a man of Goodwin's experience could be taken in by a woman.

PRESIDENT TAFT

Starts on a Strenuous Trip Tomorrow

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 27.—With his departure from Milwaukee for Chicago today President Taft practically brought to an end the last leg of his swing around the circle, as it was originally planned at Washington and Beverly. Tomorrow the president will start in on a strenuous three days' program at Chicago and on Tuesday he will wind up the original trip at Pittsburg, the engagement that he has made following that being quite distinct from those of the present journey.

In the 41 days that Mr. Taft has been on the road he has made more than 250 speeches and has discussed all sorts of subjects. Most of the speeches have been short, not more than 300 or 400 words in length each, but there have been more than a score of set addresses that have reached a length of 2500 or 3000 words. Through it all, the president has kept in fine voice and only once or twice has it become even husky. Today Mr. Taft looks almost as fresh as when he stepped out on the platform of the Ideal to say good bye to Boston in September. With five days' rest in Hot Springs, Va., ahead of him he is expected to get back to the capital in practically as fit a condition as when he started on his trip.

FINLEY IS NOT GUILTY

He Was Set Free by Jury in Worcester Court

WORCESTER, Oct. 27.—George B. Finley of Palermo, Me., aged 21, a former attendant at the state hospital in Worcester, was found not guilty of manslaughter by a jury in the superior court before Judge Hall yesterday on an indictment charging him with manslaughter in connection with the death, on Aug. 31, of Michael Leyden of Somerville, an inmate of the hospital, by beating him.

The government claimed that Leyden received at the hands of Finley, on Aug. 27, a beating which resulted in fractures of Leyden's jaw, his breast-bone in two places, and five ribs on the right side and six ribs on the left side. The government witnesses were heard yesterday. Finley took charge of the insane man at 6 o'clock Sunday morning, Aug. 27. It was stated yesterday that Leyden had been violent the night before and required the presence of four attendants to place him in a small room, but it was denied that these four attendants had abused Leyden or that they had used more than enough force to get him into the room. They admitted he fought all the way.

The session today was given up to the defense. Finley denied he had struck Leyden when he went on duty Sunday morning, and said when he took charge of the patient he noticed marks on the man's chest and saw blood on his face. He called another attendant to wash the blood from the man's face. He knew Leyden was violent and when he went on duty to relieve Henry S. McKenzie, another attendant, he asked McKenzie if Leyden had started anything. McKenzie replied he had and that he had been given orders not to go into the room. Finley testified he then offered to go in with McKenzie, and they entered the room together. When he saw the condition of Leyden, he called in another attendant.

Harry A. Kellner, an attendant, testified to finding a tooth that had been knocked from Leyden's mouth outside the door of the room in which it was alleged Finley had assaulted the man. Several other attendants testified regarding the violence of Leyden and the difficulty the attendants had in handling him in removing him from the large dormitory to the room where it was claimed the assault was made.

Cyrus A. Codding, one of these, testified that John S. Martin, an attendant, who was dismissed from the hospital a short time after the assault was committed, told him he had helped to "trim" Leyden.

After considering the evidence for an hour, the jury returned a verdict of

LAZARUS ARRESTED

He is Charged With Passing 250 Bad Checks

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—The real Max R. Lazarus was arrested yesterday afternoon by Sergt. Irwin and Patrolman

MAKES FACE LOOK YEARS YOUNGER

In the beauty column of the Los Angeles Press we find the following written by that eminent authority, Mae Martin:

"Women who have been nipping their faces with powder and vainly striving to attain beautiful complexions, will get the desired results by using instead of face powder, a good spurnax lotion. Such a lotion can be made at small cost, by dissolving 4 ounces of spurnax in 1/2-pint hot water, then add 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine. Or to make the lotion dry more quickly when applied to the skin, 1/2-pint witch hazel can be used instead of the water."

This simple lotion is unequalled for refining one's complexion. It makes the skin soft, smooth and velvety and takes away that shiny, oily, sallow look. It does not show on the skin, nor does it rub off easily like powder. Those who use this lotion find it such a splendid skin whitener and complexion beautifier that they are seldom without it on their dressing table."

Newell near the Back Bay station on a charge of having passed worthless checks. Headquarters detectives and special officers of almost every police division have been searching for him since the flight of one Joseph Katz in June.

Katz jumped $1300 bail, in which he was held on charge of passing worthless checks. When arrested last spring he gave the name of Lazarus. Later he revealed his identity and said he was a pal of Lazarus. The grand jury indicted Lazarus while he was in Seattle.

There are six counts in the indictment, but the police of division 6 said he passed about 250 worthless checks and that the proceeds of his wrong-doing amount to at least $2000. It is alleged his victims were mostly proprietors of small stores, although a number of large firms and a bank or two are included.

Lazarus dresses stylishly and possesses as convincing a line of conversation as the police have ever heard. They claim. The police say Lazarus would enter a store and select some article for purchase, paying for it with a bad check, which would always be for a figure in excess of the value of the goods, and secure the change. It is charged that the other night he bought a pair of shoes at the South End and tendered a check for $12.50 in payment.

The shoes cost $2.50. Lazarus, it is alleged, secured the balance in cash and later disposed of the shoes on the street.

Lazarus is 23 years old. He said he lived on Follen street, in the Back Bay. The number he gave does not exist. Patrolman Michael Foley of division 5, a schoolmate, claims he recognized him.

Before Lazarus went away, the police say, his father and his brother, the latter a physician, made good many of the losses incurred by his operations, the brother paying about $1000. The police say Max Lazarus practiced the same game in Seattle and Chicago and was sent home by his brother, who is in Seattle.

According to the police, the young prisoner spoke of a woman leading him into temptation. The whereabouts of Katz is not known.

Retired Boston Merchant Picked up in the Gutter

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—Discovered unconscious in the gutter at 17 Beach street, in the South End, with a deep gash over his forehead, William F. Greeley, an 81-year-old retired business man, who a few months ago inherited an additional fortune of over $20,000 from his brother, was early last evening taken to the city hospital, where his condition is serious.

When Greeley left the Quincey House where he has been stopping for the past two days, he had a large roll of bills, the clerk having been paid a sum from it yesterday forenoon just before the old man went out.

When he was found he had a solitary $20 bill with his checkbook, the police starting an investigation under Sergeant Flynn last evening to ascertain whether he had been robbed or had spent the money.

It is not felt that the injury to Greeley was from an assault, as several witnesses examined by the police stated that he had been taken ill as he was walking down Beach street and had stumbled, falling headlong into the gutter.

For the past year Greeley has been living at the Hotel Langham, where his venerable form was a familiar figure. He often said that he preferred the South End because it was the vicinity where he used to have so many business associates.

A couple of days ago, however, he decided to change his lodgings and came to the Quincey House, telling Manager Robbins that he was to make the hotel his permanent abode.

At the Langham hotel the clerk told the police that Greeley for months had been surrounded with scores of people who were apparently trying to either borrow money from him or to interest him in schemes of various natures.

Anty Drudge Talks to a Woman Who Hasn't Tried the New Way of Washing.

Anty Drudge—"You poor unfortunate victim of the old-time washday habit! Why won't you wash in the Fels-Naptha way, and strike off the chains that bind you to the steaming washboard and the all-day hard rub-rub on the washboard?"

If you really believed what we say about Fels-Naptha you would use it, wouldn't you?

But you think that it's too easy—impossible.

Many men are wealthy to-day because the majority thought the same thing about the telephone.

To you boiling seems necessary to thorough cleansing.

With soaps of the old sort it is.

The clothes must be boiled in order to get the dirt out by rubbing.

Incidentally much of it gets rubbed in.

Fels-Naptha separates the dirt from the fabric in cool or lukewarm water.

Once separated it is easily rinsed away.

But you must remember that Fels-Naptha is made to be used in cool or lukewarm water, summer or winter.

HALLOWEEN IN CITY AND COUNTRY IS CELEBRATED IN DIFFERENT MANNERS

Halloween, which comes on Oct. 31, can be traced back to pagan times. It is associated in the popular mind with supernatural influences, and there are various ways told in legend by which men and maidens may learn the identity of their future life partners. The playing of pranks is a popular form of amusement. In the cities the children don masquerade costumes and parade the streets, while in the country jack-o'-lanterns made of pumpkins are an essential feature of the celebration.

ENJOYABLE SOCIAL

CONDUCTED BY THE CHILDREN OF MARY SODALITY

An enjoyable social, which took the form of a coffee party and dance, was held last night in the parochial school hall of the Sacred Heart church in Moore street under the auspices of the members of the Children of Mary sodality, who are to have a table at the coming parish reunion. The popularity of the young ladies of the organization was evidenced by the large attendance, there being nearly 500 present.

Dancing was enjoyed until a late hour, music being furnished by Frederick's orchestra.

The success of the party was due to the zealous and untiring work of Miss Lillian Holden, president of the sodality, and the following young ladies: General manager, Miss Elizabeth Mickell; assistant general manager, Miss Nellie Murphy; floor director, Miss Gertrude Ward; assistant floor director, Miss Anna Bradley; chief aid, Miss Margaret Linnane; aids, Miss Alice Walsh, Miss Katherine Hickey, Miss Susie Ryan and Miss Margaret Cook.

Reception committee, Miss Mayetta Sullivan, chairman; May Cowell, Mary Burns, Emily Higgins, Margaret Jennings and Katherine McCarthy.

Among the clergy present were Very Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I., Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I., Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O. M. I., Rev. James T. McDermott, O. M. I., and Rev. T. Franklin Wood, O. M. I.

Refreshments were served during the evening by the following committee: Misses Lillian Holden, mutton; Helen Sweeney, Mary Doherty, May Brown, Margaret Sweeney, Mary Murphy, Katherine Brady, Mary McAnney, Agatha Trainor, Nellie McAnney, Abbie Moran, Elizabeth McLean, Annie Dunn, Katherine Boyle, Lena Kivlan, Rita Sharkey, Angie Tanguay, Jennie McLarnie, Margaret Burns, Mary Seymour, Margaret Hansbury, Anna McDough, Annie O'Neill, Teresa Kneafsey, Annie Craig and Mamie Gunn.

MARRIED 20 YEARS

21 Children Born to Mr. and Mrs. Dagenais

A couple who do not believe in race suicide are Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Dagenais of 86 Kennel street, West Centralville, for, although they have been married but 20 years, their 21st child was born a few days ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Dagenais were both born at Cap Sante, Que. Mr. Dagenais being 41 years of age, while his wife has not yet reached her 37th birthday. They were married in Lowell at St. Joseph's church on Aug. 30, 1891.

Mrs. Dagenais was formerly Miss Motard, and she comes from a large family, being one of 14 children, and two of her sisters, both living in Lowell, Mrs. Azarais Lavallee and Mrs. Alphonse Milot, have raised large families, the former being the mother of 14 children, while 11 children were born to the latter.

It is with pride that Mr. Dagenais mentions the fact that his father was the father of 23 children.

As above stated, Mr. and Mrs. Dagenais were married 20 years ago, and 21 children were born to them, two of them being twins. There were six girls and 15 boys, and of this number but three are now living. They are Henri, Jeanne, and the latest born, who was christened on Oct. 14 at St. Louis church, receiving the name of Joseph Jules Emile, the sponsors being Mr. and Mrs. Jules Morrisette.

Mr. Dagenais is well known in this city, being employed in the packing department of the Lawrence Mfg. Co. He is also a prominent member of the Centralville Social club.

JOY RIDE IS FATAL

Companions of Dead Boy Were Placed Under Arrest

SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 27.—A thrilling police story of the theft of an automobile by three boys, all under 18 years of age, who on Sept. 20, appropriated an automobile trip taken by them in the middle in Hartford, Conn., belonging to a stolen machine, and a joy ride in Virginia which ended in the instant death of one of the party, Richard Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Clark of Lafayette street, was made known yesterday in the arrest by the local police of Raymond Manson of 603 Liberty street, and the arrest yesterday in Hartford of Robert Taft of 419 Main street, Springfield.

Young Clark, who was but 15 years old, was the brother of Edward Clark, a champion ringer player of no mean ability. His grandfather was Edward Phelps, founder and owner of the Phelps Publishing company, one of the largest publishing houses in the United States.

Young Taft, who is 18 years old, is the son of one of the best-known photographers in Springfield, and his eccentricities have been the talk of the countryside for years.

After the death of Clark, Manson and Taft returned to Springfield and Hartford respectively, and said nothing about their trip. The first intimation the parents of the Clark boy had of his death was given them by the Taft was arrested once before, for the larceny of an automobile, spending several days in jail. He deserted from a schooner upon which he had been placed and attracted much attention last year through his attempt to smuggle himself across the Atlantic on a steamship leaving Boston for European ports.

NAVY YARD SCARE

CHICKENPOX BREAKS OUT AMONG MARINE GUARD

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—There was a smallpox scare at the Charlestown navy yard yesterday afternoon, which was somewhat abated when Dr. David Brough, the medical inspector of the Boston board of health, was called into the case and stated that the patients were suffering from chickenpox.

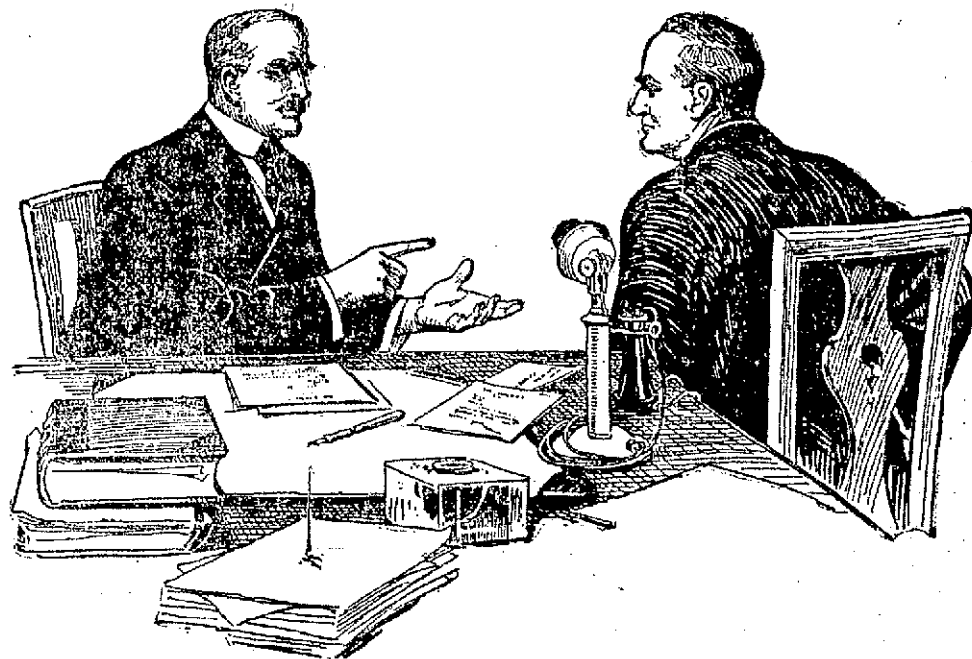

Two members of the marine guard at the naval prison and one of the prisoners, a typewriter in the prison office, were stricken with the disease. Dr. Francis W. F. Wieber, the yard physician, was summoned, and at first placed was of the belief that the men were suffering from smallpox. Every precaution to prevent an epidemic of the disease was quickly taken.

The men were removed to the Naval hospital in Chelsea, where they are under observation by Dr. John M. Edgar, there yet being a fear that the patients may have a touch of the dread disease.

Liberty has been denied the members of the marine corps attached to the marine barracks and the naval prison.

Dr. Wieber was unable at first to account for the outbreak of the disease among the members of the guard and prisoners, and fearing smallpox called Dr. Brough into consultation.

The prisoner stricken with the disease is J. A. Wiggins, who had been at the institution for the last six months. One of the guard stricken was Private J. H. Brauzher.

CHARTER FACTS FOR VOTERS

Gives More Power to People, Says Mayor of Decatur, Ill.

Below are found statements from the mayor of Decatur, Ill., and the city clerk of Iola, Kansas, proving that the commission form of government as proposed for Lowell gives more power to the people than they possessed under the old charter, and that it favors no class or section of the community. This should set at rest certain false statements regarding the charter, and made by men who have selfish motives for retaining the old charter. This is the opinion of men based upon practical experience. Is it not a safer guide than the groundless charges of men who have neither facts nor experience to back up their up their statements?

The Sun has already published a statement from the mayor of Taunton in praise of the commission form of government in that city. It has published a lengthy statement from the mayor of Gloucester and has favorable replies from Lynn and Haverhill, where the commission form of charter is also working well. But before giving any further replies from Massachusetts cities, we propose to give a few from cities in other states that have been under the charter for a considerable time and therefore, are better qualified to speak from practical experience of the merits of this charter than is now before the people of Lowell for their consideration.

Following is the circular letter which elicited the replies printed today and those that will be printed hereafter:

Lowell, Mass., October, 1911.

Dear Sir: As the citizens of Lowell are soon to vote upon the question of adopting the commission or Des Moines form of charter in all its important features, and as the opposition claims that the new charter will take the power away from the people, that it is backed by the money power in Wall street and means a return to slavery, will you kindly answer the following queries for the information of the citizens?

- 1—If these claims have any foundation?
- 2—Under such a charter can any particular class of citizens have special advantages over any other class?
- 3—Has this form of charter improved conditions in your city or would you go back to the old form of charter?
- 4—Is there any reason why the working classes should not prefer such a charter to the old fashioned double chamber system in which partisan politics is predominant?

By answering these questions or giving any other information in regard to this charter you will greatly oblige Yours very truly, etc.

Mayor Dineen's Reply
Here is a typical letter from Mayor Dan Dineen of the city of Decatur, Illinois:

City of Decatur, Illinois.
Oct. 23, 1911.
Gentlemen: Your circular letter of Oct. 17th, asking my answers to four questions enclosed therein, has been duly received, and in reply will answer the questions as asked as follows, to wit:

First—The proposed charter instead of taking the power away from the people restores to the people that power which they have had lying dormant so many years, and even that power which officials now retain under the new form of government is so restricted and safe-guarded that no influence can control the officials except those influences that are backed up by public opinion, and therefore, Wall street can have no more influence than any other class of citizens, unless that influence is of the kind that the people will endorse.

Second—This question is answered by previous reply.

Third—I believe that it has improved conditions in our city, judging from what the people say of it, and I do not believe the people would be willing to go back to the old form of charter. However, being one of the officials in office, my judgment may not be correct in this, and would respectfully refer you to the newspapers in this city, who are more competent to judge than I am.

Fourth—There is every reason why the working classes should prefer such a charter rather than the aldermanic form of city government.

In addition to the answers above given, I am also enclosing a copy of a letter which I have written to the newspapers along the same line, and I trust you will find the information of the character you desire.

Yours truly,
Dan Dineen, Mayor.

MAYOR DINEEN

PRAISED A CHARTER

The letter referred to above is as follows:

The Daily News, Prince Rupert, B. C.

Gentlemen: Your letter of the 15th instant, asking for the reasons which led this city to adopt the commission form of government, has been received, and in reply will say that in my opinion there were a number of reasons which commended this plan to the citizens of Decatur, a few of which are as follows: First, This community as well as others, has grown tired of "machine politics," and under this plan every candidate stands on his own footing. It is unlawful to contribute money for the election of any particular candidate, and the successful candidate has to file a sworn statement of his actual expenses, and by whom the money was contributed. The candidate's name goes on the ballot in alphabetical order and there is nothing to show the candidate's party affiliation and any one can be a candidate without asking any "boss."

Second, The plan attracts able men to fill the offices because of the increase in salary and the reduction in number. It fixes individual responsibility, the same being direct and personal, and renders communication between the citizens and the city hall easier.

Third, By means of the initiative, referendum and recall, which are not essentials of commission form of government, but are usually attached to the plan, the power which has formerly been usurped by the officials has been returned to the people where it belongs. By these means a community may initiate legislation or protect against legislation, and may recall unworthy officials.

Fourth, privileges to public service corporations are safeguarded in that they lay over one week before passage, and then in most instances before they become effective, they must be submitted to a vote of the people, and if that vote results in a majority in favor of granting the privilege, the ordinance becomes effective, otherwise, not. This method eliminates public service corporations from petting behind certain candidates. Free transportation to city officials is prohibited and all discrimination is absolutely forbidden.

These are but a few reasons that probably influenced the citizens of this community in adopting this form of government—others might be enumerated varying with local conditions. If any further information is desired along these lines, I shall be most happy to furnish same to you.

Yours truly,
Mayor.

CLERK ZEIGLER

OF IOLA, KANSAS, COMMENTS
THE NEW CHARTER

Iola, Kansas, Oct. 23d, 1911.

Editor Lowell Sun.

Dear Sir—In answer to yours of some days since, addressed to the mayor, will say: Your people who charge that the commission form of government takes the government away from the people are purposely misrepresenting or else they are grossly ignorant of the plan, as the reverse is true. Our system places the government directly in the hands of the people—first, by electing the commissioners by the vote of the entire city, without regard to wards; second, by placing the commissioners in charge of specific departments of the city's business and putting them under bond for the faithful performance of their duties. If they fail to make good, the responsibility can be checked directly to them. This method simply applies modern business methods to municipal government. With us there was some organized opposition but after 18 months of trial of the commission form no one I think, would oppose the plan. As to your questions, will say in answer to No. 1—There is no foundation for such a claim. No. 2—The plan cuts out special privileges and all the people have equal rights and privileges. No. 3—Our people would not for a moment consider a return to the old system in regard to improved conditions, I am sending you, under separate cover, copy of our first annual report and a study of this report will answer this question fully. No. 4—There is absolutely no reason for or demand to return to the old system. Our system divorces municipal affairs from politics as completely as it is possible to do so. All names are printed on the ballots alphabetically and each candidate for whom you wish to vote must be marked independently. There is no party name or emblem to designate which party the candidate belongs to. In cities with a larger population than ours, the candidates are chosen at a primary and the two candidates having the largest vote at the election and if frequently happens that the two candidates having the largest vote belong to the same party so it is entirely a choice between men.

As a rule more efficient officials are chosen as the direct responsibility encourages them to render the best service possible.

We are not acting under a charter but under an act of the legislature of the session of 1909. You will probably find a copy of the session laws in your library, or in some law office in your city.

Our city has a population of a little below 10,000 and I am inclined to believe that larger cities would derive a greater benefit even than cities of our size. We have saved nearly $10,000 the first year under commission government over the last year of the old system as shown by the report and have cut the tax levy accordingly. To illustrate—the state, county and school levies for the year 1911 are higher than for the year 1910, yet the city levies are lower for 1911 than they were for 1910. The last year was the first in a great many years that the general expenses of the city were kept within the general revenue and it is a well established fact that the fire department is better equipped to render efficient service, the city was never better policed and the streets were never kept so clean as during the past year. We own our water, electric and gas plants and we have a commissioner of public utilities who runs them for the benefit of the whole people rather than for political purposes. Collections are better looked after, free services have been discontinued and the humblest citizen gets just as good service and at the same rates as any other citizen.

We think we have a "good thing" and are always ready to "pass it along."

Yours very truly,
T. F. Zeigler, City Clerk.

They're comfortably warm without excessive weight. They're made of soft, rich, live wools in which every ounce counts for warmth. Many have pure worsted body linings with satin shoulder linings.

Single or double-breasted models with collars that lay open at the neck, or button up close; and they fit properly at either adjustment, due to their clever tailoring.

Veniremen in the McNamara Case Appeal to Judge

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 27.—Veniremen summoned in the new panel of 40 to try the case of James E. McNamara, indicted for murder as a result of the Times building explosion, came to Judge Bordwell an hour before the opening of court today to present excuses for relief from possible jury duty. Out of the first panel of 40 only two were not excused, and the days of the trial since it began on Oct. 11 have been consumed in examining these talesmen. With the exhaustion yesterday of the panel additional veniremen were obtained and it is expected that before the final dozen are selected to try the case the process will be repeated several times.

A LARGE ADDITION
Planned for Lamson Company's Local Plant

Application was made this morning at the office of the inspector of buildings at city hall for a permit to erect a three story addition to the plant of the Lamson Consolidated Store Service company in Walker street, by the Abernethy Construction Co. The proposed new building consisting of three stories and basement will be of concrete construction with brick curtain walls, (similar to the Massachusetts storehouse), and the dimensions will be 120 feet by 50 feet and fire proof throughout. The building will be used for factory purposes and patent storage and will cost $30,000. The Lamson company having made a world-wide reputation through the recent manufacture of ammunition for the United States navy is entering upon a busy future and the volume of business has made it necessary to increase the size of its plant. The plant has made great strides under the supervision of Mr. David Stevens, the present superintendent.

HAMILTONS WON
TOOK FOUR POINTS FROM THE BLEACHERY FIVE

There were two games played in the Manufacturers' league series last night but both were rather one-sided. In the game between the Hamiltons and Bleachery teams the former gained four points. Dodge of the Hamiltons had the high single, 102, and Hovey of the same team had the best total, 274.

The game between the Lowell Machine Shop and Lawrence teams resulted in a victory for the former team which won all four points. The bowling of Grant of the winning aggregation was the feature of the game.

In the C. Y. M. L. league series Team Seven won four points from Team Two.

A ROUSING RALLY

Governor Foss Given Great Reception in Associate Hall

One of the largest and most enthusiastic rallies ever held in Lowell and one of the most remarkable was that which greeted Governor Foss and other state candidates at Associate Hall last evening, held under the auspices of the democratic city committee and the Foss campaign committee. Every seat was taken while many stood in the rear of the hall and all were brimful of enthusiasm which showed itself by the many telling points made by the different speakers.

It was a most remarkable rally inasmuch as the 9 o'clock bells were forgotten, for owing to the non-arrival of Candidate David L. Walsh (from Lawrence) the meeting was prolonged until after 11:30 o'clock, many speakers talking against time in anticipation of the arrival of the candidate for lieutenant-governor and yet a fair-sized portion of the crowd remained until the last word was spoken.

Governor Foss accompanied by ex-Rep. Jerry Watson, of Boston, arrived somewhat late, having been detained in Boston. Mr. Charles Strecker, who was to open the meeting with him and the Boston newspapermen having arrived early. At the New American hotel about 300 democrats awaited the governor's arrival and the chief executive was greeted with prolonged cheers. A line of march was immediately formed headed by Mayor McMan, Humphrey O'Sullivan, Chairman Cornelius Cronin of the democratic city committee and Governor Foss and with the Lowell Cadet Band, John J. Giffin, leader playing "The Star March" the procession proceeded to Associate hall, through a line of red fire on either side of the street. Among those in the line were: Henry J. Draper, candidate for senator, Reps. Cull, Poomey, Ex-Rep. Kearns, William P. Purcell, James E. O'Donnell, Ed. Gen. Pearson, Hon. Fisher, Pearson, James F. Mitchell, Thomas J. Enright, James H. Carmichael, Aldermen Gallagher, Barrett, Toupin, Burns, Daly, Connors, Rountree, Jodoin, Plangan, School Committee-men MacKenzie and Farrington, all of the

been awaiting the arrival of the speakers poured in and when the meeting was called to order shortly before 8 o'clock standing room was at a premium.

The Rally Opened
The rally was formally opened by Chairman Cornelius Cronin of the city committee who with pardonable pride called attention to the fine work done by the city committee in the work of registration. Last year, Mr. Cronin said, the total registration at state election was 14,897 while this year when registration opened the number was less than 14,000. Today the total registration is over 15,000 and a large majority of the names put on were placed there through the work of the city committee. He predicted that Lowell will give Foss a majority of close on to 6000 this year. He then introduced as the presiding officer, His Honor, Mayor McMan.

Mayor McMan
"I appreciate more than words can express the honor of presiding over this gathering of the workmen of Lowell. This great outpouring shows that the men of Lowell are interested in a man who has done something, a principle to expound. The battle today is the battle of the telling masses against corporate power and public service corporations." His Honor then stated that as the hour was late he would not take up any more time, but he then introduced as the first speaker Charles R. Strecker of Boston, candidate for state auditor.

Candidate Strecker
Mr. Strecker spoke in part as follows: "Mr. Cronin is an honorable gentleman, but he comes before us to be placed at the head of the biggest business in the state, the state's business. I would ask him: 'What are your qualifications?' He may say, 'I am a lawyer,' but he has never practiced at his profession. He may say: 'I have given my service to the state.' That is certainly laudable if he has given his services for the betterment of the conditions of the men and women of his state. But let me quote you his record as published by Reginald Norman White: 'The first time against free text books and he has replied that such is false as that measure came up at a time when he was too young to vote. If he did not vote against it, however, it was because he was too young to vote.'"

STOCK MARKET
INCREASING CONFIDENCE IN THE CLOSING HOUR TODAY
Rally in U. S. Steel Failed To Helix Out Any Fresh Selling Orders—Standard Stocks Enjoyed a Respite—Other Stocks Made Rally of From 1 to 2 Points
NEW YORK, October 27.—
Hasty short covering and some supporting orders turned the course of the market upward soon after the opening and there were numerous rallies of a point or more. U. S. Steel rebounded to 50 1/4 and the price to 100 1/4. The higher level invited enormous selling orders, which ultimately demoralized the market for steel common and it crumbled to 52 1/4, an overnight loss of 6 1/4 and within 1/2 of the lowest point of the year. U. P. Reading, Lehigh Valley, American Smelt- ing and Amal. Copper all sagged below their previous low figures. Union Pacific fell to 169 1/4 and Reading to 127 1/4. Trading was in enormous volume in all quarters of the market, the market today. The list fell and rose in sympathy with the steel issues, which fluctuated violently. Selling orders continued to pour in from all parts of the country and from Europe and efforts to support the market accomplished no more than to bring about occasional rallies, which each time were followed by renewed selling. Heavy losses extended through the list, including the standard railroad stocks as well as the industrials. Huge blocks of United States Steel were unloaded and the stock fell all restraint, dropping until it touched 50 1/4. This figure was 8 1/4 points under the final price of yesterday and was the lowest made by the stock since 1909. In the general market leading stocks ruled from 2 to 2 1/2 below last night. Bonds were steady.
Liquidation of U. S. Steel increased as the price fell toward 50. Thousands of shares were pressed for sale and a block of 4500 shares was sold when it first reached 50. This transaction was followed by the purchase of 100 shares at 50 1/4 and then a block of 4000 shares forced it back to 50. This figure seemed to be the crucial point at which the bull forces were massed, for the price climbed steadily thereafter. With the turn of the tide in U. S. Steel the rest of the market began to gather strength but the rallies were only fractional and when steel reacted to 50 1/4 the rise elsewhere halted. Trading diminished generally when the recovery was in progress. Business in the early afternoon was in much smaller volume than the rise but the orderly way in which the general market moved aroused hope that the forced liquidation caused by the collapse in steel had ceased. The market closed heavy. Increasing confidence was shown by the bull contingent as the rally in U. S. Steel failed to bring out any fresh selling

Stock Market Thrown Into a State of Demoralization

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The stock market was thrown into a state of demoralization at the opening today as a result of the suit for dissolution instituted by the government against the United States Steel Corporation. Preceding the opening here there had been heavy sales of steel common in the London market by New York interests at losses extending to seven points. Initial dealings in steel here were on a huge scale, the first offering consisting of 25,000 shares at from 55 to 53 1/2, a maximum decline of five points. The price of steel common fell to 52 1/4 and the steel sinking fund bonds declined 1 1/4. These losses were very commensurate with the fact that the steel market was affected, declines ranging from a point to two points in U. P. Reading, Atchafalpa, Great Northern, Republic Iron & Steel pf., Anaconda, Consolidated Copper and American Smelting.

The storm broke out into a fury after the first recovery in prices. The rally which followed the first violent break resulted in further selling on the former scale and the market became demoralized. Stocks fell to lower prices than at the opening. United States Steel dropped to 51, a loss of 7 1/2 points and a new low for the year. Sales of the common stock in the first hour of trading were 220,000 shares.

The stock market showed more general weakness than on the first decline. Standard railroad issues such as Union Pacific and Reading were forced down about three points. Industrial stocks of all classes were extremely weak. The market was badly unsettled all the morning. Occasional rallies showed that attempts were being made to support prices but each recovery served only to invite further selling.

The floor of the exchange was a scene of confusion. Long before trading was begun the brokers were jammed tightly about the posts at which steel stocks are traded in. Orders to sell the stock had poured in over night from owners in all parts of the country who were alarmed by the disclosure that when the song sounded to announce the opening of the market such a din was made by the shouting, struggling traders that it was impossible for several minutes to learn the course of the market.

The first block of steel common was the largest ever recorded in steel stocks, although it was exceeded twice last month when the market was demoralized by liquidation of this stock on the part of the holders who feared that the government was to begin suit. Within the first 15 minutes 37,500 shares were traded in.

It was soon evident that the stock was receiving support. The first price of 53 1/2 was the low point and it rallied a point. At no time during the early trading did it approach the low figure of last month which was 51 1/2. Trading in the preferred stock and the five per cent sinking fund bonds also was very heavy. The preferred stock, after breaking 5 1/2, rallied two points. The bonds opened with a block of $100,000 at 100 1/4, a decline of three points.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1910 was Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 2, 1911. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

It is to be hoped that the workmen of Lowell will judge for themselves on the charter question and not be deceived by any false charges made by men who have a selfish interest in misrepresenting the situation. The charter as provided for Lowell will give the people more power so that it will enable them to protect themselves politically and to control their elected officials at all times.

It is to be regretted that the smooth paving jobs have not been farther advanced at this stage when we are liable to drop into cold weather at any time. Unfortunately for some cause or other the smooth paving is allowed to run till the fall before they are started, that is something that the new charter would stop for all time. The paving would be started early in the spring and it would be closed up about the time that it is usually started under our present regime.

THE LINNELL CASE

The people of Massachusetts want to see a speedy trial on the Linnell murder case and judging from the action of District Attorney Pelletier they are going to get it. If Mr. Richeson is innocent he should not be detained in prison and if he is guilty the fact that he is a clergyman should not shield him from the severest penalty of the law. Indeed it makes his crime the more shocking to the community.

WOMEN TEACHERS ON EQUAL FOOTING WITH MEN

The women teachers of New York have succeeded in having their salary put upon the same basis as that of the men teachers. They had been conducting an agitation for this purpose for some time past. This principle is one of the very first in the category of woman's rights now being tardily conceded. There is no justification for paying a woman less for her work than a man would receive for the same work. There are those who think that the victory will turn out to be an injury instead of a benefit to the women teachers for the reason that it will increase the number of male teachers. In some cities there is a strong sentiment in favor of men teachers, and were it not for the higher salaries demanded they would be employed in many places in preference to women. The sentiment has been growing in favor of male teachers, especially for the higher grades and for districts where pupils are somewhat disorderly.

CONGRESSMAN CURLEY'S ARGUMENTS

Congressman Curley who arrived at Associate hall at a late hour last night proved to be a very stirring speaker. He raked the republican policy fore and aft and produced some arguments that could not be refuted. One of his points was that while beef had reached the highest price since the Civil war last year yet the people of the Argentine republic sent large exports of beef to England. Why did they not send it to the United States where they could sell it at a much higher price than in England? Simply because of the high tariff wall against imported beef. The tariff, he said, is four and one-half cents a pound which for dressed beef would mean about seven and one-half cents per pound. If that barrier were removed the price of meat could never reach the figure at which it stands today. This is but a single instance of many that might be quoted to explain the high cost of living as resulting from the tariff policy of the republican party.

GREAT ENTHUSIASM FOR GOVERNOR FOSS

The rousing rally at Associate hall last evening gave ample proof of the place which Gov. Foss holds in the hearts of Lowell citizens. In numbers, enthusiasm and attention the rally was one of the greatest seen here. He has been all that he claimed to be, that is a business governor. The record of his administration shows more constructive legislation than that of any other governor for a generation. The passage of the workingmen's compensation law alone would serve as campaign material for several years because if there ever was a measure calculated to benefit the working people in case of accident or injury during their employment in factories it is this. It has been demonstrated that in 80 per cent of the serious accidents neither the injured parties nor their dependents got any compensation whatever. As a rule the cases were tried before the superior court and then if a verdict was rendered for the plaintiff there was an appeal to the supreme court on questions of law which held up the verdict until the injured party might have died or until the verdict was all eaten up by legal expenses. All this will be done away with under this new law which will prove more valuable to the working people than all the labor measures enacted for several years past.

Gov. Foss gave a good account of his administration and he fully justified by unanswerable facts, his statement that there is a good deal of laxity in the management of the various commissions throughout the state.

After listening to the governor's review of his administration it is easy to see why the republicans in this campaign do not pay much attention to state issues. Yet on the tariff question the governor has also the best of the argument. He proves that although the tariff on shoes was reduced from 25 per cent to 10 per cent there was no reduction of wages but there was an increase in the export of shoes with a small margin of imports. These facts disprove the republican claim that a reduction of the tariff is always followed by a reduction of wages.

The governor laid down the democratic policy on the tariff in stating that all the necessities of life should be admitted free so as to reduce the high cost of living and that the raw material for our great industries should also be admitted free in order that they may be enabled to compete successfully in the markets of the world.

SEEN AND HEARD

A silent but notable tribute was paid to the memory of the late Thomas F. Meagher, the popular letter carrier, as his funeral passed through Central street Wednesday morning. Some 30 business men having offices or places of business along the street left their desks as the funeral approached and went out to the curbstone where they stood with heads uncovered as the hearse passed. The scene was all the more impressive because of the fact that it was not pre-arranged, but was spontaneous.

With the interest in the charter matter so general this will be no off year in Lowell as regards the state election, and it is expected that the biggest vote ever polled in Lowell on a state election day will be cast.

Many people will vote backwards this year so as to be sure that they don't forget to vote on the charter.

LEAVE IT WITH HIM

Yes, leave it with him;

The lilies all do,

And they grow.

They grow in the rain,

And they grow in the dew—

Yes, they grow.

They grow in the darkness, all hid in the night;

They grow in the sunshine, revealed by the light;

Still they grow.

They ask not your planting,

They need not your care,

As they grow;

Dropped down in the valley,

The field, anywhere—

There they grow.

They grow in their beauty, arrayed in pure white;

They grow, clothed in glory, by heaven's own light.

Sweetly grow.

The grasses are clothed

And the ravens are fed

From His store;

But you who are loved,

And guarded and led,

How much more

Will He clothe you, and feed you, and give you His care—

Then leave it with Him, He has everywhere

Ample store.

Yes, leave it with Him.

'Tis more dear to His heart,

You will know,

Than the lilies that bloom,

Or the flowers that start

Neath the snow.

Guests at the New American hotel this week were astonished to see a number of Japanese in native dress in the dining room and about the corridors. For Mrs. Sunilko, who heads the bill at Kellie's theatre, insists upon the best hotels and also insists upon wearing her native dress, which she declares to be far more comfortable than European fashions. In New York she stopped at the Plaza and her appearance among the fashionable there created a veritable sensation.

Another of her oddities is her refusal to enter a theatre by the stage door, declaring that to do so would be to lower her standing as an artist in Japan, where she is prima donna soprano of the Imperial Opera House, Tokio. A clause in her contract provides for her entrance through the front of the house. Mrs. Sunilko has not yet acquired the European idea of sleeping in a bed, but reclines on sumptuous Oriental rugs and Japanese pillows which she carries with her. The beds have been removed from the rooms in which she and her attendants repose and have been replaced by rugs.

Bishop Spaulding, on a hot summer morning, gave one of the congregations of Portland, Ore., a timely piece of advice.

"Don't," he said, "when you go off on your vacation, leave all your religion behind and take all your collection away with you."

The largest collection of books and papers bearing on the civil war is said to belong to Mrs. Levi Z. Leiter of Washington. Many of the papers are autographed by leaders who participated in the engagements. L. Z. Leiter began the collection 20 years ago, and Mrs. Leiter has continued the quest for rare books and documents. She gave the work of sorting and cataloging to an expert from the Congressional library. The library occupied an entire wing of the family mansion in Washington.

Clifford R. Harmon was talking at the Aero club in New York about successful aviators.

"The successful aviator," he said, "is resourceful. If things are lacking, he supplies them. He is like Gogsa Golde. Gogsa Golde, before he struck oil, went one day to the races and lost all on the favorite. It was a hot day, and Gogsa, though very thirsty, hadn't so much as the price of a glass of soda water. Nevertheless he stepped boldly into a palatial saloon.

"In the saloon he struck up a conversation with a prosperous looking man.

"You're a hale, sound, lusty man," said Gogsa. "It's good for sore eyes in these degenerate days to see a man like you. What's your age?"

"Fifty-four," said the fat man, with a pleased smile. "What's yours?"

"Thanks," said Gogsa, gratefully. "Thanks. Mine's a short beer."

There are the days of rapid transit in all things. About a dozen days ago Donald Meek announced that he would give $250 in gold for the best play written by a Lowell person and submitted to him by Dec. 15. Wednesday night a young man called at the stage entrance of the Hathaway theatre and informed the doorman that he wanted to tell Mr. Meek that he had completed a four-act play and would like him to look it over at once so in case it didn't suit he might go home and dash off another.

Whatever you need, if you ask it in prayer,

You can leave it with him, for you are His care—

You, you know.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

New Bedford Mercury: Mr. Langshaw is to be in town because he is reported to have seen an interview in a weekly publication that the Payne-Aldrich bill was mischievous in having induced capitalists to build more cotton mills. But it is just as fair to make that point against a republican.

administration as it is to use it in its favor. Very eminent republican speakers in the last campaign in Massachusetts, including, unless we are greatly mistaken, Gov. Draper and Robert Luce, set up the claim that the boom in mill building in New Bedford and Massachusetts was a consequence of the passage by a republican congress of the Payne-Aldrich bill. The Mercury protested at the time it was not so, and whoever says it deserves rebuke. But so long as the supporters of the republican party were content to let it pass last fall, let us not be too severe upon Mr. Langshaw, when he turns the sophistry upon the men who invented it.

WEAK ARGUMENTS

Worcester Post: What single argument or statement has been made during the storm and stress of a political campaign, chiefly because of the injustice which is sure to befall appointees selected during such a time of excitement. To view the situation in this state, there is a flock of press organs and party orators who are hunting sharply for campaign material with which to storm the camp of the administration in power, and if there is the least opportunity to score a point, no matter how unjust or undeserved, it is hungrily devoured. Certain critics have adopted that attitude toward Governor Foss all the year through, but the temptation is stronger at this time. In his latest batch of appointments Governor Foss has collected new materials for important posts, particularly for railroad commissioner. Although a choice has fallen on a democrat, there is not the slightest excuse for classifying it as a handout of party spoils, because the proposed member has never figured as a politician. There is, however, a chance to sneer at him because of the fact that he is a novice in railroad affairs. Nevertheless his previous training as a political economist and expert on civic matters would indicate to a candid mind that he is most promising timber for the commission, which in the past has been under sharp fire.

COLLEGE-BRED PATRIOTISM

Times Union Fla.: A college president says a boy draws the college closer about him every time he yells for it and so "increases his stock of patriotism." But is it true that the boy who has a college to yell for should be more of a patriot than he who has none? The poorer the boy the more he should have reason to love our government because of the theory that it gives that equal recognition and protection to the poorest, which is more or less denied elsewhere.

WOMAN HELD IN $1000

On Charge of Manslaughter in Causing Death of Her Child

Maria Lima was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on complaints charging her with manslaughter and concealing the death of a child. Lawyer William J. Andrew, of the firm of Cool & Andrew, Boston, appeared for the defendant and entered a plea of not guilty. The government requested a continuance and the court continued the case until November 6, the woman being held under $1000 bonds. An inquest into the cause of the death of the child will be held next week.

Miss Lima had been living at 50 Elm street up to a few weeks ago when she was placed under arrest as a result of information given to the police. People residing in the same house had noticed that the woman had been in a delicate condition and when she started to lock herself up in her room and not have any communication with the other people of the house they grew suspicious and called a physician.

The physician after making a careful examination became suspicious and reported the case to the police.

The police made an investigation and found the body of a male infant between two mattresses in the bed on which the woman was lying. Owing to her condition the police allowed her to remain in the house for a short time and subsequently removed her to the Chelmsford Street hospital, where she has been until this morning when she was brought into court to answer to the complaints above mentioned.

The first charge preferred against the woman was that of concealing the death of a child, but after the autopsy on the body of the child the complaint of manslaughter was issued.

An autopsy on the body of the infant was held on October 18th by Assistant Medical Examiner Robert E. Bell, assisted by Drs. Edward J. Clark, Frederick P. Murphy, and Dr. Bell in summing up his findings makes the following statement:

"The conditions disclosed by autopsy are consistent with those resulting from death by smothering after an infant had been born long enough to have breathed."

NARROW ESCAPE

CANDLE SETS FIRE TO BRIDE'S VEIL

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—Mrs. John R. Hoffman of Chelsea, who before her marriage last Tuesday night in Lincoln hall, Bryant street, Malden, was Miss Mary Rineberg, had a narrow escape from a terrible death while holding a reception after the ceremony, when her bridal veil and dress caught fire from a candle, and it was only after heroic action on the part of a number of the men guests that her life was saved.

A merry throng had gathered for the festivities. It is the Jewish custom for the new bride to kiss her new mother-in-law, and it was during this performance that the accident occurred. The elderly Mrs. Hoffman advanced with a lighted candle in her hand, and in stooping over to kiss the bride the candle came too near the veil and ignited it.

The bride's dress also burst into flames, and pandemonium reigned for several minutes until the veil and dress were torn from her. She was taken to the ante-room, where restoratives were applied, and recovered sufficiently to finish the reception. Her condition was not serious, but her hair and shoulders were badly burned. The bride and groom were surprised and facts in the case were suppressed and did not become known until yesterday.

man if you have not seen the performance already." Bill by the way is Bill Shakespeare whom Jim Hecker, the county chairman, frequently quotes in a manner that would make Lord Bacon turn in his grave or drive Legatus Donnelly to drink. "The County Chairman" is quite the best thing thus far produced by the Donald Meek stock company and it is being presented in a faultless manner. Those who are highest in their praise of the local production are the people who witnessed the original production with Maclyn Arbuckle, Willis Sweatnam, Blanche Ring and an all star cast including the great play. Mr. Meek's interpretation of "Sassaparilla Livingstone," the colored politician is on a par with that of Sweatnam himself, not only in dialect but in mannerisms and comedy work. Mr. Meek has played more than 67 varieties of comedy parts but he has never done any better work than as the irrepressible "Sassaparilla." The other members of the company are seen to excellent advantage particularly William Walsh, a Lowell boy and William R. Healey, both of whom have delightful comedy roles. Next week the company will appear in Robert Hilliard's great farce, "Last 24 Hours" which promises to be as big a hit as "The County Chairman." It is from the pen of William Freeman who wrote so many of Robert Meek's successes. Seats for next week are now on sale.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

A new feature in connection with the act being given by the Hardmans at the Merrimack Square theatre is "The Dance of the Inferno," which introduces Carlie, the famous fire dancer. This feature is a weird and highly entertaining offering and adds much to their high class singing sketch, "Trin Go Brehn," are winning new friends daily, and Kendall Weston and his associates players of Our Stock company have never been seen to better advantage than in their latest offering, "A Member of Parliament." Earl and Bartlett, comedy sketch artists, are as funny as can be, and Al Main, vocalist, is delightful in some of his songs. The photo-plays are among the best shown. The first of the new motion pictures of the New York-Philadelphia baseball series will be shown during the first three days of next week. These are the original ones and are sure to enthrall the numerous fans of the city, all of whom are deeply interested in the closing feature of the baseball season.

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE

The Japanese are noted as great imitators but when it comes to vaudeville Mme. Sumiko, the dainty little prima donna of the Imperial Theatre of Tokio, is an originator for she presents one of the most original and novel musical acts and one of the most enjoyable withal ever witnessed on the vaudeville stage. The Japanese on the stage have heretofore been seen only in acts of an acrobatic or juggling nature, all demonstrating their physical capabilities and until Mme. Sumiko came to this country the idea of a Japanese woman singing the operas of the day and even American ragtime was too far removed from the probable to be even dreamed of by the American theatre-goer. But Mme. Sumiko can and does sing European opera and American ragtime and enhances their charm by singing also the weird harmonies of her native land so queer yet not unpleasant to the American ear. Mme. Sumiko will be at Keith's but another day and music lover who has not witnessed her performance can afford to let the closing opportunity to hear her pass by. The other acts, all most entertaining on this week's bill, are: Karl Hewitt & Co., in the playlet, "Who is Elaine?"; Dain and Doyle, dancers with a real finale; Kelly and LaForte, dancers and fan makers; Morrissey and Hanlon, who sing their own songs; The Pelots, comedy jugglers, and Lockhart & Kress, knockabout comedians. Good seats are obtainable for all performances. "Phone number, 28.

TOOK A DROP IN THE LONDON MARKET

LONDON, Oct. 27.—Deniers in the American market assembled earlier than usual this morning, owing to the action of the United States government in bringing suit for the dissolution of the United States Steel corporation and all constituent or subsidiary companies. Steel shares opened nominally at 50 but soon fell to 47 and then to 44, or 6½ points below parity. The amount of stock changing hands, however, was small compared with the big decline and there was not much excitement. Erratic movements were followed by bearish covering that lifted the quotation to 46, at which figure buyers were found. At 11 o'clock, however, the market was very unsettled and continental advances were eagerly awaited. No dealings in American rails had yet occurred. Holders here were rather frightened at the government's action but the principal offerings appeared to have been cabled over night from Wall street.

American rails later dropped from ½ to 1½ in sympathy with the steel stocks but the market hardened fractionally around noon when in the absence of further selling steel was quoted at 56½, or 1½ above the lowest.

ATTORNEY GENERAL

TO RUSH FIGHT AGAINST THE STEEL TRUST

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Now that the government's fight to dissolve the United States Steel Corporation has been fairly started there will be no

slow movements in the battle. When the bill was filed in the circuit court at Trenton yesterday asking for the dissolution of the corporation and its subsidiaries, Attorney-General Wickesham also filed a certificate of public importance. This states that the case is of the utmost importance to the government and asks that it be heard by a bench of four justices. Ordinarily it would be heard by only one.

Although the steel corporation will have four months to make its answer to the government's allegation that it is a dozen trusts within a trust, a menace to the nation and practically the most complete monopoly ever perfected in this country, there are possibilities of other developments in the meantime. Attorneys for the corporation may demand to the government's charges. In that event there might be some delay. After that possibility is disposed of, the circuit probably will appoint a master to hear testimony and a battle of giants will begin.

Attorney General Wickesham and other department of justice officials expect to make progress much more rapidly than was done in the Standard Oil and tobacco cases.

The government's view is that the supreme court's decision in the oil case as regards stockholdings and interholdings can be applied to the steel corporation and so expedite the case. The government aims to show that the steel corporation is only a kind of trust to hold at least a dozen others. The bill charges that the Federal Steel company, the Carnegie company of New Jersey, the American Steel & Wire company of New Jersey, the National Tube company, the National Steel company, the American Tin plate company, the American Steel Hoop company, the American Sheet Steel company and others are illegal trusts in themselves and combinations to monopolize trade. The government asks that all these companies be dissolved and set back into the integral units of which they were formed. In this respect the petition is complete.

THE LAWYERS

MAY ACCEPT SERVICE IN BEHALF OF ROCKEFELLER'S TRUST

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 27.—The difficulties which heretofore have beset process servers seeking John D. Rockefeller and other millionaires named as defendants in the dissolution suit filed yesterday against the United States Steel Corporation were not expected to develop today in the service of subpoenas issued in the suit. The opinion provided at the United States marshal's office here that the corporation's lawyers probably would accept service in New York of the entire batch of subpoenas. The drafting of the subpoenas was the first task of Henry Oliphant, clerk of the circuit court, on opening his office at 10 o'clock today. Deputy marshals took the documents as fast as they were prepared. They required the defendants to appear in person or by counsel at Trenton on Dec. 4 in answer to the petition. Actual presentation and prosecution of the suit probably will be the work of Attorney-General Wickesham and his assistants at Washington. District Attorney Vreeland, whose signature is appended to the petition, is unfamiliar with the details of the suit. His signature was affixed to observe the legal formalities but his connection with the suit, it is believed, will be purely nominal. Deputy U. S. Marshal Snowden, who went to New York last night to serve Judge Gray and others copies of the petition of the federal government, was back at his desk today but positively refused to give out any information. It is known, however, that a copy of the petition was served on Judge Gray at the Waldorf Astoria hotel last night. This service is not part of the necessary legal procedure in the suit but is really a matter of courtesy to the defendants. It is the subpoenas that will bring the defendants into court. Following the return day, Dec. 4, when the defendants must put in an appearance by counsel they have until the first Monday in January to file in their answers to the charges set forth in the government's petition. The government, probably, will make a reply and then, if the procedure of trust prosecutions is followed, the court will appoint an examiner to take testimony. The examiner may sit in any city convenient to the government attorneys and the defendants' witnesses.

MR. EMIL T. SHERBERT

Lansing, Mich. (Special): "Two years ago I consulted 19 physicians and each and every one informed me that I had about six months to live, being badly affected with tuberculosis. I started using Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for relief at the suggestion of a friend, and today I am entirely cured and I know it is because of this medicine, as I took nothing else. When I started using it I weighed 134 pounds, and today I weigh 184 pounds."—Emil T. Sherbert, 427 Dowland St.

In 1890—more than half a century ago—the formula of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey was discovered. It was also discovered that it was a great curative agent in the treatment of tuberculosis, pneumonia, grip, colds, and in all throat and lung troubles and in all stomach troubles. The merit and beauty of an article that has been before the public for such a length of time cannot be questioned. Its fame has spread the world over, and it stands today the most celebrated and most successful medicine known.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the only whiskey that was taxed by the Government as a medicine during the Spanish-American war.

The genuine is sold in SEALED BOTTLES ONLY by all druggists, grocers and dealers, or direct $1.00 per large bottle.

AMERICAN shoes have led the world under the machinery and tariff conditions prevailing since the United Shoe Machinery company was formed in 1899. The annual exports of boots and shoes have increased from $1,816,538, in 1899, to $13,764,842, in 1911; a growth in the twelve years of the company's existence of over 657 per cent. The exports which are conquering the European market consist almost exclusively of high grade Goodyear Welt Shoes, made with the help of the company's machines. The output of Goodyear Welt Shoes has grown five-fold in twelve years, from $17,500,000 pairs in 1899 to $6,000,000 pairs in 1911. These are the shoes on which the company receives the highest rates of royalty for the use of its machines. The shoe industry of Massachusetts has never witnessed such expansion as during the twelve years of the company's existence.

Visit the model shoe factory at the New England Fair, Mechanics Building, Boston. You will find over each of the sixty machines in operation there a plainly printed card giving the terms on which any shoe manufacturer can buy or lease it.

WHIST PARTY

HELD AT THE RESIDENCE OF REV. FR. DEGAN

A delightful whist party, the second in a series organized by the women of St. Columba's parish, was held last night at the rectory of the pastor, Rev. Fr. Degani. The affair, which was very successful, was in charge of Mrs. Patrick T. Brosnan, assisted by a committee of women.

The winners at whist were: First prize, Miss Mary Kelley; second, Miss Margaret Brosnan; first gent's, Humphrey Coffey; second, John Lynch, and baby, Mrs. John Mahoney and Mr. Z. T. Blissette. There were 25 tables. The game of cards was followed by an elaborate musical program, at the close of which the pastor, Rev. Fr. Degani, expressed his gratitude to both the organizers and patrons of this delightful soiree, and he closed his remarks by announcing that the next whist in the series would be held at the same place next Thursday evening.

102 WAR VESSELS

Will be Assembled in New York Harbor Next Week

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—New York has prepared to entertain for three days next week 30,000 blue jackets on 102 war vessels in the Atlantic. Fleet ordered hither for participation in the most ambitious mobilization of fighting craft ever undertaken in this country. In command of Rear Admiral Hugo Osterhoudt, all the available ships of the Atlantic squadron began steaming toward New York harbor last week, and twenty-four vessels of the Pacific squadron are due at Los Angeles for the west coast naval demonstration there. One hundred and twenty-six in all, they will remain at anchor from today until Thursday; there will be two nights of illumination and Jack ashore will have perhaps the greatest land fête of his career. The number of men due at New York alone surpasses the strength of Shafter's army in Cuba, but even then it is the opinion in navy circles that some of the vessels will be short-handed. It is hoped, however, by emergency measure to meet demands.

Early last week the only three battleships in the Brooklyn navy yard—the dreadnoughts Utah, Delaware and Florida—were groomed for the display, wired for the special illuminations and made ready to swing around the harbor mouth and up into North river. The presidential yacht Mayflower, also at the Navy Yard, has been prepared for the parade and will bob alongside the great battleships, although President Taft, according to his latest plans, will not return from the west in time to review the ships.

Arrangements here call for five, and perhaps seven miles of ships, great and small, forming four lines in the Hudson river from West Fifty-seventh street to Fort Washington or above.

The battleships will be 100 yards apart, destroyers 300, smaller torpedo boats and other craft 300. In order that they may be displayed to the best advantage it was arranged to have the submarines anchored nearest the New York shore. Next in line come the battleships and, in the third and fourth columns, nearest New Jersey, the destroyers and torpedo boats.

This long line of 102 vessels, twenty-four of them battleships comprising the flower of the Atlantic fleet, will have an aggregate tonnage of $77,285, and off Los Angeles to 24 warships will have a tonnage of 116,245, making a grand total of 693,530. Thus, as a national naval display, the mobilization will surpass the German review at Kiel in September, will outweigh the French display at Toulon last month and will rank second only to the great array of fighting ships which assembled in the Solent on June 24 during the ceremonies of George V of England. On that occasion there was a display of 167 British warships and 15 foreign vessels, and the aggregate tonnage of British vessels alone was more than a million.

The entire fleet which will swing at anchor in the Hudson river until Thursday comprises 24 battleships, two armored cruisers, two protected cruisers, 22 destroyers, 16 torpedo boats, eight submarines, three torpedo fleet tenders, four gunboats, nine miscellaneous vessels, such as hospital, supply and ammunition ships, eight colliers, an oil tanker and three tugs. Never in the history of the American navy have so many warships been thrown together, and to man them requires nearly half the enlisted strength of the entire navy.

It is a serious problem to anchor such an array of vessels in the Hudson without inconveniencing passing commercial craft, but with the positions worked out carefully on a diagram, each vessel slips into its appointed place as quietly as possible.

The flagship Connecticut, which led the Atlantic fleet on its around-the-world cruise, will swing at the head of the column not far from the giant

Florida, which makes her appearance in public for the first time. She was only recently put in commission, but not yet had her "speed trials," and in participating in the display she leaves the Brooklyn navy yard, where she was built, for her first turn around the harbor.

New York's last great naval demonstration was during the Hudson-Pulton celebration, but the then combined strength of the United States and visiting warships does not equal the array planned for the present mobilization. As an experiment of assembling on short notice a great number of ships in fighting trim, it is being watched with interest by naval authorities, and may be compared, from a naval viewpoint, to the mobilization of troops at San Antonio during the Mexican insurrection. The problem of moving twenty thousand sailors is vastly easier than moving troops over land, however, for the former requires but a shifting of a floating structure with crew, arms and provisions complete, while transporting an army by train is a problem of herculean proportions and perplexities.

As announced by the navy department, the ships to participate in the mobilization here are:

Battleships—Connecticut, Florida, Utah, Delaware, North Dakota, Michigan, Louisiana, South Carolina, Kansas, Vermont, New Hampshire, Minnesota, Mississippi, Idaho, Missouri, Ohio, Georgia, Nebraska, New Jersey, Virginia, Maine, Iowa, Indiana and Massachusetts.

Armored Cruisers—Washington and North Carolina.

Protected Cruisers—Salem and Des Moines.

Destroyers—Reid, Flusser, Lamson, Preston, Smith, Dryden, Paulding, McCall, Roe, Perry, Perkins, Mayrant, Sierett, Walker, Warrington, Patterson, Monaghan, Ammen, Burrows, Trippe, Macdonough and Worden.

Torpedo Boats—Porter, Blakely, Dupont, Barney, Biddle, Craven, Dahlgren, De Long, Shubrick, Stockton, Tingey, Wilkes, Bagley, Bailey, Styngman and Morris.

Submarines—Dagging, Bonita, Narwhal, Salmon, Snapper, Stingray, Tarpon and Octopus.

Torpedo Boat Tenders—Dixie, Cassin and Severn.

COAT COLLAR WHITE WITH DANDRUFF

Scalp Badly Affected, Itched Terribly, Hair Fell Out. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Now Has Thick Growth of Hair and Is Never Troubled with Any Dandruff or Itching of Scalp.

"I am more than gratified by the successful results I obtained by the use of the Cuticura Remedies. For several years my scalp was very badly affected with dandruff and scales. My scalp itched terribly at times and my hair fell out. My coat collar would be actually white with the dandruff that had fallen from my head. My profession being that of a barber, I was particularly about having my hair in good condition, and was also in a position to try many lotions, etc., for the scalp. These had little or no effect. I had heard so much about the Cuticura Remedies that I resolved to try them. I shampooed my head with Cuticura Soap twice a week and after drying my head thoroughly, I anointed parts of my scalp with Cuticura Ointment. I was pleased from the outset, and continued to keep up this treatment. To think that only three cakes of Cuticura Soap and one and one-half boxes of Cuticura Ointment rid my head of this annoying trouble, made me feel quite contented. I have now got a thick growth of hair and I am never troubled with any dandruff or itching of the scalp. There is no question but that the Cuticura Remedies cured me. I frequently recommend them to my customers, and they think a great deal of them." (Signed) John F. Williams, 307 Norfolk Street, Dorchester, Boston, Mass., July 23, 1910.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sold to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 9H, Boston, for a liberal sample of each, post-free, with 10-c. book on the skin.

most notable efforts to get everyone to the polls. The ordinary voter is not as familiar with the office of registrar of deeds as he is with some of the other offices in the building. In the evening election, and therefore I may be pardoned for referring briefly to my own case. I was elected two years ago to fill an unexpired term. Upon becoming familiar with the routine of the office I used every honest method to raise its standard and to place it on an equal footing with the other offices. The system we were working under was not the best. We had no way of knowing if mistakes in entering were made. This was through no fault of the clerks of the office but the result of an imperfect and loose system. Today we can detect a mistake within 12 hours, where formerly it would go a year undetected. When I entered the office there was no protection for the books. If a slight fire should break out while it might do but little damage to the building and furniture, it might destroy $50,000 worth of valuable records, some of which could never be replaced. I prepared plans for improvements in the record book that would provide for proper protection for the records and submitted them to the county commissioners. The latter agreed with my propositions and the improvements have been ordered. We will now have room for the books of 25 years to come, encased in steel and protected from fire and water. I have made a deep study of the office and ask you to permit me to continue in office in order to carry out my plans and ideas, all of which are aimed to make the Middlesex North registry second to none in this commonwealth.

As Congressman Curley had not arrived, Mayor Neenan introduced Edw. J. Tierney to address the meeting. Mr. Tierney proved to be a most entertaining speaker as he explained in lucid and comprehensive manner the details of the workmen's compensation act, of which so much has been said and comparatively little understood by the average voter. Mr. Tierney had just concluded his remarks when Congressman Curley arrived. The latter proved to be the big hit of the evening, for although he is well known by reputation he had never addressed a Lowell audience before.

Congressman Curley

Congressman Curley spoke as follows:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen, My Fellow Democrats:

The election of Eugene N. Foss in 1910 as governor of this commonwealth marked the beginning of the struggle against privilege and awakened the people, regardless of party politics, to a true realization of the justice of their claims to a square deal upon all the necessities of life.

The members of the republican party in this campaign insult the intelligence of Massachusetts citizens when they ask in derision, "Was the cost of living been reduced?"

They know and the people should know and fully realize that never in the history of American government has a more honest, capable, earnest and patriotic body of men assembled in the house of representatives than during the current year.

And the American people know that the defeat of Canadian reciprocity was made possible by the corrupt and illicit use of money and that the same influences have ever been generous in their support of the republican party and staunch advocates of a high tariff policy.

Every democratic member of the present house voted in favor of Canadian reciprocity and its passage was only possible as the result of a united democratic support after the sponsors of the measure had knocked vanity at the door of the republican majority members for a term of fourteen years. The democratic majority in congress has kept every pledge made to the people in the last campaign and established a record for constructive legislation unequalled in the history of the republic.

CORNELIUS F. CRONIN, Chairman Democratic City Committee.

The bill providing for popular election of United States senators received the vote of every democrat upon the floor of the house as did the measure to insure honest elections.

A revision of the wool and cotton schedules as proposed by the democratic majority in congress meant a lower cost for wearing apparel to every man, woman and child in this country.

The Farmers Free List bill was a measure that removed the burdens from the farmers sufficiently to compensate them for the injury that might result from the lower cost of their products in consequence of reciprocity with Canada.

And every measure which I have enumerated was constructive in character and carried with it a message of justice and a more equitable consideration for the needs of the masses of our people.

The republican party would have the public believe that legislation in the interests of the people would prove destructive to the country and more particularly to New England industries and this despite the fact that in the year ending June 30, 1911, America exported $10,800,000 worth of manufactured cotton goods, a great portion of which was sold in China, where she paid the lowest wages of any country in the world.

The democratic majority favors only such measures and tariff duties as are necessary to maintain the government.

If in consequence of high tariff protection there had been the same general increase in the wages of men and women employed in these industries that enjoy protection, and if in consequence of such protection the lot of the working man and working woman was happier and their condition more prosperous, there might then be some justification for the position now taken by the paid republican spell-binders that 99,000,000 of free Americans should pay tribute to a few thousand wealthy manufacturers might continue to increase their store of riches to such extent that Aldus of old would seem a beggar in comparison.

The democratic leaders, Speaker Clark and Chairman Underwood, have waged a campaign of education during the past sixteen years in favor of a return to the policy of the fathers of the republic equal and exact justice to all men and death to that form of special privilege under which the affluence of one man is only possible through the degradation and misery of thousands of his fellowmen.

When the time comes that American workmen can no longer do a better day's work than the men of every other country in the world it is time to consider an equitable form of protection for the American bread winner.

But the wily generals in charge of the republican campaign in Massachusetts do not admit this present battle fought along genuine tariff lines because they realize the fact that a substantial part of the republican host, led by La Follette, Cummings, Murdock Leavitt and others who typify the progressive spirit of the day hold views that are diametrically opposite to those of Messrs. Crane, Lodge & Company, Limited.

Handicapped by a hostile legislature and council, Governor Foss has nevertheless by determination, ability and perseverance given to the people of Massachusetts an administration that for broad-minded, liberal and progressive legislation has never been equaled in the history of Massachusetts.

The republicans do not desire that state issues be discussed because they know that from the standpoint of justice and fair play to labor, equality in the selection of judges and liberality in the making of loans for commercial development, Governor Foss has established a record that has merited the commendation of all honest men and

Other Speakers

Henry J. Draper, candidate for senator, followed Congressman Curley with brief remarks and while he was speaking Frank J. Donahue, candidate for state secretary, arrived from Lawrence and was introduced. Mr. Donahue made a most favorable impression and an eloquent speech. He stated that he had left Candidate Walsh on the platform in Lawrence and expected that he would arrive in a short time. Alderman Gallagher and Humphrey O'Sullivan were introduced in turn, and at 11:30, while Mr. O'Sullivan was speaking, and a good sized crowd was still present, Chairman Cronin received word that Mr. Walsh had been detained unexpectedly and could not be present whereupon the meeting came to a close with cheers for the whole ticket.

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

He is Charged With Breaking and Entering

Oscar Jarvis appeared in police court this morning and entered a plea of not guilty to a complaint charging him with breaking and entering the store of Samuel P. McKee, in Middlesex street, and stealing $4 in money. It is alleged that he entered the store on the night of August 17th and has been out of the city since then. He was placed under arrest yesterday.

The government asked for a continuance and the court ordered the defendant under $500 bonds for his appearance before the court next Monday.

Maliciously Breaking Glass

Erwin Moore, aged 17 years, was charged with maliciously and wilfully breaking four panes of glass, each pane of the value of 75 cents, in the Jewish synagogue in McIntyre street. He entered a plea of not guilty but the court found him guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $3.

Israel Nannis said he saw the defendant throwing stones at the windows and Joseph Dunn testified to seeing Moore on the roof of a house adjoining the church and throwing stones at the windows. Morris Barlowsky, aged 12 years, identified the defendant as the boy who broke several of the windows in the building.

Moore denied that he threw any stones but admitted that he was with a crowd of boys who were standing at the corner of Marshall and McIntyre streets who were throwing stones at the people as they were leaving the synagogue.

Two girls corroborated the testimony

offered by the defendant.

Discharged a Rifle

Ellmer E. Ellsworth pleaded not guilty to a complaint charging him with discharging a rifle within the limits of the city. Special Officer Ellmer H. Houghton testified that he had received numerous complaints from neighbors in the vicinity of Westford and Steadman streets about men discharging firearms in close proximity to their houses. This morning, he said, he found Ellsworth discharging a rifle in the hollow at the end of Westford street and placed him under arrest.

Ellsworth, testifying in his own behalf, said that he was of the opinion that he was beyond the city limits and while he admitted he had discharged the rifle he said he was shooting at a high bank and not endangering any person. He was found guilty and a fine of $2 imposed.

Drunken Offenders

Joseph Champagne was fined $5, one first offender was fined $2 and a simple drunk was released before the opening of the session.

MAN STRUCK AND PROBABLY FATALITY INJURED

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Two young Boston women were involved in an automobile accident at Eighth avenue and One Hundred and Thirty-fourth street, last night, when their machine ran down Jose Garcia, 32 years old, a book-keeper; but, although made almost hysterical by the accident, they did all that was possible to help the injured man. The owner of the machine was the older of the two women, who told the police she was Miss Mary E. McAleer, lawyer, of 1487 Beacon street, Brookline, Mass. The second woman said she was a sister. Garcia was lying on cross Eighth avenue when he was struck and hurled to the pavement. He was taken to the Harlem hospital, where it was found that he had the right collarbone fractured and his head bruised. The man's condition was considered serious (that Rev. Fr. Walsh was called, and administered the last rites. The women were allowed to proceed to the Ritz-Carlton. The chauffeur was not detained.

WAS FOUND IN A COD-FISH

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—Several pieces of Chinese money were found last night codfish by Benjamin Quinlan, steward of the schooner Rose Standish, which arrived at T wharf yesterday afternoon. Mr. Quinlan was cleaning the fish for supper when he found the coins and he is keeping them as souvenirs.

Some of the crew thought the fish must have swam over from China, but at T wharf it was said that several months ago a Chinese sailor was buried at sea from a tramp steamer bound here, and that the dead man's money and clothing was thrown overboard with the body. It is probable that the money found in the cod was part of that thrown overboard.

CONFINED TO CITIES

Little Debility Among Country People.

"Nervous debility is usually the forerunner of some trouble far more serious and about twenty-five per cent. of the people of Lowell are suffering with it in one or another degree, however, they fail to recognize their trouble as nervous debility, but attribute their condition to other diseases."

This statement was made last evening by one of the specialists who are here introducing the remarkable new tonic, "Tona Vita," and who are located at Hall & Lyon's drug store.

According to this specialist, the bustle and worry incident to metropolitan life is too much of a strain on the average man or woman and chronic nervous debility is the result. The specialists claim that no individual can hope to succeed or enjoy life here introducing the remarkable new tonic, "Tona Vita," and who are located at Hall & Lyon's drug store.

"Tired, drooping, half-sick men and women are as common as leaves on the trees in Lowell and every other large city," said the specialist. "They have uncertain appetites, poor digestion, little ambition, and feel almost too tired for work most of the time. They suffer from timidity, have no initiative, and haven't enough good, rich blood in their veins to make them capable or self-reliant. Their nerves are in such a state that they imagine themselves afflicted with various diseases at different times. The real trouble with them is debility, produced by the life they are forced to lead. There is little of this ailment among country people."

"The medical profession as a whole has recognized these facts for a number of years, but little was done to overcome this ailment, so far as the general public is concerned, until a tonic was introduced in Europe some time ago which proved very effective. A company has been organized to put a similar preparation on the market in the United States. The medicine is called 'Tona Vita' in this country, and it is now being introduced in many cities here."

"Every day we have a great number of people come to us and say that they have been benefited by the use of this tonic to such an extent that they no longer feel the necessity of taking any further medicine whatever."

"The specialists who are here introducing 'Tona Vita' can be seen at Hall & Lyon's drug store any day during their stay here, between 9 a. m. and 8 p. m."

"One good feature of this tonic is that it is deliciously palatable, agreeable to the weakest stomach and containing all the goodness, the soothing, healing, strengthening and curative elements necessary for the rebuilding of a run-down system. It contains no harmful drugs whatever, and the desire you feel for 'Tona Vita' is the natural desire we all feel for that which benefits us."

PARISH REUNION

Held at St. Louis' Convent Hall

A parish reunion was held last night at St. Louis' convent hall in Boisvert street, when the parishioners all gathered there to meet their new curate, Rev. Lucien Bedard, formerly of St. Hyacinthe, Que. This reunion was held under the auspices of the Children of Mary sodality and proved a great success in every way. The attendance numbered over 500 and a very pleasant evening was spent.

game of cards was started at 8 o'clock by Mr. Marcel Roussel, who acted as master of ceremonies, and the 30 beautiful prizes were lively contested for. This was followed by a cleverly arranged entertainment by a group of young girls from the convent under the able direction of the Sisters of the Assumption, in charge of the institution. The first number on the program consisted of a comic duet, entitled Les Deux Sources Pour Rire, given by the Misses Gauthier, Lemerise and Delia Thibault, who captured their audience and received many curtain calls. This was followed by another little playlet, entitled "Deux Cents Francs de Recompense," the cast being as follows: Misses Annette Baril, Alice Ouellette, Jeanette Goudreau, Gilberte Lemerise, Antoinette Chaput, Delia Thibault, Ruth Lagasse, Cecile Desrosiers, Isabelle Lebrun, Maria Renaud, Georges Lemire and Fleur Ange Brousseau.

The rendition of this playlet reflects much credit on the sisters as well as on the young performers. The closing number was a delightful choral selection by a choir of 50 members of the sodality under the direction of Miss Maria Pratte, the soloists being the Misses Alice Pratte and Clemence St. Mary. Miss Regina Caron accompanied on the piano.

A A portion of the evening, however, was the drawing of a fine mahogany desk given by the pastor of the church, Rev. J. N. Jacques, to the one holding the lucky number on his admission ticket, this being awarded to Mrs. Z. J. Lebrun, the wife of the Cercle St. Louis' brass band also came to a close last night.

CAPTAINS OF SOME OF THE EASTERN AND WESTERN FOOTBALL ELEVEN

By TOMMY CLARK.

IN going over the list of captains of the football teams it is shown that twenty-six chose tackles, while nineteen others picked ends and the same number of halfbacks as captains; quarterbacks are captains of sixteen teams, fullbacks of twelve and guards of eleven, while ends are leaders of nine. Guard Robert T. Fisher is captain of Harvard, and Sam Burd, who plays the same position, leads the Carlisle Indians.

Quarterback Arthur Howe is Yale's leader. Sprackling is piloting Brown university. Robert F. Hyatt the West Point eleven and Ray Morrison the Vanderbilt team of Nashville; Annapolis is headed by Halfback John P. Dalton, whose field goal beat West Point at Franklin field last year; Sewanee, Purdue and the two big Pacific coast universities, California and Stanford, are also led by halfbacks; Chicago is being led by Tackle Charles Radamacher, and so is Wisconsin by Al Ruser.

Coach Yost's great Michigan team is under the leadership of Tackle Fred Conklin, Jr.; Cornell, too, has Tackle William E. Munk as field leader. Princeton re-elected its great fullback, Eddie Hart, while the Red and Blue of Pennsylvania has a dashingly general in Eugene Le Roy Mercer, one of the best fullbacks ever developed by Coach Mike Murphy. Minnesota has End Earl Pickering as captain, while Holy Cross has William P. Fay, Dartmouth's captain, Edward J. Dalley, occupies a like position.

And Chickens Roost High. Mr. John Awtia Johnson must "view with alarm" the deplorable but approaching crisis when colored folks will no longer be permitted to place the hallmarks of their pugilistic supremacy on the visages of ambitious white climbers in the fistic world. The stopping of the Wells-Johnson execution at the eleventh hour, the recent announcement that France would take steps to avoid race conflicts in the arenas of Paris and the growing sentiment in the United States against the Ethiopic chromatic scheme indicate that this possibility is near at hand.

The champion may have $100,000 of velvet to creep around on—he says he has. But most of us will still continue to think that there is, in this case, a sinister connection for Jack between the color line and the broad line. The report that he was nearly broke just preceded his own financial statement.

Why Name Schultz?

The committee that decided which players in each league were entitled to be considered the most valued to their teams was hardly consistent in some respects, although the selection of Cobb as the greatest player in the American league—and in the world, according to points scored—is, beyond cavil, correct. The committee undertook a delicate proposition—which was to include pitchers in the consideration. In fact, Ed Walsh was given the second high total on point valuation in either league, with a percentage of .547. This places the big spitball artist higher than Frank Schulte, who gets the auto in the National league.

None of the cities which have entertained the athletes of the world competing in the Olympic games has gone about the preparations for the fixture with more pride and enthusiasm than Stockholm in arranging for the international meeting of 1912. The stadium, which is in course of erection and will be completed this year, will be a most imposing permanent structure, far more pretentious and costly than the plain inclosure bearing that name which was the scene of the last games in London. Its site is in the most fashionable quarter of the Swedish capital. The government is defraying the whole expense and ultimately will become owner of the building and grounds. Purple brick and granite are the materials which the architect, Torben Grut, is employing for the structure. The architect's plan shows a perfect amphitheater, entirely roofed over and situated at the foot of a hill which forms the northern side of the building. There will be a running track of four laps to the mile and a turf football and athletic field, which can be transformed in winter into a skating rink. Most of the seats for the Olympic games will be temporary, and altogether 25,000 spectators will be accommodated.

In its architecture the great building will be a fine example of mediæval Swedish art. The gates and arcades are vaulted, blocks of granite are inlaid on the brick walls with a series of sculptured Swedish heroes and eight-een gods and goddesses will decorate the gates to the entrance stairs. Two massive brick towers surmount the eastern and western gates, and behind them are buildings containing large assembly halls. At the center of the northern arcade is a handsome gate, through which all the competitors will march into the arena on the first day of the games. Opposite this stands the royal box, surmounted by a golden canopy. Now is the time to subscribe to the fund here to send a winning team abroad.

One of the principal reasons for the success the American league has attained is the fact that the eight clubs always work in unison. No move is ever made that the league is not consulted. Fan Johnson's wishes are never ignored. The Washington club does not differ in this respect from any of the others in the league, and yet because it follows the unwritten law to consult the head of the league in all matters of importance the impression has been created that the league has a financial interest in the Senators.

expression. This system of consulting the head of the league so that the interest of the entire organization can always be protected has made the American league. As its president Johnson insists on being familiar with the affairs of every one of his clubs, and not one of them ever enters into any thing important that he is not first consulted.

The season of 1911 has been a bad one for accidents, especially in the maiming of star backstops. The list of receivers crippled in this season's strenuous campaign includes almost every catcher of ability in the two leagues. Among the backstops whose loss was felt the most are Roger Bresnahan, Charley Doolin, Ed Sweeney, Bill Carrigan, Gabby Street, Bill Sullivan, Jimmy Stephens, Eddie Ahlsmith, George Gibson, Oscar Stanage, Jack Lapp and Larry McLean.

WADDELL PUTS ONE ON FANS.

Rube Waddell has a poor opinion of the fighting spirit of the Toledo fan. He was told that a fan in that city had assaulted Umpire Gerald Hayes on a street car, but said he didn't believe it. "Nothin' like that could come off in that town," said Mr. Waddell. "What it was, was probably some guy doin' a canner's trick out of the car to a nearby wettery where he'd spotted a biggest-in-the-town-for-6-cents sign and just accidentally beamed Gerald with his elbow in his hurry. "Fight in that town?" queried Mr. Waddell. "Why, they haven't got the heart and courage in that town to stick a fish-worm on the hook. They let 'em on with silk cord for fear the worm will bite 'em. As for mobbin' umpires, why, the next time they get fresh when I'm in town I'm going to take a whisk broom and chase 'em all out of the back end of the grand stand." It being a thirty foot drop to the ground from the back of that grand stand Mr. Waddell's threat seems dire indeed.

HARD POINT TO DECIDE.

Bases full, does the batter who receives a base on balls have to touch first base in order to force a run across the plate? Umpires are debating the question.

OLYMPIC GAME DATES.

Johnny Kilbane Latest Pugilistic Find

YOUTHFUL Johnny Kilbane, who weighs about as much as a well developed crawd, looms up not only strong as a candidate for Johnny Coulton's honors, but he also means to prove a thorn in the side of Abe Attell. In other words, Kilbane is going to set sail for the bantamweight and featherweight honors at the same time. The frail looking little Clevelander says that he can fight at 115 pounds. That means that he is eligible to battle for the midket honors. As he already has fought Abe Attell there is no doubt about his being willing to contend for the title with any of the featherers.

When Johnny Kilbane fought Abe Attell a year ago no one thought for a minute that he would ever develop into a knockout fighter. He was about the most unathletic looking figure that ever graced the ring. Johnny measured about twenty-six inches around the chest, and his arms resembled bean stalks. But, my, how he could move around the ring! He made Abe Attell chase fully fifteen miles during the ten rounds, and, at that, Johnny was landing three blows to Abe's one.

The decision went to the champion, but he didn't have anything to spare. The referee favored the champion simply because he was the aggressor. Kilbane carried a lightning left and a snappy little right hand hook that kept Attell's head flying back continually during the ten acts. He landed often enough to whip a dozen boys.

Now comes this same skinny looking kid in the role of a knockout. It was Kilbane who dropped the highly touted Jose Rivers for the full count in sixteen rounds in Los Angeles recently, and a few weeks later he gave Frankie Conley a decisive beating. Kilbane didn't knock out the Italian, but the gong saved Frankie on several occasions. Now Kilbane intends to sweep the boards. He looks good. Of course there are a number of tough hurdles before the Clevelander. Abe Attell is there with bells, and Tommy Dixon says that he is willing to tackle the Cleveland midket at 125 pounds ring-side.

BILLY SULLIVAN DISPUTES RECORD

Peered because he has been slighted a bit by the statisticians in compiling figures of the old timers in baseball. Billy Sullivan of the Chicago White Sox is out with the statement that he has caught more games than any other man in the business.

Sullivan claims that he has been behind the bat in exactly 1,100 battles on the diamond.

Further than this, Sullivan submits the figures to show that he is telling the truth about it and points out that the baseball guides will show the accuracy of his figures. They are as follows:

The argument came up because of an article in which it was stated that Johnny Kling and Charley Doolin are fighting it out to see which of them will be the first to catch his one thousandth game.

Sullivan says that in one year he suffered from an attack of appendicitis and caught a few games, and another season he broke a foot, which spoiled a record of 1,200 games for him.

Game Men Sometimes Lose Their Nerve

"THERE are times," says Billy Evans, veteran wrestler, "when the gamest man on earth may lose his nerve. I don't believe in branding any fellow yellow unless he has shown conclusively on more than one occasion that he is really a coward at heart. About twenty years ago there was a Kansas City boxer named 'Cocky' Delougherty, who put up some awful good scraps between the ropes. He was one of your determined sluggers who didn't know what quit meant, weighed 135 pounds and would fight any one near his size on the top of the earth. As a sample of his guminess I can do no better than mention a battle in which he took part with Jimmy Weedy just outside Kansas City. The late Jim Whitfield was referee. Weedy was a lot cleverer than Mike, and in the tenth round Weedy's cutting lefts had completely closed his man's eyes. You must remember they were fighting with the small gloves, not the pillows used nowadays. Mr. Whitfield wanted to stop the bout when he saw the shape Delougherty was in, but Mike wouldn't hear of such a thing. He made his seconds lance his eyes, and as soon as his lamps were open he went in again, fiercer than ever, and won in the twenty-eighth round.

"About a year after Delougherty's fight with Weedy I had him in hand for awhile. There was a wrestler named Bernard MacFadden, the same who is now running a physical culture school, and he wanted to try his hand at the boxing game. I was quite willing to take him on for 'Cocky' knowing as I did that gents of his kind are always helpless slugs with the mitts. So I fixed up a bout for MacFadden and Delougherty, ten rounds, to take place at St. Joe. Delougherty had never seen MacFadden either in his street clothes or out of them. I had made the match and wired 'Cocky' to come on from Kansas City, which he did, arriving the night set for the bout. MacFadden wasn't very much either in the fighting or wrestling line, but he was a sure enough looking Hercules when he stripped. Big chunks of muscle stuck out all over him and rippled like writhing snakes under his skin when he stood with his arms over his head, moving to and fro in those breathing exercises that he practiced. He was going through just such stunts in his dressing room a few minutes before it was time for him to make his appearance in the ring. As luck would have it 'Cocky' and myself had to pass MacFadden's room on our way to the quarters set aside for Delougherty. So 'Cocky' got a slant at this wide shouldered, great muscled guy, standing erect and making his shins show out like iron bars.

"Say," said 'Cocky,' punching me in the ribs, 'who is that chap?' "Oh, him," says I. "That's only a punk wrestler who imagines he can fight. That's Barney MacFadden, the fellow you're in the cards to beat up tonight. He's easy money, boy, in spite of all them big muscles."

"So that's MacFadden, eh?" says

'Cocky,' kind of thoughtful. 'Just wait here till I come back, Bill. I'm goin' out a minute.'

"I didn't suspect anything, so I waited. I could have been waiting yet if I had stayed around there in the hopes of seeing 'Cocky' again. For he never came back. The fact of the matter was that the sight of MacFadden's muscles had thrown a scare into him, and he didn't do a thing but grab his valise and get the first train he could reach out of St. Joseph. That was all there was to it. The club officials hopped me because I couldn't produce my man, but it sure wasn't my fault. They had to call off the fight and let it go at that. Now to show you that Delougherty wasn't a coward I may say that he fought several good fights after the MacFadden affair, one of them being with Oscar Gardner, and never was he accused of being otherwise than dead game. Why he ran out on that particular occasion will be a puzzle to me to the end of my days."

There is no club in the league independent of it. The club owner who goes along on his own hook in matters in which the league has an interest finds himself "in bad," to use a slang

KID M'COY NOT ALL IN

KID M'COY has shown the followers of boxing that by keeping in fairly good condition a boxer can last much longer than one who neglects his training, and after getting rusty and stiffened up attempts to "comeback" a thing which is now considered almost impossible.

McCoey cannot be credited with coming back, for he has never allowed himself to get altogether out of shape. He has done considerable boxing and by other exercises has kept himself nearly on edge. But the defeating of two or three "dubs" by McCoey is not due so much to the latter's physical superiority as it is to his knowledge of the art of boxing.

When in his prime McCoey ranked with Jim Corbett, Tommy Ryan and other great masters of the art, and he has retained considerable of that knowledge. He still has strength enough to hit a hard blow, and no man in the ring was ever better posted on the right place to land a punch in order to do great damage. McCoey, of all things, was one of the coolest men who ever put on a glove.

It was almost impossible to get his nerve at any stage of a contest. He could wait one round or twenty for a chance to get in a punch on a vital spot, and when it got there it was timed so well and placed so effectively that it meant the downfall of the man it landed on. The men who are competing in the light heavyweight class today are, for the most part, rough and tumble sluggers, who are not to be classed with McCoey as boxers.

If his wind is good, all that the Kid has to do is to take his time with them and keep out of danger till they give him an opening for a decisive punch, and the opening is sure to come if he

HEAD SLIDERS VERY SCARCE.

In former years head first slides were common, now it is a rarity to see a player go into a bag any way but feet first. Of the two the head first slide is by far the more spectacular. Players when they adopted this system could slide as much as fifteen or twenty feet, while the feet first slide makes this impossible. Of course the fall away slide was impossible to accomplish head first. With the feet going toward the bag it is much easier to avoid the ball. It is because of this fact that the players adopted this style.

PAST RECORDS OF BIG EASTERN ELEVEN

THE following table shows the results of eleven years' campaign on the gridiron by the four large universities in the east and gives Yale the place of honor as to percentage of victories. Yale also has to her credit the fact that the total scores against her teams are far lower than those against any other member of the selected class. The figures are taken from the Yale News:

Won.	Lost.	Tied.	P.C.	Points.	Oppo.
Yale.....102	5	8	.944	2,843	183
Harvard..28	24	4	.538	1,394	356
Princeton. 21	15	6	.438	1,335	325
Penn.....107	19	9	.820	2,411	468

Under the old rules Yale's best eleven was the one which took championship honors in 1900. The Blue won the twelve games played, totals for the season reaching 324 to 5. The five points were made as the result of a goal from the field by Mattis of Princeton. The final score of this game was 29 to 5. With the old rules in force Harvard's best season was in 1901, when the team played eleven games and won them all. This team scored 235 points against its opponents' 24.

Penn has won more games than her rivals, but has lost a greater number. Penn has not played Yale since 1894, Princeton since 1905, and the last game with Harvard was in 1905. The Quakers won 12 to 6. Although the football relations between the three big universities and Penn have been strained, there is a possibility of the Red and Blue meeting Harvard next season.
